Summer Jobs On Farms

Students who would like to work on wheat farms this summer should get in touch with the farm labor office of the Extension Service, according to C. Hohn, state farm labor supervisor.

Although Hohn cannot place directly those wanting work, he can put the student in touch with farmers who have indicated they would like to hire students. Most farmers asking for students want someone who is willing to work anywhere he is needed, whether on a combine, plowing, or building fen-
