

Texas Stockman Cheered as Hero

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 (AP)—Ten thousand persons stood and cheered a 48-year-old Texas stockman last night for his heroic role in an unscheduled event at the horse show at the International Live-stock Exposition.

A few minutes before the crowd gave an ovation to Lloyd Jinkens of Fort Worth, Tex., an 800-pound steer leaped a 50-foot fence into the massed spectators at the show.

There were screams of terror from among the crowd. Jinkens, cattle breeder and quarter horse exhibitor, spurred his horse to the fence, cleared it with a leap from the saddle, bull-dogged the animal and led it back into the arena.

Police Capt. Frank Reynolds said that Jinkens' action was the most heroic he ever had seen. He said that the steer running amuck among the huge crowd might have trampled many.

Jinkens was aboard his horse awaiting his turn for an exhibition of how a cowboy and a quarter horse "cuts out" a steer, when Jack Hart of Marshall, Texas made a pass at the steer.

The steer shied, ran for the fence and cleared it as a bound, into the space between the wall and the stands where spectators crowd to watch the exhibitions.

Jinkens sized up the situation immediately. He reared his horse to the wall and he leaped from the saddle over the wall and onto the steer. He thrust his fingers into the animal's eyes, hung around its neck and brought it to its knees.

"Then I crashed it into the fence a couple of times to stun it," Jinkens said, "and guided it through a near-by gate into the show ring."

Asked if he was frightened, Jinkens said: "I've been around cattle and TEEN AGE HEIRESS MARRIES 'JUNEBUG' BENNETTVILLE, S. C., Dec. 1 (AP)—A teen age multi-million dollars heiress once known as the "richest baby in the world" and her childhood sweetheart, nicknamed "Junebug," honeymooned today.

horses all my life. I knew I had to do something or be a heel all my life. I wasn't scared because I've been in a lot tougher spots—down under a Brahma bull, for instance, with nowhere to roll. But any real cowboy would have done the same."

Nurses Needed To Serve With Armed Forces

The Army and the Air Force needs 3,800 nurses in military hospitals, according to Colonel Oscar E. Abbott, Senior Army Instructor for the Texas Organized Reserves.

The need for nurses has arisen because of the recent passage of the Selective Service Act, Abbott said.

Any professional nurse wishing to join the Army Nurse Corps will be required to serve at least a one year tour of duty.

Nurses may request an extension of their time of service within the last six months of their tour of duty, but they can not reduce the time. Resignations are accepted however, for justifiable reasons.

Commissions will be granted up to the rank of captain, depending upon the individual nurses qualifications.

A ten day refresher course will be given at the Air Evacuation School, Randolph Field, January 16-28 for graduate registered nurses under 35 who have had the flight nurse course. Applicants for this course will be limited to members of the Army Nurse Corps Reserve.

Purpose of the refresher course is to acquaint nurses with new developments in the duties of flight nurses on air evacuation. Accepted applicants will be ordered to active duty for the ten day period with full pay and allowances.

BIDS BEING TAKEN FOR VET HOSPITAL TULSA, Okla., Dec. 1 (AP)—The U. S. Engineers are taking bids for construction of a veterans administration hospital at Bonham, Texas.

'A&M Started This,' SMU Fan Comments After Tie With TCU

By CHARLES KIRKHAM

Peruna stamped impatiently as the SMU team came from the huddle up to the ball on their own one yard line.

In the stands 67,000 people quieted expecting something to happen. The Cotton Bowl time clock showed one minute and forty-one seconds left in the game. In the press box reporters collected notes and camera men were packing to go home.

All afternoon SMU's great backs had been bottled up and the TCU line had opened holes that Stout and Berry could have found blindfolded.

Usually aerial TCU had attempted only three passes in the game while usually terrestrial SMU desperately relied on Gil Johnson's arm to heave them out of the hole. So far a few of his passes had connected; the majority, too long.

Johnson's first pass to Walker was knocked down. Johnson hit Milam on the SMU 19. Johnson, finding no pass receiver, ran out of bounds on the 41. The clock stopped on 31 seconds.

Another wild Johnson pass, and a few people started moving toward the exit ramps. Johnson then tossed to McKissack who was downed on the TCU 36. A quick huddle, 17 seconds to go, and Johnson found Milam open on about the Frog five. Milam had only to turn around and take a couple of steps to pay dirt.

Doak Walker, who had looked like an average back all afternoon, kicked the extra point.

Mustang fans went berserk while Frog fans gritted their teeth remembering last year's game when another outplayed SMU team lucked out with a last minute touchdown to gain a 19-19 tie. The SMU yell leaders turned flips before frenzied student fans. And Peruna reared on her hind feet and charged her trainer.

That was the ball game, the closing seconds saw a short kick returned to the TCU forty and the clock ran out.

As the Cotton Bowl emptied, a thousand people gathered around the SMU band as they swung into "The St. Louis Blues March." Joe Patterson, SMU Student Body President, commented, mopping his flushed face, "It was A&M who started this. I can't stand many more."

Bill Polasek, A Senior Company, said, "Only one play, just one saved SMU. Otherwise, TCU rolled over them."

The lines have been drawn and next year's TCU-SMU game at Fort Worth might eclipse our Turkey Day Contest on Kyle Field.
