

San Angelo Club Picks Duchess for Christmas Dance

At a regular meeting of the San Angelo A. & M. club Thursday night, members elected a duchess to represent San Angelo at the annual Christmas dance. The girl elected was Eugenia Watkins, currently enrolled at Texas Tech.

Presentation of the duchesses is the highlight of the dance. At that time the duchess chosen to represent each town who is a member of the club is introduced and escorted up the center of the dance floor.

Plans for the dance are going into their final phase, and Jim Callas, chairman of the ticket committee, reports an expected sell-out. The dance will be held December 27 with the Aggieband orchestra furnishing the music.

College Station Votes On Bond Issue Next Month

The College Station city council has ordered a special election December 17, when qualified voters will go to the polls to decide on issuance of $100,000 in bonds for city improvements, Mayor Ernest Langford announced today.

Money obtained from sale of the bonds, if voted, will be split into three parts, Langford indicated. A sum of $50,000 will be used to improve and extend the present city sewerage system, $35,000 will pay for bettering the waterworks system, and $15,000 will be used to improve the electric distribution network in the city.

The proposed bonds, according to City Manager Francis A. Vaughn, will be ad valorem tax bonds, issuance of which would raise the city tax rate by 40 cents of the $100 valuation, although the hike will not be effective for one year. The polls will be open from 8:00 a. m. to 7:00 p. m. on December 17, Vaughn said.
