A&M Judging Team Takes Second in Oklahoma Contest

By CHARLIE RANKIN
The Texas A&M Junior Livestock Judging Team, coached by W. M. Warren, professor of animal husbandry, brought home second place honors from the Intercollegiate Livestock Judging Contest held March 8 at Oklahoma City where judging teams from eight representative agricultural colleges from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas competed.

The team consisted of Harold Roberson; Goldthwaite; Fred Wilkinson; Menard; J. Fred Davis; Fort Worth; Ed Steele, Graham; and Charlie Rankin, Corsicana. It was the high team in judging quarter horses, second in swine, third in sheep, and tied for third place in cattle. The team also placed three men in the top five on individual honors.

Charlie Rankin was second high man of the contest for all classes of livestock. He was high individual in swine, and tied with Wilkinson for second individual honors in quarter horses.

Ed Steele was third ranking man for all classes of livestock, high individual in quarter horses, fourth in cattle, and tied with Fred Wilkinson for fifth individual honors in sheep.

Fred Wilkinson tied for fifth individual honors in all classes of livestock, tied for second place in quarter horses and tied for fifth individual in sheep.

Harold Roberson and Fred Davis were close behind the other three men.

Twelve classes of livestock were judged, including quarter horses, breeding and fat classes, of cattle and sheep, and fat classes of swine.

Oklahoma A&M received the trophy for the top team of the contest. Ed Steele and Charlie Rankin each received gold and silver buckle sets presented by L. A. Wilcox, Farm Loan Division of the Mutual Life Insurance Company. Steele also received a book entitled, "Outstanding Modern Quarter Horse Sires" presented by Art Beal, quarter horse breeder from Oklahoma.

According to team members, the generosity of the Texas and New Mexico Quarter Horse Breeders Association in donating the animals which were used for instructional purposes was largely responsible for its success at Oklahoma City.

'Editor for Today' Says . . .

Kindergarten Staff Could Do Better Job

Only a few persons have taken advantage of the opportunity to express their ideas on editing The Battalion. Among the letters received is the one from W. T. Hays, foreman of the A&M Print Shop, who sent in the following letter.

Dear Ed:

You want to know how to run a newspaper according to a news item on the front page of the Daily Batt of March 9. Frankly you need some help. I have often wondered what kind of blackmail you use to keep the circulation up.

Anyhow here is "How I Would Run The Battalion If I were Editor":

1. Fire the entire staff from the top of the steps on the second floor of Goodwin Hall southwest to the back of the teletype machine which was, the last time I visited the Batt office, backed against the wall.
2. Immediately take a trip to Bryan to Mrs. Orr's kindergarten and recruit some reporters with a high mentality to improve the type of stories carried in the Batt.

That, my dear editor, is how I think the Batt should be run.

Gripingly yours,
W. T. HAYS

Disappointedly yours,
W. T. H.

P. S. After I had the above letter written I am getting scared that I will not win the prize, because I have been informed by a usually reliable source that your staff's I. Q. would be almost if not equal to a group of kindergarten students and that my suggestions are the way the Batt is run every day. I am very disappointed because I thought my suggestions would be something new to you and your staff.

The contest for this week will end at midnight Sunday, March 14. Letters concerning "What I Would Do If I Were Editor of The Battalion For A Day" should be mailed to Editor for a Day Contest, Battalion, Campus.

Prizes for the best suggestions submitted will be $5, $3, and $2 in cash.
