

Guidance And Testing Open To Students

The Testing and Guidance Division of Education and Psychology Department is designed as a purely voluntary service to ALL students of A&M. Students who believe they are in need of educational or vocational guidance may take advantage of the free service. Interpretation of tests and counseling is done by R. H. Hughes, director. Mrs. Joe R. Street and Mrs. D. L. Clout, secretaries, give the tests. Object of the service is to acquaint the student with his interests, aptitude and abilities in order to make a better choice of major and minor curricula. All test results are strictly confidential between student and counselor. Counseling service is personal and private. Hughes invites those freshmen interested in having tests taken at time of entrance interpreted to come by the Guidance Center Office.

(Continued from Page 1) ducting summer tours to Western Europe. The first trip was for adventure — those after it have been for pleasure. The educational value of these trips is one of his treasures. He enjoys music, especially the classics. And occasionally visits Dallas and Houston to hear the symphonies. Dean and Mrs. Harrington and their nine-year-old son, John Norris, have recently moved to the Campus and now occupy the house formerly occupied by President F. C. Bolton. Dr. Harrington is a member of the American Chemical Society; Sigma Xi honor society in the field of research; Phi Lambda Upsilon, honor society of chemists and chemical engineers. Locally he is a member of the A&M Athletic Council and a member of the Bry-

BOLTON

(Continued from Page 1) ber of the Sul Ross No. 1300 Masonic Lodge. The elevation of Dean Bolton, a leader who has devoted his life to A&M, to the presidency in his final year of service, is a fitting tribute for his long and distinguished career at this institution. Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" sold 2,500,000 copies in 1852; the year it was published. The banjo, as we know it today, was evolved and developed by the Negroes of the south. Quintuplets are so rare that only a few cases occur throughout the world in any hundred years.

Religious Census To Be Taken Today

A Religious Census of the College Station Community will be taken Sunday afternoon, September 12, according to Rev. Arthur Smith. All College Station churches are cooperating in the census, Smith said. Census takers plan to contact everyone in the community between the hours of 1 and 3 p.m. Smith urged citizens to give their cooperation to the census takers by answering questions promptly. Smith pointed out that the census takers were all volunteer workers and that they would need the cooperation of everyone in the community.
