Other Improvements Planned . . .

Carpets, New Lobby Fixtures Transform Guion Hall Theatre

By Mack T. Nolan. A&M has a big time cinema house now. Guion Hall Theater had its face lifted in a big way over the mid-semester holidays, and now presents a more comfortable and pleasant atmosphere for movie fans. Various other improvements are on the schedule for completion in the near future, among them, curved display boards to fit the columns on the front of Guion Hall. These display cases will facilitate using the center doors as the main entrance. On entering Guion Hall nowadays one sees the new ticket office with its ample glass walls and shiny plastic. Then he realizes that he is standing on a fine, new carpet. "That's not just a carpet," says Tom Puddy, manager of the theater, "that's a Mohawk Wilton carpet, the very best."

Tool Shed or Garage?

Whether Tools or Car Occupies Garage Is Rev. Fowler's Poser

By Kenneth Bond. "The first impression and a very lasting one concerning the A&M College is the general willingness and the serious thinking of the students," says Rev. James F. Fowler, minister of the Church of Christ at College Station. Rev. Fowler, who resides in the parsonage adjacent to the church, located at the corner of Church St. and North Main, has been a resident of College Station for the past year. Prior to his coming here, he spent two and one-half years at the Central Church of Christ in Temple and two years at the Shamrock Shores Church of Christ in Dallas. Rev. Fowler, one of five children, was born in Thorpe Springs, Texas, in 1919. His father has been a Minister of the Church of Christ for the past forty years, but at present is working on a semi-retired basis. Rev. Fowler graduated from Breckenridge High School in San Antonio, in 1937 and attended Abilene Christian College. He majored in Bible and education and received his Bachelor of Science Degree in 1942. Transferring to S.M.U., Rev. Fowler majored in education and psychology and received his master's degree in 1946. Upon graduation he married the former Miss Lottie Netterville of Nashville, Tenn., who also received a Bachelor of Science Degree at Abilene Christian College that year. She majored in home economics. They have two children, James Jr., four years old, and Lois, two. Although the children do not know it yet, their parents have high hopes of their following the traditional line of churchwork. There is a continual struggle to see whether Rev. Fowler's car or his woodworking tools occupy the garage. He has solved part of this housing problem for the tools of his favorite hobby by placing them on rollers so that he can move them about. As he is quite interested in woodwork, he has designed and built all the furniture in his children's room, as well as some of the furniture in the rest of his home. He also built some of the furniture used in the church library located upstairs in the rear of the church. He is fond of badminton and plays it often. Although he says that he isn't a champion by any means, he spent considerable time playing with the badminton club on the campus last year. The Church of Christ will have two visiting ministers during the coming school year. Dr. G. C. Brewer from Memphis, Tenn., will be here during Religious Emphasis Week and Evangelist Trine Starnes from Kentucky, will conduct a Revival during the early part of November. Regular Sunday and Wednesday night services will be conducted at the Annex for the benefit of the freshmen. The services, conducted by R. L. Nolan, will be held in the Chemistry Lecture Room. "A&M is a great institution," says Rev. Fowler, "with students going about in many ways preparing to become the men of tomorrow. We have received good cooperation from the faculty and especially from W. L. Penberthy, the new Dean of Men, and I am sure it will continue."
