

FOUR LOCAL BUSINESSMEN—(l. to r.) Burke Campbell of The Collegiate Shop, Pete Palasota of the Fabric Shoppe, Bob Braley of Beverly Braley's and Roy Stone of WSD Clothiers—discuss plans for a style show to be held in conjunction with the Bob Hope Show on Kyle Field. Each of the businesses represented by these men will have two models to display clothes from its shops in the show.

Les Brown will be handling all musical arrangements for tonight's show. Another member of Hope's NBC cast, Brown started on his musical career when he organized his first band at Duke University.

The composer of "Sentimental Journey," he has sold over a million of his recordings of the song to date. He hails from Beasonton, Pa.

Fun from the female side will be provided by Irene Ryan, who acts as Doris Day's hypochondriacal vocal coach for the show. A veteran of 20 years in show business, she has been with it since she was 13 and now holds a permanent berth on Bob's Tuesday night offerings.

Hy Averback, aside from his announcing chores on the Swan Soap Show, plays chief foil to his sharp-witted boss and will be on hand for the local festivities. He gained international fame as the GI's Tokyo Mose' during the war.

Youngest member of tonight's troupe will be 19 year old baritone Billy Farrell, another Hope regular. Discovered by Hope in Buffalo, Billy is a native of Cleveland.

Rounding out the cast for the Kyle Field show will be The Titans a tumbling duo who made quite a hit with Hope on his recent cross-country tour.

Tonight will mark the third day of the flying funsters' proposed 15 day jaunt which will take in 21 cities and call for 25 performances.

Tickets for the show are on sale at the ticket booth at Kyle Field, at WSD Clothiers in Bryan, and at the Annex Student Center.

Prices for the tickets are $3.60 and $2.40 for reserved seats and $1.20 for general admission. Tickets will be on sale until time of the performance.

If weather necessitates giving two shows in DeWare Field House, seating arrangements will be announced before the performances.

"Where can I get a job with a chance to get ahead?"

MANY a young man, looking forward to graduation, is asking that question. He wants a job that will allow him to make full use of his abilities. He wants an opportunity to advance to higher responsibilities—to win the success he wants in the business world.

Here at Harvester we are sympathetic to ambitions like these. Any young man taking a job at Harvester can rise as far as his knowledge and abilities will take him. We believe in keeping the door of opportunity open for all.

Our company follows the policy of promoting men from within our own ranks—both as an inducement to good men to stay with us, and as a reward for outstanding performance.

You need only to glance at the records of the men in our top management group to see how this policy has worked:

