

Accounting Society Arrange Programs For Current Year

Gilbert Turner was elected president of the Accounting Society which met Tuesday evening, October 22, in room 405 of the Agriculture building. Other officers were Harold Boyd, vice-president; Bill Huffman, secretary-treasurer; Gus Asker, reporter; George Williams, program chairman; and Hal Patrick, parliamentarian.

Activities for the semester include several speakers in the accounting field. The first lecture is to be on parliamentary procedure and will be presented by a member of the English department. Then a speaker from the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants will address the group. The third speaker will be representative of the Houston chapter of National Society of Cost Accountants. Other plans are to have a member of a Bryan bank speak on Bank Accounting and a college faculty member to present to the club book keeping methods at A. & M. A social get-together, a banquet, was also planned for the semester.

Kream and Kow Klub

Bob Morton, dairy senior, Wharton, and Earl Edwards, dairy freshman of Floydada, addressed the Kream and Kow Klub on Tuesday night, October 15. Morton described his ten-day trip to Mexico this summer, sponsored by the Mexican government and Sears Roebuck and Company. Pictures of the Mexico Irrigation Project were then shown to those members present. Edwards, a member of the Texas State Junior Judging Team, reported that he placed fourth in the National Judging Contest at Columbus, Ohio this month. In this competitive test the Texas team was first in the nation, defeating 20 other teams.

After the meeting had adjourned, Kenneth Garvin, president of the Kream and Kow Klub, appointed Bob Hale, Bob Morton, and James Simons as program committee members for the fall semester.

Fish and Game Club Plans to Attend Wildlife Parley

Plans for student attendance at the North American Wildlife Conference next February in San Antonio were discussed at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the Fish and Game Club. Dr. W. B. Davis, head of the Fish and Game Department, urged that all students make arrangements to attend at least one day of the conference, which is the first of its kind to be held in Texas.

A fish and wildlife movie, "Know the Hawks", was then shown. Gary Solon, club sponsor, suggested that the club resume affiliation with the Texas Academy of Science.

Air Force Reserves Urged to Cooperate

An Air Force Reserve unit flying from a Bryan Air Field is a possibility if Air Force Reserves cooperate. During the first part of October, a survey was taken of the Air Force Reserves in Brazos County by sending out forms to each dorm or mailing address of day students to be filled out. A large number have failed to return these forms as requested.

Taylor Wilkins urges each Air Force Reserve member whether Army or Navy, enlisted or officer, to fill out one of these forms. Any Air Force Reserve who failed to receive a form call at the Veterans Advisors office, room 104 Goodwin Hall and fill out the form.

Further information concerning the dance will be gathered and reported at the next meeting by various appointed club members.

New Architecture Lab in Foster Hall

On the third floor of Foster Hall has been created a new architecture laboratory which includes six rooms and accommodates 21 students. The lab was established due to the increased enrollment in the Architecture Department.

A condemned building, poor lighting and ventilation, broken windows, no reference books, and a lack of lockers comprise the disadvantages of this Foster Hall laboratory, which is a long distance from the Main Architecture Library. The course, Architecture 202, is taught by returning veteran instructor, T. R. Holleman, '40. There is only one instructor for the six rooms lights and heating facilities are being installed for the winter months.

Industrial Education

At the regular meeting of the Industrial Education held on Tuesday, October 22, W. R. Hosley was guest speaker. Mr. Hosley, who is in charge of the College Placement Service, spoke on the organization and service of that department to students at A. & M. and graduating seniors in obtaining positions.

Disabled Veterans Can Obtain Autos

Recently there has been some discussion among disabled veterans regarding the possibility of their securing a new automobile under a provision that was made possible by the Veterans Administration.

Public Law 663 solves any questions that a disabled veteran may have in connection with his eligibility for a new automobile.

Those disabled veterans who are concerned about this matter are urged to contact the Veterans Advisor located in Hart Hall.

Business Society Is Added to Newly Formed Club List

Wendell Wortham, '45, China Springs, was elected president of the newly-formed club, named the Texas A&M Business Society. The meeting was held in the Geology Lecture Room on Tuesday night with 43 members present.
