

Official Notices

Each candidate for the degree of Master of Science or Master of Education who expects to complete his requirements for his degree in the current semester should file a complete course of study, thesis project (if a Master of Science degree), and notice of expectation to complete, with the Dean of the Graduate School without delay.

In view of the fact that some students and instructors have overlooked the requirement that grades of incomplete must be made up by the end of the first month of the student's succeeding semester in college, the time for making up incomplete grades has been extended to November 9, 1946.

AG BEES

drizzles made the ball hard to hold and even harder to catch a forward from Beesley to Pollock clicked and netted 10 yards. A second pass involving Beesley and Dew was good for another 15 and two in a row netted 22 yards leaving the ball on the Cub 12 yard line. Here the drive bogged down and due to an effective stand by the Baylor line, the Cubs took over on downs. The first half ended 0-0 with the Ags making the only real threat.

In the second half the Cubs kicked off and Anderson received on the Aggie 35, making it to the Cub 15 before being forced out of bounds by LaGrone, round around left end by Beesley picked up 5 yards and another run by Greene put the Farmers on the Cub 2 yard line. Greene then picked up another yard on a drive over center and a try for a TD by Frey failed to make more than a few inches headway.

In the fourth quarter Boyles picked up five yards on a right end run and an additional 5 and a first down was made in a hand-off from Beesley to Boyles. Immediately following, another first was chalked up by a run through center by Anderson that was good for 15 yards. Boyles picked up another 5 with a run and Dew netted four. Beesley then carried it over center for a first down.

In a run around left end Jennings Anderson made the outstanding play of the day. Anderson, hugging the right sideline eluded the entire Baylor team to carry the ball over for a TD but he was called back because of a misstep that carried him out of bounds.

Nevertheless, this was an outstanding run for he kept from within one to two feet of the line itself were being pushed. He stressed the need, especially, for lights on the practice field so that evening football drills won't have to be broken up early due to darkness.

Head Tennis Coach Dawson stated the college would soon have six of the best tennis courts in the nation which will break his present bottlenecks; the new courts are already under construction just east of the present courts.

The final member of the athletic staff questioned, W. L. "Penney" Penberthy, heaped still more needs on the pile. Penberthy emphasized principally the need for another indoor swimming pool. Said Penberthy: "Since classes, varsity drills and recreational swimming fill the present pool over constantly, another slightly smaller pool is needed to accommodate intramural competition."

However, as rosy as all these proposed plans sound, there are many on the campus who do not exactly look forward to their completion. To get a cross-section of opinion from the student body on these proposed additions, the Battalion last week asked one veteran, one corps member and one member of the faculty for their opinions. A definite difference of opinion resulted.

Kenneth C. Hudgins, Sophomore in "B" Battery Field Artillery, while admitting that the new plans would solve a lot of problems, stated that only a few were important enough at the present time to justify their priority over needed improvements in certain departments on the campus, notably the Dept. of Agriculture. "Certainly, we could use a new gym and I am wholeheartedly behind such a move," Hudgins said. "But I believe that before other improvements are made, some attention should be given to the needs of, for instance, the horticulture department."

Agreeing with Hudgins was Dr. C. Q. Hays, professor of English. Said Dr. Hays, "While the needs of the athletic department may be pressing, increased facilities in various departments of the School of Arts and Sciences are not only pressing, but absolutely essential.

Holding the opposite view, however, was Clarence "Cotton" Howell, sterling pass-grabber who will hold down the left end position against S.M.U. next week. Howell stated that there is a definite need for lights on the practice field if the team is to get in adequate practice time during the week. He added that "better facilities in the dressing rooms, both under Kyle Field and in Deware Field House, are needed very badly."

during the entire run of about 40 yards. The play netted 24 yards and dash over center by Dew picked up another 5.

On the next play the Cubs recovered a fumble but on their first play a pass from Coker was intercepted by Anderson on the Cub 38. Three consecutive hand-offs from Beesley to Boyles picked up a total of eight yards but the Cubs then took over on downs.