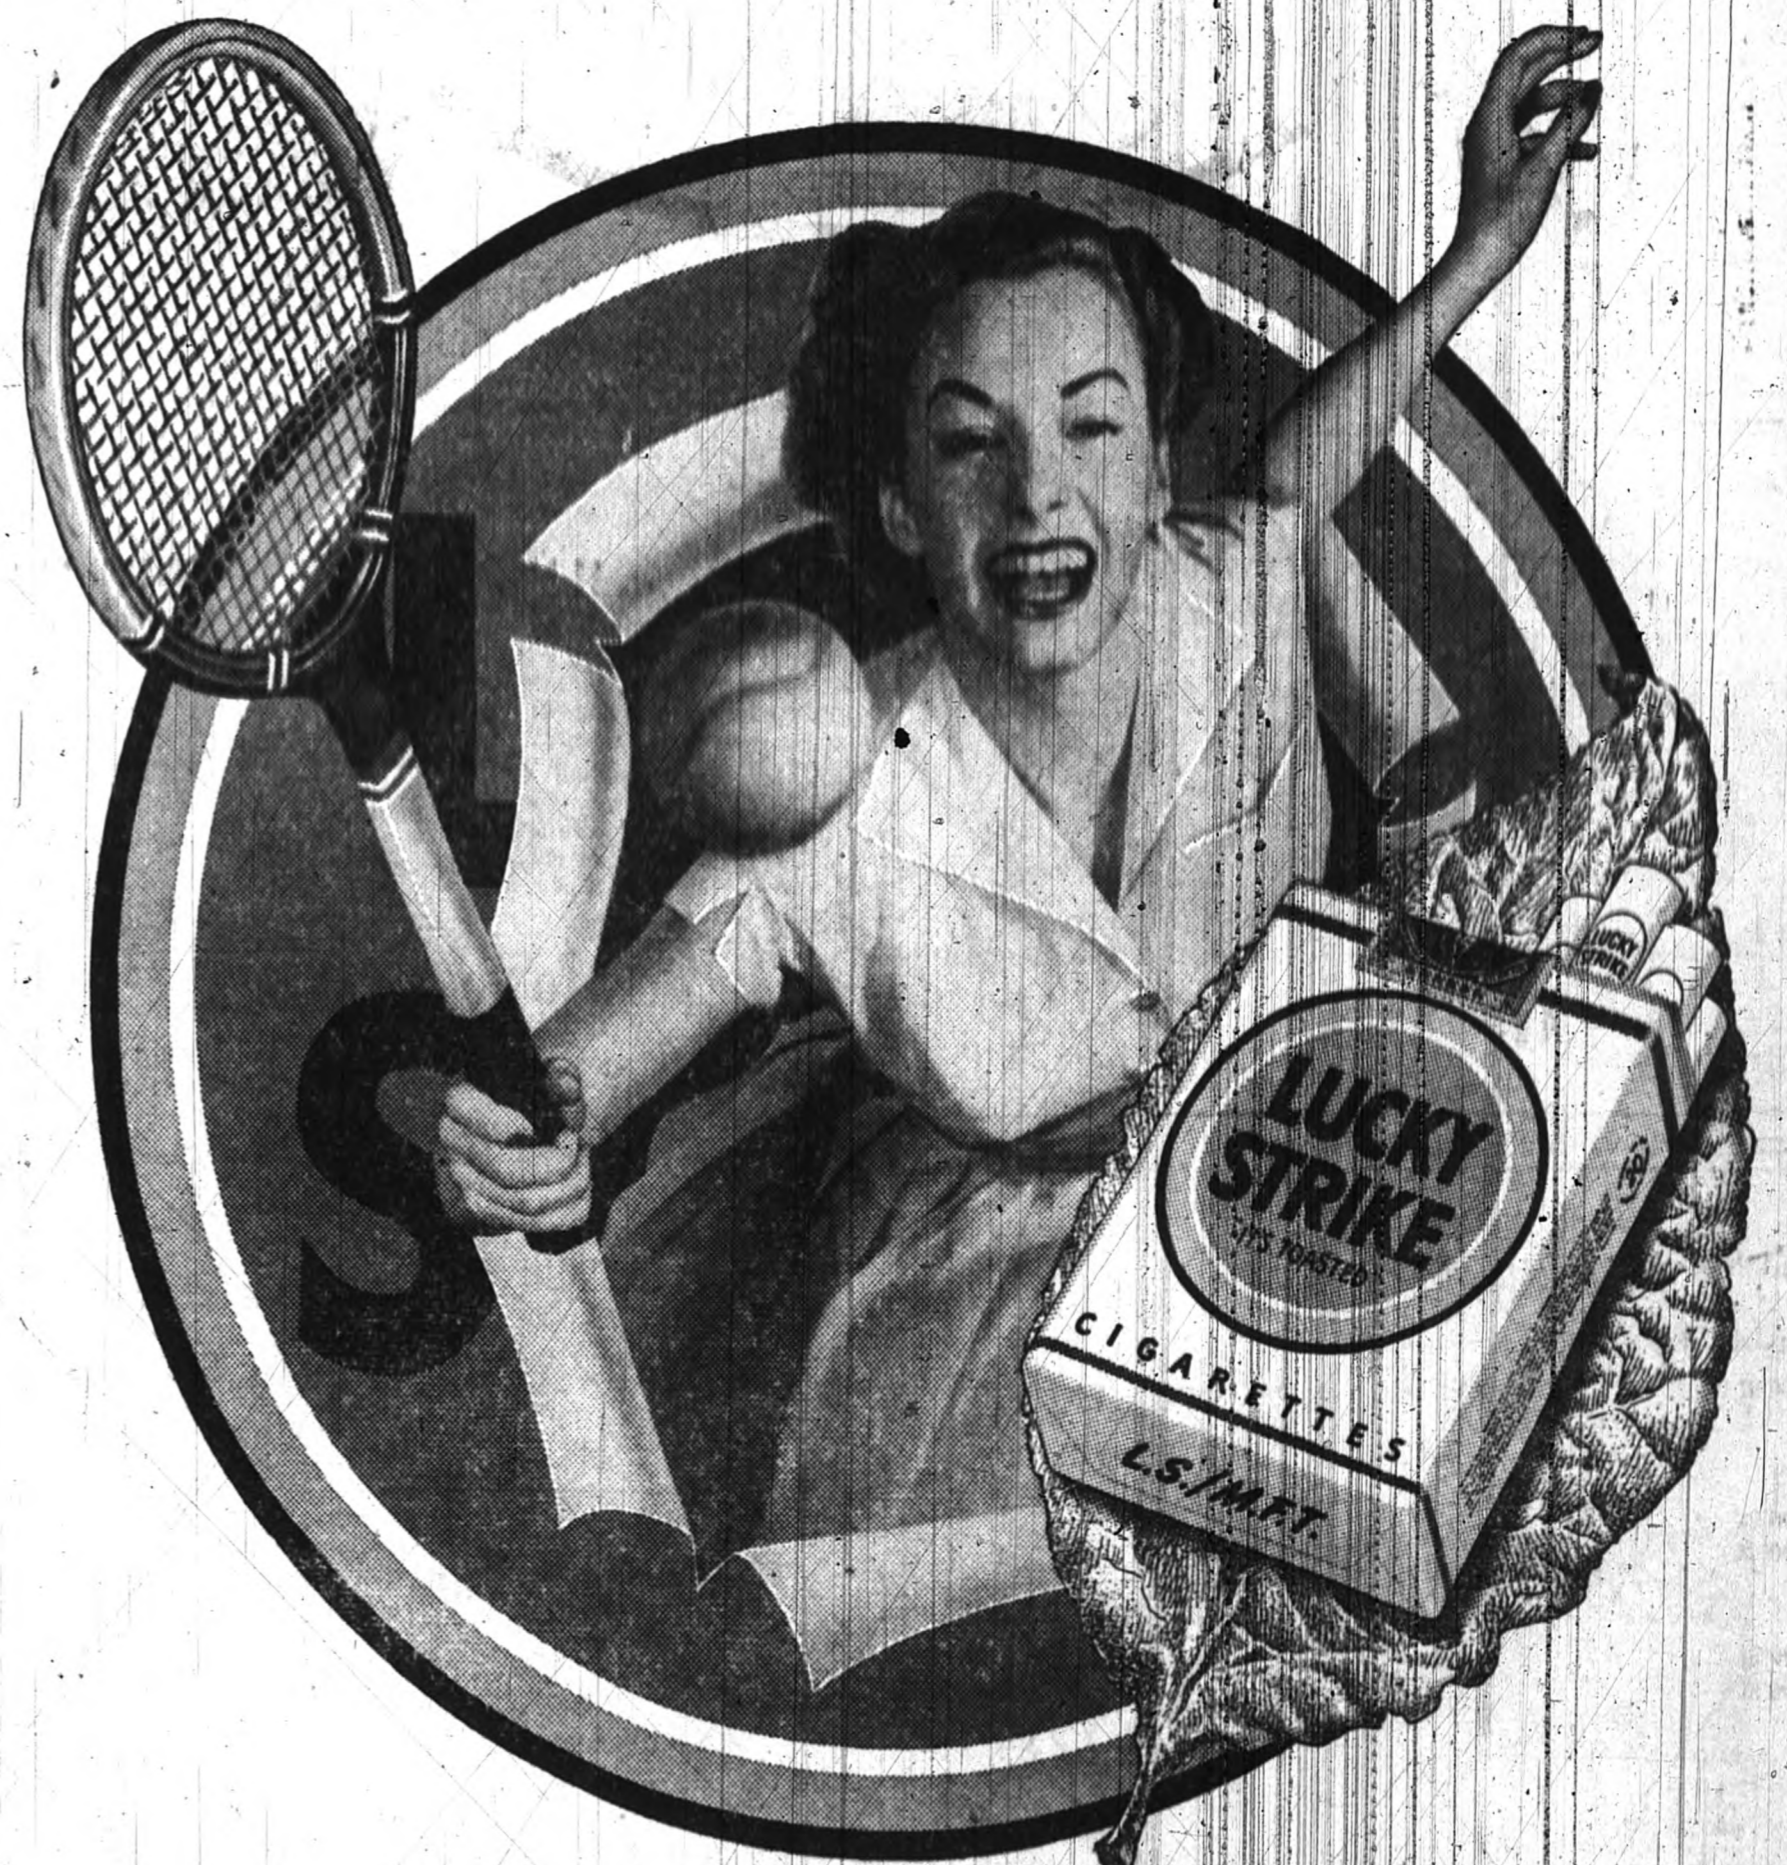

Of our 15 executive officers, six started in our sales operations—as warehouse clerk, salesman, service man, clerk and two as parts department helpers.

Four others started in the head office, as industrial relations man, accountant, clerk and office boy.

Three were professional men—a lawyer, an engineer, and the third who had had a distinguished career outside the industrial field.

Two began in our factories—as student employe and clerk.

So you can see how this policy of promotion from within has worked out today for these executive officers. In earning their present positions they have had an average of 28 years of service with the Company. The path these men followed to their present positions is open tomorrow to others. Every young man who joins our organization can be sure he can go as far as his capabilities will take him.
