

Vet's Wife to Run Nursery Saturday

Mrs. Merrell Barfield, wife of an Aggie veteran, will operate a nursery for students' children on Saturday afternoon to permit parents to attend the A. & M.-Baylor game. She will take care of the children from 1 p. m., until after the game, charging reasonable rates for the afternoon, Barfield stated yesterday. In addition to baby-sitting, she will serve light refreshments to the kiddies. The Barfields live in the fifth home on the left, Meadowland St., between Grant Service Station on Highway 6 and College View Apartments.

Housing Office Needs Rooms And Apartments

An appeal was issued today for rooms, apartments and houses. Landlords and homeowners in general have been asked to list such vacancies, even for over the week-end with the chief of housing, by telephone, 4-5014.

Football fans and visitors for the game here Saturday with Baylor and week-end functions, have requested rooms far in excess of the supply now listed, it was pointed out. The application for permanent rooms, houses and apartments is almost as brisk as the demand for week-end facilities, it was stated.

Agronomy Society Meet Wednesday

New members of the Agronomy Society will be initiated Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the AI Lecture Room, it was announced Friday.

Students wishing to join the club should get a copy of the constitution in the agronomy department's office, Experiment Station Building.

At last Tuesday's meeting changes were recommended in the club constitution. These changes will be voted upon at the first regular meeting in November.

W. H. Gaston, summer parliamentarian from Waxahachie, was elected treasurer, while Claude E. Cook of Fort Worth was appointed junior representative to the Agricultural Council.

Four members of the Agronomy Society will be selected to attend the crop judging contest to be held in Chicago during the middle of November.

Garden Club Hears Talks on Flowers

Dr. A. F. DeWorth, professor in the landscape art department, spoke to the A&M Garden Club on the culture of roses. Dr. DeWorth stated that guesstwork had been taken out of gardening and that it is a scientific endeavor. He suggested that roses be trimmed at a twenty-four-inch height in the spring, and also said that roses could be grown anywhere in Texas if the soil and plants were treated properly.

Mrs. J. E. Roberts, an authority on flowers in this section, spoke on the care of bulbs. She said that bulbs had to be lifted each year as they had a tendency to sink further down in the soil. A&M Garden Club members made plans for a November Chrysanthemum show to be held in the "V" Chapel.

Welcoming Group Leaves for Baylor

A portion of the Aggie Welcoming Committee left this morning for Baylor University on a goodwill mission connected with the annual Baylor-A. & M. football game to be played Saturday.

Three cadets and two veteran students were slated to give short talks to the Baylor student body emphasizing friendship between the two schools. They included Cadet Colonel Jack E. Jackson, Cadet Lt. Col. John T. Miller, Cadet Major David Fort, J. H. Richardson, and the chairman of the committee, Ralph Rothman, Miller, Richardson and Rothman are members of the committee, while Jackson and Fort have been requested to aid the group in formulating plans for the activities this week-end.

Details of preparations for handling the game crowd have been discussed by the committee in previous meetings. Final plans will be disclosed later this week in order that all Aggies may do their part toward affording the Baylor rooters a royal welcome to the campus.

Sanderson Heads Graduate Club

Charles Sanderson was elected president of the Graduate Club at a recent meeting. Also chosen to head the organization were A. S. Heiba, vice-president; Hugh Lofland, secretary; and W. J. Graff, treasurer.

Dr. Paul B. Pearson, dean of the graduate school, as guest speaker, discussed the graduate's problems and how the dean's office planned to cope with these difficulties. He emphasized the need and suggested the appointment of an advisory committee of graduate students to serve with him in discussing the problems of the graduate school. Following his speech, Dr. Pearson held an open discussion, answering questions from the floor.

A social period with cold drinks and cookies concluded the meeting. An announcement that the time of the next meeting would be November 5 was made.

Andrews Elected Chairman of SAM

Donald Andrews, veteran student from Dallas, was elected chairman of the Society for the Advancement of Management at the first meeting of the school year.

Phil Kosub from San Antonio, was named vice-chairman and Damon Godwin of Port Arthur, secretary-treasurer. O. L. Streetman, member of B Air Force from Grapeland, was elected junior representative to the Student Engineering Council.

Leslie Dupuy of Waco and Jack Turner of San Antonio will serve as senior and junior representatives, respectively, to the Engineer magazine. Turner will also be public relations officer for the society.

A committee under the leadership of Kosub will meet soon to discuss plans for a barbecue to be held during the week-end of a home football game.

Johnson Club To Sponsor Barbecue

Friday night the Johnson County A&M Club will have a free barbecue at picnic unit number 1, Hensel Park beginning at 6 p. m., it was announced yesterday.

Students planning to attend should contact A. R. Buckner, Room 8-L, Puryear before noon, Thursday.

Allen To Speak To Architects

W. R. Allen, who recently joined the A. & M. Architecture department, will speak before the Architectural Society Tuesday night in the architectural lecture room.

Allen received his B. A. degree from Carnegie Tech, and completed his masters work at Harvard.
