

With The Corps

By ALLEN SELF

Aggie Sweetheart... Finally we're able to announce the results of the Aggie Sweetheart selection...

Col. Meloy, Bennie Zinn, Fred Hickman, Ed Brandt, E. C. Kohn, Joe Putegnat, John Heemann, and Jack Nelson left this morning for Dallas and TSCW to complete plans for the parade, football game, halftime festivities, and football dance...

All during the past two weeks there has been hubbub in Heaven about the supposed outrageous conduct of the Tescies while on the campus for the TCU game...

The TSCW officials were even thinking of cancelling the joint corps trip because of the disrespectful conduct of their charges...

We hope that some sort of understanding can be worked out between the Aggies who went up there today and the TSCW officials...

They may have some idea that since the restrictions at A & M on weekends are a little less flexible than they are in Denton...

Again the Corps will parade to the football game, but this time there should be no unauthorized persons in the Corps Section...

2500 seats, in a section running from the 35 yard line to the goal, should be plenty for the Corps to occupy...

There will be a formal Corps Ball, for cadets only, Friday night preceding the game in Sbis, with the Aggieband on the downbeat...

The good old Aggie "T" will be formed for the Rice game during the half, according to Bill Rosser, head yell leader...

To The Board...

(An open letter to the board of directors, meeting on the campus.) Dear bosses: We're glad to see you meeting on the campus. We know you'll be looking us over, and we hope you approve what you see...

When most of the student body of A. & M. marched away to war, the pattern of life of Aggie land was shattered like a mirror. Now we are trying to put the thousands of pieces back together, and as we have 7,000 pieces, it is a huge puzzle-job.

In a little while, perhaps in the next six months, life at Aggie land will show more resemblance to the traditional ways of Aggies. Till then, we hope that you—and all our other friends—will understand.

Strike the Happy Medium...

A sinister warning comes to all students from figures quoted by the Dean of Men's office, stating that 12% of the freshmen who entered A&M in September have already dropped out of school...

Freshmen in the Cadet Corps have an especially rigorous life to lead—running details, acting as room orderlies, learning important traditions of the A. & M. campus, and keenly competing with veterans for top grades.

Utilizing the fish's time is where discretion must be used by upperclassmen, who must not lose sight of the primary reason most are attending college—to become educated citizens.

Now it's true that a happy medium can be reached, putting all of these other elements of Aggie college life in their proper place. But this can only be done by strict observance of and respect for a freshman's time.

The Scholastic Officer is charged with overseeing the academic well-being of his men. If he feels that a freshman is being detailed too much, causing him to neglect his studies, it is his responsibility to see the CO, and recommend that he be freed from detail duty...

A freshman should never leave A. & M. College because he doesn't have enough time for studies. After all, there are 17 wide awake hours in a day—enough time, if apportioned correctly, and not spent running senseless, nonsensical details, for anybody with an IQ of 110 to pass A&M work.

Here's what must be done if all the freshmen are not to bust out at midsemester. The freshman's day must be so regimented that he devotes at least four hours a day in his quarters to study. More may be necessary, according to the individual case...

Let's make this a week-end to remember and be proud of. We don't mean the football game itself, but the trimmings. A lot depends on what kind of yell practice we have this week, how students behave at the practice, at the game and at the dance...

Let's be moderate. Let's be considerate of the other fellow, and especially of our feminine guests. Retention of our privileges is worth more than one big binge.

Just the way it read in the Grand Forks (N. D.) Herald—and on page one! "Rudy York, the hero of Sunday's 3-2 Boston win over the Cardinals, slammed two practice PITCHERS into the left field seats, reminding all of the 375-foot homer that broke up the opener."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MUZZLED?? Editor, The Battalion: Herewith is a possible reason why some Aggies have resorted to writing personal commentaries of happenings associated with student life at A&M and sending same to Texas newspapers for publication...

GOOD RODEO! Dear Ed, Here is one feller who saw the 25th annual Aggie Rodeo and was mighty pleased. I have seen many of the Aggie rodeos and other shows around this part of the country, but the show on the 18th and 19th was one of the most enjoyable.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR (continued) Remember, too, that A&M is an old line military school, full of that old bitter military aristocracy long engrained in its system. The veterans are the only major group of students on the campus who have the privilege of attending school here free from the shackles of a lot of dictatorial military regulations under which we have already served our time.

Concerning the Blue Honor Star which the Corps cherishes, all I can say is that if they have anything on the ball, a few guys wearing khakis, cowboy boots, and over-seas unit insignia won't do them any harm. The inspectors' eyes don't need any magnifying glasses to discern between the two groups...

Editor's Note: Regarding the "WHO SAID..." 44 veterans and corps members said so, as per the "guest" editorial in last week's Batt. Editor, After reading the various bits of editorial comment in The Battalion of Oct. 24, I feel it is high time someone went to bat for the veteran.

PENNY'S SERENADE

By W. L. Penberthy

Last Saturday the followers of football in our land were stunned by a number of so-called "upsets". An unprecedented number of favorites, many of which were undefeated and very much in the national limelight, were toppled by teams not conceded much of a chance before the game.

that makes sports so interesting is the uncertainty as to the outcome of any contest. Anything can happen but gets in there and battles every second of the contest. In the accounts of the games last Saturday a very common statement "That the underdog refused to believe the predictions made by sportswriters" was made.

I feel that this is just another of the fine lessons we can derive from sports. We all face a lot of very difficult tasks, and our success is pretty much determined by our attitude. I once heard it said of the men of a certain army
