A New Fanny Blankers-Koen May Run For Dutch In 1952

AP Newsfeature
NEW YORK—Track tip for women athletes:
Holland may have another Fanny Blankers-Koen to sweep through the gal track and field events at the 1952 Olympic Games.
The original Fanny, who won four gold medals in the 1948 carnival, will be gone by then, but her fabulous feats have stirred interest in women's track in The Netherlands and already some girls are rising to take her place.
John Blankers, her husband, coach who also is the mentor of the track squad of Holland, says his country has several prospects who may be able to run as fast as Fanny.
"I'm not sure they won't be, though of course they won't have the all-around ability she has."
Blankers is not idly prejudiced in favor of his wife's versatility. She won both the 100 and 200 meter races at London, the 80 meter hurdles and anchored the winning relay team. She also holds the world's women records for the high jump and the broad jump.
Such an athlete probably won't be seen soon again, unless one of Fanny's two children should carry on. They have the breeding as the horsemen say—Blankers was a champion hopscop and jumper and competed in the 1928 Olympic Games in that event.
Fanny's own career is about to end. "I want to quit at my peak," she says. "Besides there are other things in life besides track." She probably will compete in the Dutch championships next year and then call it a career. She already has quit competing in the high and broad jumps because her busy home-making schedule leaves her little time to practice.

When in Amsterdam she practices running about three times a week. She and her husband travel to an arena about 10 minutes from their home, where many of the Dutch athletes train. There, while the children—the boy is seven and the girl is three—play on the grass or in the sand pile, Mrs. Blankers trots around the track.
A practice session takes about an hour. Fanny jogs a mile or so,

Mrs. Blankers-Koen in action tries stretching exercises, then strides through 100 yards a few times. After a few practice starts she turns on the steam for a couple of laps and then walks to cool off.

Except for the fact that she can run faster than any woman in the world, Mrs. Blankers is little different from any other Dutch housewife. In Los Angeles, for example, she practically exhausted the Blankers bankroll in the clothing stores. Textiles are scarce in Holland.
"I couldn't get her away from the shop windows," says her husband, in the usual manner.
Fanny runs because she likes to run. "It's not work for me, it's

NCAA Prelims Start Today; Four Ag Trackmen Entered

St. Louis U. On Aggies' 1949 Cage Schedule

One half of Texas A&M's non-conference basketball schedule for the 1949-50 season has been completed, and it's plain to see that the Aggies are more interested in getting tough games under their belts than in shooting for a series of victories over mediocre opposition.
St. Louis U. and Oklahoma A&M defensive wizards, perennial powers of the mid-west, fast-moving Long Island University, one of the best outfits in the east, and Arizona University, Border Conference champion for several years, all appear on the Aggie slate.
The Aggies play L.I.U. in Madison Square Garden on Dec. 1, shuffle over to Buffalo, N.Y. for a Dec. 3 date with Niagara University; meet St. Louis U. in St. Louis on Dec. 6 and take on Okla. A&M at Stillwater, Dec. 7.
Texas A&M and the University of Texas engage Arizona U. and Trinity University of the Gulf Coast Conference in a pair of double-headers in San Antonio's new fieldhouse on Dec. 16-17.

Today, the preliminaries begin in the National Collegiate Athletic Association, track and field meet being held in Memorial Coliseum at Los Angeles, California. Upwards of 300 athletes representing some 75 universities and colleges are due to compete in this championship meet.
The two day tournament starts with qualifying trials in 10 events today and winds up Saturday night with the championship finals in 14 events. Competition will be held each afternoon.
The Trojans from Southern California are heavy favorites to take the team championship and give U.S.C. its 13th team title since the NCAA inaugurated this event in 1921.
Four Aggies
Four Aggie stars will be among the entries from the Southwest Conference at Los Angeles for the meet. J. D. Hampton, star Aggie miler will run the mile and maybe the two mile event. Hampton was undefeated in conference competition this spring in these two races, and he set a new record at the conference meet in both. Ray Holbrook will enter the 440-yard run for the Maroon and White against some of the toughest competition in the country. Holbrook will be facing such stars as Mal Whitfield of Ohio State, Frank Fox of Seton Hall, and Joe Nebolon of Washington State. Whitfield is also the 880 defending NCAA champion.

Bob Hall, the new Southwest Conference low hurdles champion, will enter this event for the Aggies. Hall broke the old conference record in the 22-yard hurdles this spring and has shown great improvement with each performance.
Big George
Big George Kadera will toss the weights for the Aggies. Kadera is the title holder of both the shot and discus throws in the Southwest Conference at present, but he will really have to toss the weights when he goes up against Fortune Gordien and Byrl Thompson of the Minnesota Gophers.
Mel Patton of Southern California is the main reason that the Trojans are such heavy favorites in this meet. Patton holds the world record for the century with a fast time of 9.9 seconds. He also is an applicant for the world's 200-yard record in which he has posted a time of 30.2 seconds.

