Colors Aid Morale In IE Department

By GEORGE CHARLTON

The "boys" down at the fast-growing Industrial Education Department can easily brag. Their department has one of the most complete sets of facilities on the campus.

Created shortly after the passage of the Smith-Hughes Act in the early 'twenties, the Industrial Education Department now has access to specialists, shops, laboratories, and library; it will probably be expanded appreciably within a short time due to a definite building program.

Offices, library, and student reading center of the department are located in the mechanical engineering shops building. Drafting rooms, industrial shops and laboratories, projection and lecture rooms, and the mechanical engineering shops also serve as instructional centers.

The latest in modern equipment is used in all shops and laboratories. Maintained and operated by the department exclusively for the use of its students, the general industrial laboratory is arranged to accommodate instruction in courses of woodworking, sheet metal, ornamental iron, electricity, advanced metalwork, and general shop work. Balcony space in the laboratory is allotted for teaching handcrafts of bookbinding, plastics, leather, and art metal.

Classed in cases on the second floor of the mechanical engineering shops building exhibit intricately designed products made by various I. E. students. Metal bookends, paper weights, knives, and clock faces are displayed. Wooden book shelves, "what-not" shelves, and picture frames are also arranged on exhibit. The case displays candle holders, jewelry, cigarette boxes, mirror stands, and ash trays. Copper jewelry, lamps, and flower bowls are exhibited.

Students working in various drafting rooms, shops, and laboratories of the department and cooperating departments may observe industrial types of buildings with respect to floors, lights, heat, ventilation, and tool storage arrangement. Interior painting of the departmental rooms conform to scientific data recently developed by leading paint companies. The color scheme is known as the "dynamic color scheme."

Chris Groneman, head of the department, says that the general appearance of the department's facilities is particularly attractive to students, instructors, and visitors, and has increased the general morale of all who study and work in the surroundings.

Unusual Features In Latest Webster

A new edition of Webster's latest Collegiate Dictionary, containing more than 125,000 entries, will go on sale the latter part of April. It includes scores of new illustrations and terms as well as an entirely new list of abbreviations including federal agencies, labor organizations, United Nations committees and war terms.

Unique features of the new dictionary include an expanded and re-edited biographical section of more than 5,000 entries, a listing of more than 10,000 names in the pronouncing gazetteer, and a list of over 1,000 colleges and universities.

The resources of more than a century of dictionary making have gone into the creation of this desk size book. A critic's comment on the new book was "It isn't long on plot, but the author certainly had a wonderful vocabulary."

The gift is from Carl Felton and his wife of Madison, Wisconsin.

Red Armies Head Toward Sea; Hope to Trap Nationalists

BY FRED HAMPSON

SHANGHAI, April 25 (AP)—Red armies aimed a lightning blow toward the sea at Hangchow today hoping to trap 300,000 Nationalist troops below Shanghai.

Other Communist forces, which took Nanking yesterday without effort, were reported just 19 miles from Shanghai. Residents of this, the world's fourth largest city, waited in a steady rain for the Reds. But none had showed up at dusk.

Shanghai seemingly was being bypassed. But none could say for sure. Even military spokesmen admitted they did not know just where the Red armies were.

The feeling grew among Shanghai's 5,000,000 inhabitants that the great Asiatic commercial center would go over to the Communists without a fight, just as Nanking did Sunday morning.

Seymour Topping, Associated Press correspondent in Nanking, reported the former Nationalist capital received the Communists quietly at 3:20 a.m. Sunday, Nanking time. One of the Communist soldiers' first tasks was to put out a fire that vandals had started in the Judicial Yuan building; The building was a total loss.

The Communists took their stations before some foreign embassies and all government buildings and utilities in Nanking. No guards were placed before the American embassy, however.

At the same time Nanking fell, the Communist radio at Peiping announced the capture of Taiyuan, Shansi province capital and industrial center 600 miles northwest of Nanking.

The speed of the Red drive southward from the Yangtze apparently had thrown a noose around the government defenders. How close the Communists were to Hangchow, big port 300 miles southwest of Shanghai, was obscured by conflicting reports and lack of accurate military information.

MISS CHERRY CLARY of Houston has been selected to represent the Coryell County Club as its duchess at the Cotton Pageant, Friday night. She will be escorted by Jim Voss of Gatesville.

Ex-Convict Slates Lecture in YMCA

Bill Mills, reformed ex-convict, will speak to the YMCA Cabinet Monday, April 25, at 7:15 p. m. in the YMCA Chapel. His topic will be "Prevention of Adult and Juvenile Delinquency."

Mills spent 25 years in prison after conviction of 32 crimes in Oklahoma and Texas. He will discuss how convicts are treated in reform schools and prisons and demonstrate some of the devices used by prison guards.

On sale at the lecture will be copies of Mills' book, "Twenty-five Years Behind Prison Walls." This is a book he wrote on his life as a criminal.

Collegiate FFA To Hold Barbecue

The Collegiate F.F.A. Chapter will sponsor a stag barbecue tonight at Hensel Park, according to J. D. Loye, entertainment committee chairman.

The barbecue will start at 5:30. All members of the F.F.A. chapter are eligible to attend and will be charged a fee of $1 per person, Loye said. Any member who wishes to attend should contact one of the men on the entertainment committee by Monday.

The menu will consist of barbecue beef, soft drinks, potatoes salad and beans.
