

A&M Pistol Team Wins Three Out of Four Reported Matches

A&M's Pistol Team has won three out of four reported matches which were fired during the week ending January 15, Colonel Frank R. Swoger, announced today.

Actually five matches were held during the week but the results of only four are known. The men from A&M fired a total score of 1303 compared to a score of 1284 for Colorado A&M, 1248 for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1168 for the U. S. Merchant Marines at Kings Point, New York, and 1400 for the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. The results of the match with the U. S. Coast Guard have not been reported.

Individual scores for the A&M pistol team were 283 for John B. Alto, 272 for C. P. Suderman, 272 for D. T. Gentry, 270 for P. G. Silher, and 266 for E. F. Smith. The score of 1363 represents the highest that the pistol team at A&M has made this year.

Alto's score of 283 tied the national intercollegiate championship score of last year. There are no matches scheduled for the week ending January 22 or 29. The next match will be held during the week ending February 5. At this time contests will be held with the University of Washington, Michigan State College, and Lawrence Tech.

The pistol firing matches are carried on by means of postal exchange. The team does not travel to these different schools and academies. Instead each team fires on its own range and the results of the five men having the highest number of points for the week are then sent to the institution with which the contest is being held.

A&M's lost and won column shows twelve marks in the won column compared to three in the lost. Of the three lost, one was actually tied until the score of the sixth man was considered. The having alert representatives, its advice is just as applicable to the individual who wants to succeed in business and social circles.

For the benefit of the more practical, or financial, minded readers I have tried to show the good to be derived from golf in the physical and business senses. But one should consider, too, the sportive value of golf.

Although golf may not hold the attraction which football or basketball does, for the youth who is still full of energy and spirit, it is not to be looked down on as a sport. Competition in golf is twofold; the player must beat his physical opponent as well as 'ol man par.'

Gives Self-Control
The self-control which one can gain from pounding the pellet is limited only by individual effort toward this end. After the little grass-stained sphere has strayed far from the direction the player intended for it to follow, even the coolest head may reach the boiling point from the flow of blood in protest of such behavior.

The man who can be twisted by such conflicting forces as "par" a competitor, attempts at self-control, and sundry items like heat, rain, and the rougher parts of the course's layout and emerge unbeaten has accomplished something remarkable.

But even with the elements and mankind arrayed against the golfer, almost everyone who has played the game enjoys it. If enjoyment can grow in such surroundings, even the uninitiated should be won

Henninger Elected Society President

Carl F. Henninger, senior horticulture student, from Raymondville, was elected president of the Horticultural Society for the coming semester.

Henninger replaces Alton Bailey, Detroit, Texas, who graduated. At the meeting held Tuesday night, other officers were elected to replace graduating seniors.

Oscar S. Gray, Jr., Arlington, was elected secretary. Bill Pressler of Brownsville, senior, was elected Agricultural Council Representative.

Experiment Station Receives Fertilizer

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has received a gift of nitrogen fertilizer valued at $90 for use in turf research from the Lion Oil & Chemical Co. of Eldorado, Arkansas.

The Texas Toro Co. of Fort Worth has donated equipment worth $55 for the same project.

The turf project, conducted in cooperation with the Texas Turf Association, has been made possible by such grants-in-aid, according to Dr. D. R. Lewis, director of the Experiment Station.

over to the recreational stature of the game.

So try golf. You'll probably find you can't or don't want to get along without the game after you have been exposed to it.

Classes to Start In Square Dancing

New square dancing classes for adults, under the sponsorship of the College Station Recreation Council, will get underway at 7 p. m. Monday in St. Thomas Parish House, Mrs. R. B. Hickerson has announced.

Hour-long lessons will be given each Monday night for the next 6 weeks, Mrs. Hickerson said. She is chairman of this phase of the Recreation Council Program.

Adult classes had originally been scheduled to start Jan. 17 but were postponed due to inclement weather.

Square dance instruction will be given by Lee Thompson, Mrs. Hickerson said.