Walton, Milner, Mitchel Win

In the intramural softball league Thursday, three games were played.
Jig Tittle pitched good ball for four innings to beat Law Hall, 8-0. Not a single man reached first base and the longest hit ball was a pop fly to left field. Tittle was aided by errorless playing on the part of his Walton Hall teammates. He struck out five hitters in the four inning game.
Harold Dube of Walton was the leading batter of the game, getting a triple and a single out of three times at bat.
The losing pitcher was Gonzales.
Score by innings:

Walton	222	2-8	6 0
Law	000	0-0	0 3

Mitchell beat Hart 3-0 behind the three hit shut-out pitching of Pace. He had eight strike outs to his credit. Crow was the losing pitcher, also with eight strike outs to his credit, but he allowed four costly hits.
Leading hitter of the game was Fulbright of Mitchell. He collected two hits out of three times at the plate.
Score by innings:

Mitchell	100	200	0-3 4 3
Hart	000	000	0-0 3 1

The Milner Tigers romped over the boys from the Trailer Area 4-1 yesterday behind the two-hit pitching of Dave Martin. He had seven strike outs to his credit and came through with outstanding pitching when it counted.
The losing pitcher, Gene Selle, pitched good ball but allowed two costly hits. The leading batter was Don Joseph. He walked his first time up then hit a double scoring Jim Sullivan from second. Newt Butts then scored Joseph with a drive through shortstop.
Score by innings:

Milner	001	021	0-2 4 4
TCVV	100	000	0-2 1 4

Softball has gotten off to a weak start in the College View League. D-Odd has taken two games in a row by the forfeit route, the first from A-Even and the second from C-O.

LOOKIN' AT SPORTS

There will never be another Charley Moran. "Uncle Charley" died Tuesday at his home in Horse Cave, Kentucky.

He will be remembered long for his devoted work, straight talking, and fine coaching that he did while leading the Aggie football teams to 38 victories against only 8 losses and three ties during his six-year coaching span at Texas A&M. He coached the Aggie eleven from 1909 through 1914. In 1912, his Aggies rolled up 193 points before the opposition scored a point.

Moran began his coaching career at Dallas when he took over the professional football team in that city in 1902. He came to A&M in 1909 as head coach. During his first season at A&M, his Aggies played Texas twice, winning the first game, 23-0 and the second one, 5-0. His team won three and lost one against Texas.

Even the great Knute Rockne never used half-time dressing room oratory which proved more effective than that used by "Uncle Charley" Moran. In 1914 when the Aggies met LSU in an inter-sectional game at Dallas, LSU led at half-time, 9-0. Moran gave the Aggies a pretty good going over at half-time. The final score was Texas A&M 63, LSU 9.

Some sources in College Station believe that it was Moran who started the ground-work for what is now Kyle Field. Back when Moran was coaching at Texas A&M, the Aggies played on a vacant lot where Puryear Hall now stands. There were no seats—people just ran up and down the sidelines.

Sometime between 1909 and 1914, Moran, with the help of students, built a small section of wooden bleacher seats where Kyle Field now stands. There was room for perhaps 250 people to sit down and view the game. That has grown into what is now Kyle Field.

Moran never lost his love for Texas A&M. In an interview with a southern sports writer last December, Moran was quoted as saying: "I've always had a soft spot in my heart for the Texas Aggies. Only a couple of weeks ago you will recall the Aggies surprised everybody by tying Texas, 14-14. I wrote a letter to their new coach (Harry Stitler). I just wanted to congratulate him."

Coach Stitler cherishes the letter more than ever now that "Uncle Charley" has passed on.
Moran retired in 1939 as umpire of the National Baseball League in which he had made decisions for a number of years after giving up the coaching business.

We hear that Kenneth Shobe was the only prospective gridman to leave school at the end of this last semester due to grade troubles.
This does not come as a surprise to many people because he had been having trouble with his grades most of last semester.

Bud Wilkinson, the young Oklahoma University mentor, was a visitor to the A&M campus yesterday. He stopped for a talk with A&M's Athletic Director, Bill Carmichael, about the present Oklahoma-A&M football series and a possible continuation when the contract expires after three more seasons.

According to Bill Van Fleet of the Fort Worth Star Telegram, an announcement can be expected any day now that Darrow Hooper, the North Side High graduate of that city, has picked A&M as the school of his choice.
Hooper will add an automatic ten points in track to the school of his choice. Hooper proved that by throwing the college class 16 pound shot put over 47 feet in the AAU meet in San Antonio last week.

Ag Fish Football Slate Complete

Allen Academy of Bryan and the freshman teams of Baylor, TCU, Rice and Texas will be encountered this fall by Texas A&M's frosh football team.
Allen, the Baylor Cubs and TCU Wogs will be met under the Kyle Field axis. The A&M and Texas first-year clubs will clash in Austin on the Saturday before Thanksgiving (Nov. 19).
Dates for all other games will be announced later. Barlow (Bones) Irvin will coach Texas A&M's freshman team this fall.

BOB HALL will be representing A&M today in the preliminaries of the NCAA meet being held in Los Angeles. He will be running in the 220-yard low hurdles when he takes to the cinders.

Puryear And T.C.V.V. Win

Puryear Hall continued his winning way Wednesday by blasting Dorn 14 by a score of 10-0 in four innings of play.
Bob Williams hurled two-hit ball for the winners and Gibson who gave up only five hits for the Dorn 14 boys, was the losing pitcher.
DuBois was the slugger for Puryear, as he collected two for two with one of these being a long triple.
T.C.V.V. broke up a tie ball game in the eighth inning, pushing across five runs to beat the Project House team, 10-3. Joe Cullinan, the catcher for T.C.V.V., started off the big eighth inning with a long home run down the left field foul line, and also took top batting honors, hitting safely two out of three times at bat.

Selle was the winning pitcher for Trailer Camp and Bunch was the losing hurler.

Luke Harrison has announced that a meeting of all students interested in playing on the A&M Softball Team this summer will be held on the lighted softball diamond, Monday night at 7:00.
