

Aggies Rated Underdogs Against Hogs

Running of Clyde Scott to Be Main Threat to Aggie Defense

When the Aggies meet the Razorbacks on Kyle Field day after tomorrow, it will be the 23rd meeting of the two teams since their series started in 1903.

Arkansas holds the edge in wins now, ten to nine, but an A&M win Saturday would tie it up. Two ties are already on the books for these teams and last year's 21-21 debacle in Fayetteville was the first since 1934.

The Aggies got off to a good start in their games with the Hogs by winning the first game in 1903 six to nothing.

The two teams skipped a few years after that and did not play again until 1910. The Hogs evened it up then by defeating the Farmers by the odd score of five to nothing.

Two years later they met again and that time the Aggies triumphed 27 to 0.

After that came another one of those long, unexplained intervals when the two rivals didn't play for fifteen years. In 1927, the Aggies ran up one of the highest scores that either of the teams has been able to make and felled the Hogs 40 to 6.

A&M and Arkansas played again for the next three years straight and the boys from the hogs came out on top in all three games.

The series jumped to 1944 after the 1930 season before the two played again and that year, the game produced the first tie in the series, seven all.

From that time on, the two teams have met in either college stadiums or on the Hogs' home ground and each team has won six each.

With the 23rd game of their series just a few weeks away, the Fighting Aggies are in just about the same shape as they were some time ago when the Razorbacks last season when they were six point underdogs. This year they are rated to be seven points worse off than the Hogs.

Clyde Scott, the boy that made it impossible for the Farmers to upset Arkansas last year, is back again and is named for the All-Southwestern Conference.

He made 115 of the 124 yards that the Razorbacks made on the ground against the Aggies last year and that included one 42 yard run for a TD. He also passed for another one.

The Aggies and the Hogs have two common foes to date, Baylor and TCU. Arkansas beat TCU and was defeated by Baylor after Clyde Scott was injured and had to leave the game. Because both teams defeated the Aggies, the Razorbacks will have to be given the nod.

The Aggies will be out to stop Scott this Saturday and if they do, they might be able to produce that upset that they have been due for all season. Scott is probably the one big difference between the strength of the two teams.

Final plans for entertaining the members of the Batesville High School football squad this weekend while they are here for the Aggie-Arkansas game will be discussed at a special meeting of the Coryell County Club tonight at 7:30 in Room 120, Academic Building.

The squad of about thirty members will arrive early Saturday morning. They will eat lunch and supper with the Corps and leave early Saturday night. Tommy Thompson, club president, said.

The visit of the team is jointly sponsored by the Coryell Club here and the Coryell County Ex-Students Club.

All members of the club are requested to be present tonight because the Longhorn picture is to be made. Veteran students are reminded to wear coats and ties. Thompson added.

The Bears will leave Waco Friday afternoon and will work out on the TCU grounds under the lights Friday night.

Texas Picked By Williamson To Beat Ponies

The Williamson Ratings conflicted with everybody's opinions as usual this week in rating the ten top teams of the nation. The only one that seems to be unanimous is the rating for the top spot and that is Michigan.

Only one team, Baylor, landed in his top ten that is a member of the Southwest Conference. The Bears slipped from sixth to eighth after the Aggies scared them so badly in Waco Saturday.

Texas went to eleventh this week after their defeat of Rice. Arkansas stayed in about the same position by being idle last weekend. It is rated 20th.

SMU stayed just one above its old rival TCU, and had a rating of 25th.

The Aggies climbed four points from last week, and are rated 84th out of a field of 95. The climb is attributed to the Aggies near defeat of Baylor.

According to Williamson, here are the top ten teams in the nation:

1. Michigan U.
2. North Carolina U.
3. Georgia Tech
4. Army
5. California
6. Notre Dame
7. Tulane
8. Baylor
9. Ole Miss
10. Northwestern

In the prediction side of football last week, Williamson averaged 82.4 correct.

His predictions this week rate Texas over SMU, Baylor over TCU, Texas Tech over Rice, and Arkansas over A&M. Some others include Georgia over Alabama and Michigan over Illinois.

Johnson County Slates Barbecue

Students from Big "C" and all other metropolises of Johnson County will feed and frolic at one of the annual J. C. affairs, Kur Hemrick, social chairman, announced today.

All Johnson County students their wives, and girl friends are urged to attend, Hemrick said. The big spree is to take place at Hensel Park, Unit 3, on Saturday, October 30, 1948.

The food will be served at 6 p.m. Premises of a cheap but highly enjoyable evening await those who are fortunate enough to be able to attend, the social chairman concluded.

