

Plan to Visit 'Taliessen West'

Architect Class to Make Southwestern Inspection

By JOHN B. SINGLETARY
The fifth-year design class in architecture will make a field inspection trip to Arizona and California March 12-28. Joe T. Meador of the architecture department announced yesterday.

About 15 students will make the trip which is part of a project of research on school building codes for the state of Texas being directed by Dr. Arthur Meloh of the Texas Engineering Experiment Station.

Plans made for the trip include a visit with Frank Lloyd Wright, considered by many to be America's most famous architect, in his winter studio "Taliessen West" at Scottsdale, Arizona. A visit to the Rose Pausen House which Wright designed in Phoenix has also been planned.

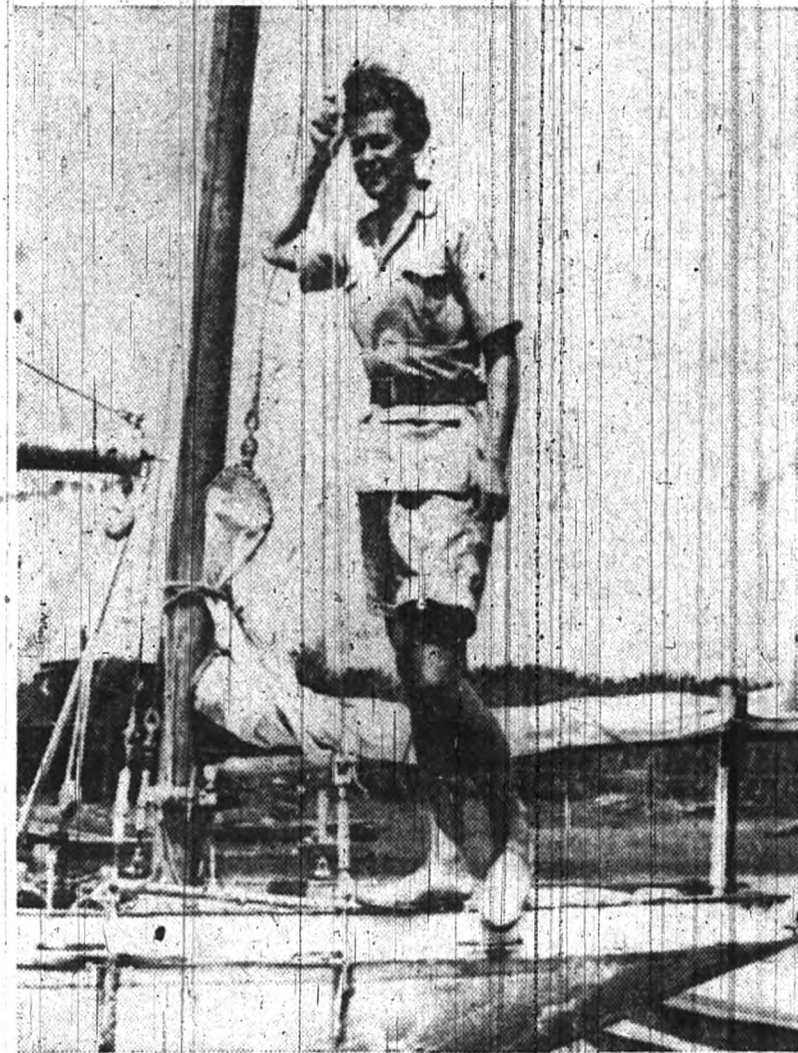

In Los Angeles the class will be guests of the California Council of Architects whose advisory committee has planned their itinerary in California.

Some of the building authorities who will meet with the student for discussion of building problems are Charles Gibson of Los Angeles, an authority on school lighting; Henry Wright, one of the leading contemporary school designers; Richard Neutra, internationally known architect and one-time consultant as professor in the architecture department at A&M; Ernest Kump of San Francisco, one of the nation's outstanding exponents of contemporary architecture; and John Reed, chairman of the California Council of Architects.

Two faculty members will accompany the party. They are Bill Caudill, professor of architecture, and Joe T. Meador, assistant professor of architecture. Cameramen will also go along to record about 2500 feet of film of buildings.

Students who will make the trip are John N. De Haas Jr., Jack D. Harrington, Waldo W. Shannon, J. A. Hans Jr., William M. Pena, A. D. Sakos, W. L. Deane, Harry W. Saunders, Harry B. Smith, Jimmie Demopoulos, and Harrison L. Whitener. A. B. Allison, C. R. Crawford Jr., and Daniel Perkins have indicated that they may go.

BARON HANS DE MEISS-TEFFEN, UP war correspondent and world traveler, will speak on the Palestine situation Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the YMCA. His appearance on the campus is under the sponsorship of the A&M Hillel Foundation and the YMCA.

A&M Profs' Book Now Being Issued

The revised edition of "Problems on Applied Thermodynamics," by Virgil M. Faires, head of the management engineering department; A. V. Brewer, professor of mechanical engineering, and Clifford M. Simmang, assistant professor of mechanical engineering, all of A&M, has just been published.

The edition, published by the MacMillan Company of New York, is in use in more than 60 universities and colleges of the United States.

Originally written in 1938, the book represents over a years work on the part of the three authors. Containing over 1100 problems on applied Thermodynamics, the manual has a section of vapor tables, charts on properties of air, carbon dioxide, steam, and other tabulated data.

