

Texas, Texas Christian, Aggies Top Southwest Grid Statistics

Texas and Texas Christian divided team honors in the Southwest Conference statistics released by James Stewart, Executive Secretary of the league's, showed today, but players from Texas A&M hogged much of the individual glory.

The Longhorns led the loop in total offense, racking up 1485 yds. in four games while the Christians have held their opponents to 521 yds. in four contests to lead in defense.

Aggie gridgers led in percentage of pass completions, punting, punt returns and were fourth in ground gaining. Jim Cashion, who bowed out of the gridiron picture for six weeks after the LSU game, topped the loop's passers in percentage of completions, connecting on 13 of his 18 tosses for a phenomenal .722 average. Texas' Bobby Layne led in number of completions and was second in percentages with 25 bullseyes on 39 heaves for 481 yards and a .641 average. Stan Holling, who will shoulder much of the Aggies' passing load since the departure of Cashion, was second to Layne in number of completions and total yards gained hitting 21 times out of 49 chunks for 277 yards.

Arkansas' Ken Holland, currently sidelined with injuries, leads the league's ball carriers with a net of 263 yards gained on 29 carries for an average of nine yards per carry. Byron Gillyory of Texas has covered 223 yards in just 23 carries for a 9.1 average, tops in the conference. Ed Dusek of A&M is third in yards per carry with an average of 7.4 on 28 attempts.

Holling tops the conference punters who have kicked five or more times with a 45.1 average on 24 kicks, while Rob Goode of the Aggies leads the circuit in punt returns with an average of 28.2 on four returns.

Doak Walker of SMU leads in scoring with 44 points with Gillyory of Texas second at 36 and Goode and Clay of Texas tied for third with 30 points each.

Aggies' Jim Winkler Comments On Frog-Cadet Clash Saturday

JIM WINKLER

Ed. Note: Plenty good at making news, starting tackle Jim Winkler is also not a bad hand at reporting it either. Here's the way Jim sees the Aggies' meeting with T. C. U. Saturday in Fort Worth.

With an eye to a brighter future the Texas Aggies travel to Fort Worth Friday to meet the Texas Christian Horned Frogs Saturday afternoon at 2:30. The Aggies, thirty five strong, will leave Friday morning at 9:50 and will arrive in time to take the usual pre-game loosening-up drill. The squad is in top form except James Cashion, out for six weeks with a broken ankle, George Kadera, who is still favoring a bad ankle, and Bobby Goff, out with a bad kidney.

After two straight last half setbacks the Aggies are anxious to get back in the win column. T. C. U. has always been an Aggie stumbling block and are picked by some to turn the trick again this year. It was in '44 that a mediocre T. C. U. team upset the Aggies on Kyle Field; again in '45 the Frogs eked out a one-point victory aided by several Aggie fumbles at crucial points. Last year A&M won 14-0.

The "old Dutchman" Leo Meyer, is a much respected individual in Southwest football circles and anything can happen when he sends his Horned Frogs out on a Saturday afternoon. Coach Meyer is convinced that he has two teams of about equal strength and plans to wear the Aggies out with from 24 to 36 men. The so-called No. 2 team, made up of Freshmen and Sophomores, has received the starting nod in the last two games against Arkansas and Miami. Says Coach Meyer: "That young line has looked so good the last two times out there that they're going to carry a lot of the load from here on out." One good number to write down in the book is 46. That is the one big Pete Stout will wear for the Frogs Saturday. It was Stout who carried the brunt of the Frog attack when they sloshed to their victory against Miami last week. Lindy Berry is another up and coming lad for the Frogs who operates from the vital Tailback position on the Meyer version of the double and single wings.

Coach Norton was well pleased with the showing of his Aggies last week against LSU, but admits it would have been better if the score had remained 13-12. His boys received a jolt when they learned that the quarterback was out for six weeks with a broken ankle, but the Aggies immediately set to work preparing for TCU. Not as much contact work is on tap this week, with the Aggies brushing up on pass defense and a defense against T. C. U. spread.

WTAW to Air Game Of Fish vs Frogs

Station WTAW received permission to broadcast the play by play description of the A&M Fish versus the TCU Polywogs game, tonight at 7:50 p.m. from Ft. Worth. Dick Goetlieb and Milt Frenkle will be on hand to give both a play by play account of the game from Farrington Field and the color and excitement of the contest as well. Coach Charlie DeWare's Fish will be seeking their first win of the season, having lost their opening game to NTAC by a score of 13 to 7.

The Federal Communications Commission granted WTAW permission to handle this broadcast as well as the LSU-A&M game of last Saturday night.

May Drop Dallas As Annual Site For TU-OU Game

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 15 (AP)—The discussion over whether or not Texas scored a legal touchdown in that wild second period against Oklahoma here Saturday was overshadowed today by a move launched at the University of Oklahoma to take the annual game away from Dallas.

Dr. George L. Cross, president of Oklahoma University, said he favored playing the game on a home-an-home basis, a similar statement to one he made before last week's game.

University of Texas officials, however, had declared they opposed such a move and Athletic Director D. X. Bible said Texas would play some team in Dallas, whether it be Oklahoma or another top college.

"I don't see how we can go back to Dallas now," Dr. Cross declared, referring to bottle-throwing, fighting and other disorders during last week's game.

An Oklahoma student petition to take the game out of Dallas had some 3,000 names and the alumni association will take an official stand on the matter at a meeting Nov. 1.

The Texas-Oklahoma game always has been one of the best monkey-makers in the southwest. For instance, this year's game paid $41,404.07 to each of the schools.

EVANS - DABBS FIGHT

AUSTIN, Oct. 15—(AP)—Ben Evans and Johnny Dabbs of Austin were scheduled to slug it out here in a couple of weeks for the right to meet Texas welterweight champion Bert Lissam.

Evans, former Oklahoma welterweight titlist, earned the right to meet Dabbs with a 10-round decision over Tony Chavez here last night.