Beesley, Anderson, Dew and Pollock were particularly outstanding in offensive plays and Schmidt an dGuly shown in the defense. The Ags carried the day in everything except scoring with 12 first downs as compared to 2 for Baylor. 137 yards net gain rushing for 77 for the Cubs and 90 yards gained passing to 14 for Baylor.

More than 33 per cent of World War II veterans already have applied for education or on-the-job training under Federal laws, Veterans Administration said.

victory monopoly over the Mustangs by taking the '41 game, 21-10; the '42 game, 27-20; the '43 game, 22-10; and the '44 game 39-6. Last year on Kyle Field, the Aggies gave the Mustangs a dose of their own medicine, capitalizing on John Ballentine's third-quarter field goal to beat a vastly superior SMU team, 3-0.

Saturday's game will provide the answer to two questions: Has SMU made a vow to win similar to the one the '26 Aggie team made following its 3-0 loss? And will John Ballentine's educated toe decide another game in this field goal packed series? Come Saturday, we'll know.

AG DEPT.

Dr. J. H. Quisenberry will become head of the department of poultry husbandry. This department will include the division of poultry husbandry of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the poultry specialists of the Extension Service.

Dr. V. A. Young will become head of the range and forestry department, and he will also handle course work in forestry in the School of Agriculture.

Dr. Guy W. Adriance will become head of the department of horticulture, also to include the horticulture division of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the horticulture specialists of the Extension Service.

Marketing and Finance Club to Meet Tuesday

The Marketing and Finance Club will meet at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday, November 5, in room 312, Agriculture building. Lucian Morgan of the A. & M. Placement Office will be guest speaker for the evening.

Saddle and Sirloin Club Plans Picnic

A barbecue picnic will be held by the Saddle and Sirloin Club on a Wednesday afternoon between Thanksgiving and Christmas. This was decided upon by club members at a regular meeting Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Animal Industries Building.

Jim Watts and Bob Woodward were selected to choose the picnic grounds. The barbecue will be held as close to the college as possible to enable all members to attend. Final arrangements for the picnic will be decided upon at the next meeting of the club.

Joe Mertz, treasurer, presented to the club their financial status. With $1250 in the treasury the members agreed to send the livestock judging team to Chicago, a rodeo team to Tucson, and hold a barbecue for all club members.

The next regular meeting will be November 19 and Tom Roberts will be in charge of the entertainment.

Former Cadet Col. Added to MS Staff

Lieutenant Colonel William A. Becker, of Kaufman, formerly Cadet Colonel of the Texas A. & M. College Cadet Corps, was recently transferred to the staff of the School of Military Science and Tactics at A. & M. as an instructor.

Col. Becker, a 1941 honor graduate of A. & M. is a veteran of nearly three years in the Southwest Pacific area, serving in Australia, New Guinea, the Admiralty Islands, the Philippine Islands, and Japan. He was commander of a field artillery battalion in the First Cavalry Division.

Also added to the Military Staff was Lieutenant Colonel Lawrence E. Sommers, Dallas, a 1934 graduate of Texas A. & M. College and a veteran of the North African-Italian campaigns.

Col. Sommers was an agricultural engineering specialist with the United States Department of Agriculture prior to entering upon active duty in 1942. He served in North Africa and in the Italian campaign, serving with the Eighty-Eighth Division artillery as a battalion commander at Cassino. He was released from active duty in November 1945 but recalled as an officer in the Regular Army in July of this year.

Horticulturists To Present Show December 10-11th

The Horticulture Show will be held the 10 and 11 of December in Sbisla Hall, according to G. C. Wilson, president of the Horticulture Society. "This is the first time the show has been held in this location, and it is expected that a greater variety of exhibits will be made this year than ever before," Mr. Wilson said.

The different grades of fresh fruit are to be displayed at the show for the first time. A knowledge of these grades should enable the purchaser to buy a higher quality of fruit in the future.

Plans are also underway for a display of citrus fruit including fresh and processed. A large amount of grapefruit will come from the Rio Grande Valley, and subtropical varieties are to be shipped from California and Florida.

Other features in the show will be varieties of fresh vegetables, and the different methods of propagation of a fruit tree from the seedling stage until it is set in the field.

As in the past the fruit and vegetables will be for sale subject to delivery at the close of the show.
