Spirit of Aggie Land

Searcy Bracewell, committee member and Aggie-ex, asked similar questions of both Andrews and Fisher. As asked of Andrews:

Q. Based on experience both before and after the war, did you ever experience on the campus a spirit of pride and friendliness?
A. Before the war, yes, and we carried it right into the army.
Q. Is there a spirit of dissatisfaction on the campus now?
A. The greatest I have ever known.

Ed Hughes, another Aggie-ex committee member, asked:

Q. If the six questions were answered satisfactorily, would you want to keep the administration?
A. We would not be satisfied to keep the present administration under any circumstances.

Queried on Housing

Sen. George A. Moffett asked Andrews:

Q. Isn't it natural for large numbers of troops to be always grouching about something?
A. Morale in the army isn't so bad as at A. & M.

Q. Don't you think more and better housing would create a much better spirit on the campus?
A. No sir, I do not.

Q. I have the impression that the veterans are principally dissatisfied with the administration. Is that your principal gripe?
A. Our principal target is to get rid of the president.

Gestapo
In a long, carefully prepared speech, Andrews stated the dissatisfaction of the veterans, without mentioning the six questions brought up at the mass meeting. He charged that during the present administration, the Blue Star has been lost by the corps, the Chemical Engineering course has been removed from the "recognized schools" list; the Veterinary Medicine school is skidding in rating, and the faculty has resigned itself to the 'present unfortunate situation.'

He charged the school was creating a system of "gestapo" spies, squealers and stooges, as a result of which fear and distrust has been bred on the campus. The Dean of Men's office has been told to find out everything the boys say in the dormitories, Andrews stated.

Short Course Plans Nearing Completion

Plans for the Texas School Administration Conference and the County Superintendent and Supervisors Conference, both sponsored by A & M, June 17-19 are nearing completion, according to George B. Wilcox, head of the department of Education and Psychology.

Dr. Merle Prunty, director of student personnel at Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri, will deliver the main address each morning at joint sessions of the two groups.

Three phases of study will characterize the 11th annual confer-

WILL YOU SPARE HIM THE HORRORS OF WORLD WAR III?

Our National Security for World War II Cost Us . . .

IN LIVES: 385,000      IN DOLLARS: $500,000,000,000.00

It is estimated that 3 billion dollars per year from 1920 to 1940 would have averted World War II. Subtract 60 billion from 500 billion and you'll see the needless cost of 440 billion dollars.

60 BILLION DOLLARS WOULD HAVE BEEN A CHEAP PRICE IN EXCHANGE FOR 385,000 LIVES

THE RESERVE OFFICERS ASSOCIATION IS ASKING TWO THINGS:

1. That you remember the fact that dead men might be alive had our nation been alive to the fact that only adequately trained and equipped men have a chance to survive in combat.
2. That the citizens of the United States join with us in urging our representatives in Washington against cutting appropriations and reducing our standing armed forces to pre-war inefficiencies and inadequacies.