TCU is the only Texas A&M football opponent to hold both Bob Goode and Charley Royalty scoreless. Goode tallied against Oklahoma, Texas Tech and LSU. Royalty scored against Villanova and Oklahoma.

man, and Randy Clay.

Actually, Saturday will be the first time in years that a University of Texas team will enter a game as an underdog. And besides the incentive for last year's defeat the Longhorns have a three-year-old home field victory string of 16 straight games to protect.

The game has been sold-out for weeks. There have been 66,000 tickets sold, meaning that close to 68,000 will watch the game, some 20,000 more than the old record for a Conference game, set for the Texas-Rice meeting here a year ago.

Texas and Ponies To Meet Saturday Before 68,000

AUSTIN, (Sp)—It's the University of Texas and SMU here next Saturday afternoon in "the" game of the 1948 Southwest Conference season.

Appropriately, the biggest crowd ever to see a Conference game—over 67,000—will see the meeting, and it's packed with more attractions than a side-show.

Most important of all, it is the game marred for months as the "best" in deciding the championship. The Longhorns are recognized the best chance to defeat the Mustangs' dynamite-laden offense and they have waited a year for the opportunity, ever since a heartbreaking one-point loss to the Ponies on a gray day last November.

That loss was the only blot on Texas' fine season. It is no secret that the Longhorns have pointed all season to erase it, and pre-conference disappointments have heightened its importance in Coach Blair Cherry's plans.

From a standpoint of tradition, this game will decide the all-time Texas and SMU standing, for it stands at 12-all now, with three ties, since the series began in 1916. With only 27 games played, it is the youngest in point of games played by Texas against Conference opponents, but is the most unusual in point of winning streaks. For instance, SMU whipped the Steers six straight times, from 1934 through 1940. Then the Longhorns turned and won six in a row themselves, until last year's loss.

There's a rivalry, too, between Texas' Cherry, and SMU's Matty Bell, who coached Cherry at TCU in the twenties. Bell is an exponent of the single-wing style, and has All-America Donk Walker to make it go. And Bell, a defense specialist, is noted for slowing the T-formation.

Offensively, the Ponies also have Gil Johnson, a fine passer, whose forwards turned the trick a year ago.

Against this lineup, Texas will throw Paul Campbell's ball-handling off the Texas T, and the runs of Billy Pyle, Byron Gillory, Perry Samuels, Tom Landry, Ray Borne-

Lindy Berry Has Figured in 183 Plays in 6 Games

FORT WORTH, Oct. 27—(AP)—All Lindy Berry knows about this free substitution rule business is what he reads in the papers. He is only casually acquainted with the bench. He knows there is one because the coaches have to have a place to sit.

Lindy is the tough little quarterback of the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs. He's also about the busiest guy in football. It isn't true that he sweeps out the stadium offices.

Berry in six games has figured in 183 plays, which is one more than half his team's total.

Yes, all the Horned Frogs have been in 365 plays.

Berry has averaged more than 50 minutes per game. He's not one of those fellows who goes in where there's a pass to be thrown or the ball to be carried. He's also in there when the Frogs go on defense.

Lindy has carried the ball 111 times and he has gained 459 yards. That's more than half the TCU rushing yardage which totals 905. He has thrown 72 passes and completed 35 for 408 yards. The team's record is 93 passes with 44 completions for 540 yards.

In fact, Berry personally has gained more than two-thirds of a mile. In addition to his passing and running, he has returned eight kickoffs 222 yards and 12 punts 93 yards. That totals 1,182 yards. He would have done better except that the opposition quit kicking to him.

The 170 pound Berry is rated by Coach Leo Meyer as one of the best running backs in Texas Christian University football history.

He also is an excellent passer, although Meyer wouldn't rat him out to a couple of illustrious Frog pitchers of the past—Sam Baugh and Davey O'Brien.

Lindy thrives on work. Besides he gets to rest between halves doesn't he?

CAPTAIN THERON ROBERTS is one of Arkansas' top linemen and is used to open up holes for Scott. Roberts plays leftguard and weighs 205 lbs., and is a senior. He is a three-year letterman.

Jim Peebles, Washington Redskins' veteran end, still carries shrapnel in his leg, and hip from his days as an infantryman in Europe.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The size of a race track does not necessarily dictate the length of its home stretch. Aqueduct, which has the longest stretch in the country—1,520 feet from final turn to finish—is a one-mile oval. Atlantic City, an oval of one mile-and-eight, has a stretch measuring 660 feet, while Bel Air, a 3/4 mile track, has a 1,037 foot home stretch, which is but 110 feet short of the stretch at Belmont Park, which is a mile-and-a-half around.
