Murphy Picked Best All-Star Cager by Rupp

By HAROLD RATLIFF
AP Sports Editor

Dallas, Aug. 9 (AP)—This business of putting a team on the spot can react two ways. The coaches think it's all one way—the kiss of death. That is, all except at least one coach we know. He's Don Ezell, who heads the gridiron Fortunes of Childress High School.

Don says the other coaches in his district of Interscholastic League Football put a fast one over on him last year. Anyway, they thought it was a fast one.

"The boys got together for a little chin-fest and since I was the only coach who didn't show up they just decided to vote me the championship favorite's spot," Don said at the Texas Coaching School in Beaumont as we inquired about prospects.

"I didn't have that kind of team but the boys circulated it around that I did and it got into the papers. Well, you know we lost some games and the fans got to riding the team—they said we were losing. You know, it made the boys mad. They said they didn't like being put on the spot like that and they'd just show 'em."

Childress beat Wichita Falls for the first time in a dozen years or so and made a good showing in the district race.

The moral: You coaches mind your own business and don't start trying to put the whammy on an opponent.

Adolph Rupp, the great Kentucky basketball coach who served as an instructor at the coaching school for his third time, surprised us by picking Derrell Murphy of Shallowater as the best player in the all-star cage game.

We had anticipated that he would select Oneal Weaver, the high-scoring center from Martin's Mill. But Rupp, considering the boys as regards college prospects, took Murphy, the hard-fighting youngster from the west.

"Weaver isn't big enough to be a college center," said Rupp. "He'll have plenty of trouble playing against those six-foot-six fellows."

The boys were not as pessimistic as usual at the coaching school this year. Some of them came right out and admitted they figured they would win a game or two.

Watty Myers, the Texarkana Coach, however, spent most of his time trying to get the sports writers not to believe what they were hearing about his team. He said he ought to be co-favorite with Marshall for the district title, not the no. 1 team. And this business of saying he would go to the finals of the state race scared him to death.

We never before saw Watty so cautious.

Myers has done a great job at Texarkana. When he went there they hadn't won a district game—or most any kind of game—in years. Now Texarkana is one of the top-rated outfits of the state.

Watty has a couple of fine backs this season—Norton and Wake—and we wouldn't be surprised to see Texarkana battling for the title come December.

But we don't believe Texarkana will go any further than the finals. Just examine that statement, however. You know, there is nothing higher than the finals.

Trailer Camp Is Dropped By Milner

Milner pushed Trailer Camp from the top three bracket Tuesday with a 3-0 victory.

George Barelay pitched two-hit ball to put the Trailer Camp sluggers down.

Catcher Joe Cullman of Trailer Camp led the hitters in the game when he hit safely two times out of three times at the plate.

Milner had his big inning in the first when Raymond Nutt homered with Bob Fitts on first.

Gene Selle was the losing pitcher allowing five hits.

Fall Grid Notes . . .

Coach Jess Neely To Have A Senior Team In 1949 Owls

By BILL HAILE

This is the Senior's year on the gridiron for the Rice Owls. Rice Institute will be the most heavily laden in senior footballers of any other team in the conference.

When September 1 comes around, Coach Jess Neely will have 20 seniors reporting for duty with the Owls.

With lettermen in every position, the Owls are ready to begin work for what should prove to be the toughest SWC battle in history. Rice's backfield coach, Cecil Grigg, summed it up pretty well this summer when he said, "The fans are going to see a lot of good football—the coaches, a lot of good sleepless nights."

Operating from the man-under slot in Jess Neely's "T" are three fine passers, Tobin Rote (Senior), Vernon Glass, and Harmon Carswell. Rote's poise, experience, and deceptive ball handling plus his defensive ability make him hard to beat as a starter. Glass and Carswell were both All-Staters in High School football.

At left half, Neely expects to get lots of speed from Van Ballard and Sonny Wyatt. Ballard, a senior, has been unfortunate with injuries during his entire play at Rice. However, he looked good in spring training and will be counted on heavily this fall. Wyatt is a starter from last year.

Other left halfback prospects are Teddy Riggs, a sophomore speedster, and Rex Proctor, a fast and shifty junior.

At right half John Kelly and Harold Riley, both seniors, will fight it out for the starting berth. Both are fast, powerful, and good broken-field runners.

There are four men who are developing nicely in this field, according to Grigg. They are Sonny Wyatt, Billy Burkhalter, John Kelly and Rex Proctor.

Line coach Joe Davis has very few worries himself, and the least of these is over his centers. He will have Watson and Weatherly, both seniors, to handle these duties.

These two men are largely responsible for Rice's top defensive record last fall. They are big, fast, rangy, and good on dishing out plays and will give any opponent a rough time.

Weatherly was also selected as

Charles-Lesnevich Title Bout Tonight in NY Begins at 8

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Ezzard Charles, semichampion of all the heavyweights for the last forty-eight days, is in a baleful mood as he goes into his first title defense against Gus Lesnevich Wednesday night at Yankee Stadium.

Normally a quiet, retiring sort of prize fighter, the lean Cincinnati Negro finally cut loose Tuesday and expressed his bitterness at the New York Commission for its refusal to recognize him as the one and only champion.

"I'm the champion in New York, too, no matter what anybody says," Ezzard growled. "I'll take on all comers, but if some people can't make up their minds now, will they ever be able to make them up?"

He obviously was aiming at Col. Eddie Egan, the head man of the New York commission, who claims Wednesday night's bout is only a warmup for a real championship scrap which he, Egan, will invent one of these days.

Adding to Ezzard's sense of outrage, no doubt, is the certainty that he is going to get comparatively little cash money for his six years to a skilled and ambitious opponent, remained the betting underdog at approximately 3 1/2 to 1.

The new and aroused Charles, after expressing his disapproval of the local commission, went on to say that he expects to knock Glas kicking in fewer than six rounds. Glas, resting at his home at Cliffside Park, N. J., said he was confident he could wear Charles down with a concentrated body attack and stop him short of the scheduled fifteen.

The two will meet at Madison Square Garden at noon Wednesday for the official weigh-in.

The bout begins tonight at 8 p. m. (College Station time.)

Patton To Race In Houston Monday Night

Houston Aug. 9 (AP)—The title holder of the world's 100 yard dash record, Mel Patton, will attempt to break his own record here Aug. 15 in the McCarthy Junior Olympics.

Patton accepted the invitation of Glenn McCarthy to race in Rice Stadium the night of Aug. 15.

He will arrive in Houston the latter part of this week and will race against the clock as a highlight of the opening of McCarthy Junior Olympic Week, scheduled for August 15-20.

The famed 1948 Olympics star will run his specialty, the 100-yard dash, in which he holds the world's record time of 9.3 seconds.

His race against time will be the first event of Junior Olympic Week, following the inaugural ceremonies. Top state and county officials have been invited to attend the opening.

An estimated 700 young athletes will parade around the Rice Stadium track and take the famous and traditional Olympic oath, as a group.

The fleet Patton is currently co-holder of the 220-yard dash record, as well as the century mark. Jesse Owens set the longstanding mark of 20.3 for the 220, which Patton recently equalled.
