On Kyle Field :: Hog-Aggie Battle Tops In SWC This Week

The grapevine has it that anyone interested in traveling to Pasadena, California around the end of the year can pick up pullman reservations at the capitol cheap. Since the Longhorn's HUMILIATING defeat at the hands of the Owls last Saturday the value of the tickets has been depreciating fast and it is rumored that if those interested will wait a few weeks longer they can get them for nothing.

U. V. JOHNSTON

The leaders in the flag race should retain their leads this week but if some of them get too cocky they are apt to get set back a notch. All in all it is going to be another tough week for the conference and some more of the big boys are apt to get knocked out of the win column. The only team that has a cinch is Baylor and they are taking the week off. However, Baylor couldn't be hurt much more anyway.

After a completely hectic week-end this past week the football situation should settle back into normal rat-race and run true to form this week. If so the Aggies will have their toughest conference contest to date. In fact if the Hogs run true to form the other two conference members the Farmers have played will look like sissies in comparison. There is no doubt in my mind that the Ags will have their toughest conference scrap to date but with last week's team on the field they should take the Hogs by at least two touchdowns. They will have to play the brand of football that they played last week-end to do this however and I believe they will. All the Ags have needed thus far in the season was to pick up a good passer and Buryl Baty more than met this requirement so on the basis of last week's fine performance I am taking the Ags over the Hogs.

Texas is going to have another tough opponent this week when they meet the Mustangs in Austin. Texas should bounce back after their first defeat of the season and hand the Ponies a good enemy territory. drubbing but those Mustangs haven't been a soft touch for anyone thus far in the season so don't be too surprised if they take the Longhorns in what promises to be a good battle. However, I will still have to say the Longhorns as they look like the better of two good

Rice is pretty chesty this week after knocking off the hotshots from Texas last Saturday at Houston but if they aren't careful come Saturday they are apt to be much the sadder as they tangle with the once defeated Red Raiders of Texas Tech. The Owls should take this one but if they get too cocky the Raiders are apt to set them back. Rice is not the only team that will have their hands full as Texas Christian tangles with the Oklahoma University line and it looks like the Frogs will come out with another defeat to their credit.

Last Friday there was an Assembly held on the Baylor campus and it seems that the preachers of Baylor were warned about how bad an influence those "bad old Aggies" were. Anyone interested in tickets to the Rice-Ag game had better get on the stick as only a few remain and these will be gone before the week is out. Since Rice knocked off Texas leaving the Ags and Rice tied for the conference lead the popularity rating of these tickets has hit a new high. Any of you guys who are interested had better hop down to the Athletic Office and get your application is as they won't last long. Buryl Baty sparked the Ags in their 17-0 drubbing of the Bruins with his spectacular passing from the single and dou-ble wing formation. This was the first time that Baty has been al-lowed to fully demonstrate his wares as he was injured in prac-tice early in the season and has not been able to play very much up until now. During the first half the game was practically a stalemate as most of the game was played be-tween the thirty yard stripes with neither team being able to ad-vance. Only once did either team threaten and that was early in the first quarter when Baty sparked a seventy-one yard drive to the Bear one where the ball went over on downs after the Bears held them for four downs. After this wild drive the game settled into a very hard fought battle with neither team advancing very deep into enemy territory. The Ags scored their first

Late in the final period the Ag-gies took over on downs on the Baylor nine yard stripe as Grif-fin was rushed and could not get his kick off. Smith then carried to the Baylor four and on the next play Leo Daniels passed to Merle Prokop out of the end zone so the score did not count. The gun then sounded before an-other rlay could be run and the Ags won by the score of 17-0. The line-ups: Baylor— Hollon LE Howell Late in the final period the Ag- Kyle Field was the scene of

DO YOU AGREE with Southern football coaches? They're acclaiming Charley Trippi of the University of Georgia as the best all-round halfback they've ever seen. Other players may outdo him in running, passing or punting-but, say the coaches, Trippi does all three things better than any other one player the South has produced. You won't want to miss this interest ing article about Trippi in today's Saturday Evening Post.