The revised edition will go on general sale immediately.

Northwestern Sociologist To Visit Campus, March 1-3

Dr. Arthur J. Todd, chairman of the sociology department at Northwestern University from 1921-43, will visit the campus March 1-3 to speak before students during class periods and at an open forum Tuesday evening.

Dr. Todd, invited to appear here by Dean of the College F. C. Bolton, will address two sociology classes Monday and Wednesday mornings, and two psychology classes Tuesday.

Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. he will lead an open forum discussion in the South Solarium of the YMCA. Dan Russell of the A&M rural sociology department said yesterday.

Dr. Todd attended the University of California, later enrolling in the European schools of Marseilles, Paris, and Munich. In 1911 he received his Ph.D. degree from Yale. Dr. Todd served as chief probation officer in San Francisco from 1905-08, later joining the University of Pittsburgh as professor of sociology and head of the department.

From 1919-25 he served as director of industrial relations for B. Kuppenheimer & Co., Chicago, holding part-time duties as visiting professor at Northwestern. Then he became professor of sociology and head of the sociology department at Northwestern.

In 1943 he retired as head of the Northwestern department, and was named chairman emeritus of the sociology department.

During the war Dr. Todd served as special examiner of the National War Labor Board, and later managed the Washington office of the Christian Science Committee on Publication.

Among the books which Dr. Todd has written are "The Primitive Family As an Educational Agency," "Theories of Social Progress," "The Scientific Spirit of Social Work," "Three Wise Men of the East," "The Secularization of Domestic Relations," and "Industry and Society."

In addition, he was co-author of "Democracy and Reconstruction" and "College Teaching."

Dr. Todd edited a 5-volume series, "Recreation Survey of Chicago," and the "Life and Letters of Martha Gaddis."

A member of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology and the International Kriminalistische Verein, Dr. Todd has spent much of his time in the field of criminology.

Largest Class In History Applies For June Diploma The largest class in the history of A&M will be graduated this June, according to Johnnie Zinn of the Registrar's Office.

Over 800 applications have already been received from prospective June graduates and many more are expected before the March 1 deadline, Zinn said. Increasing by leaps and bounds since the 20-year low point of 67 reached in 1945, the number in this year's graduating class surpasses by more than 100 the previous record year of 1947.

In 1920, the figure was 96, in 1930, 331, while by 1941 the number of June A&M graduates has risen to its highest pre-war level of 787.

Students who plan to graduate in June must make formal application in the Registrar's Office before Monday, March 1.

Walton Not Open For Dance Dates Contrary to an earlier announcement, Walton Hall will not be opened to dates for the Fourth Regimental ball, H. L. Boyer, of the Housing Office, announced today.

Only three students had made application for these rooms for their dates. These girls can be placed in rooms in private homes, if their dates will come by the Housing Office and make application. There is no set price, but these rooms usually run from $1 up, nightly.

"The demand was not sufficient to necessitate the opening of Walton for this week-end," Boyer continued, "but, in the future if enough applications are received, Walton will be opened to accommodate student dates."

Iva Kitchell, Dance Humorist, To Perform in Guion, March 4

By OTTO KUNZE

Iva Kitchell, dance humorist whose brilliant wit and loveliness have delighted thousands both in this country and in Europe, will perform in Guion Hall on March 4 as a Town Hall presentation.

A native of Junction City, Kansas, Miss Kitchell began dancing at the age of four. She took to the idea of dancing seriously, but soon developed a humorous aspect of the art.

In her opinion dancing more than any other art becomes absolutely ridiculous the moment it is taken too seriously. She acquired her humorous aspect of dancing while a student in ballet school. The rapt theatrical expressions that she observed in a ballet class caused her to burst out laughing and she has been laughing ever since.

Miss Kitchell has a sense of humor that permits her to see the funny side of everything and show it up with all the fine taste, virtuosity, wit, and brilliance of the world-renowned dancer that she is.

John Martin of the New York Times says that she laughs at everything quite indiscriminately but always in the best of humor and without a trace of malice. Unlike many parodists she is able technically to do the things which she comically burlesques.

Miss Kitchell adapts her satirical gyrations to any and all types of dances. She loves to display the comical view of such dances as Isadora Duncan's school of esthetic dancing, Martha Graham's modern dance and Alicia Markova's graceful pirouettes.

Her caricatures of dancers achieve their wide appeal to audience by virtue of the fact that they reflect characteristics of people everywhere. Contrary to popular belief, Miss Kitchell loves modern dances.

Miss Kitchell does not make enemies by her hilarious impersonations of modern well-known dancers, but on the contrary they are her closest friends. Actually Miss Kitchell's merciful ribbing of modern dances increases the audience interest in the dancers whom she satirizes.

She has the divine gift of poking fun at human pomposities without hurting anyone's feeling. Her actions convey humor by means of her ample and highly individual technique of movements. One of her spectators once remarked, "why that girl can crack a joke with her toes!" Her show is clever, funny and sometimes powerfully moving.

Few dancers on the American stage have such a gift for characterization as is displayed by Miss Kitchell.

Her seemingly carefree satire is developed from long and untiring preparations. She has studied with some of the world's greatest dancers, such as Dolin Caton, Nimura, Celli, and Staats, all of the Paris Opera.

Miss Kitchell has recently given over 250 performances in the United States and Canada.
