LUBBOCK, Texas, Sept. 22 (Sp.)—Experience and numbers mark the left halfback position in the Texas Tech Raider football camp.

Back for a fourth letter is Calvin Stevenson, Brownfield, leading ground-gainer for Tech the last two seasons. Walter Maloney, Roscoe, two-letterman at Tech and the 1947 leading scorer of high school football in the nation, and Ike Stuver, Yleta, who came on fast last fall, also are back.

Herman Bailey, Detroit, Texas, star of the 1947 Paris Junior college team, who lettered as a dash man on the Tech track team last spring, went fast and far in spring training and is looking good this fall.

Bobby Close, Shamrock, reliable of the 1948 Red Raider freshman team, looked improved in spring training and is picking up this fall.

Coach Dell Morgan is not much disturbed by his material to use the experience available.

The problem of right halfback is bothering Morgan these days but before the season is too far gone a solution is seen.

Tech lost three right halfbacks from last season and must depend on new men or shifted personnel. Charles Reynolds, Odessa, Red Raider high scorer for two seasons, is gone. Glenn Lewis, Quitaque, co-captain of Tech is with the Green Bay Packers and Bill White, Vernon, did not return to college this fall.

Only Tim Hatch of Wellington is a holdover from the right halfback delegation of 1948. He has shown signs of filling the bill, but replacements must be found.

Coach Morgan is trying Bud Conley, Quanah, and right half Bill Beebe, Littlefield, squadman the past two seasons, is showing vast improvement.

Three lads from the 1948 freshman team may get their chance in games, but all lack experience. These include Hudson, Brawner, Atmore, Alabama, all-stater; Harold Haynes, Roscoe; and Jack Young, Andrews. Brawner underwent a knee operation during the winter.

Mary's little lamb seems to be doing quite a bit better these days. We would like to know to which school he followed these two lovely mistresses and whether it's against the rules for us to go too.

Tom Connally's Son May Get Federal Judgeship in Texas

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—(AP)—Recommendation of men to fill the two newly created South Texas Federal District judgeships appeared today to be likely within the next week.

Nomination by President Truman of Ben Connally, Houston lawyer and son of Senator Connally (D-Tex.), to one of the positions is considered highly likely on Capitol Hill.

Prominently mentioned for the other judgeship are former Texas governor and one-time federal judge James V. Alfred of Houston; Dudley Tarlton and Henri Warren, both of Corpus Christi.

Indicating that some recommendation probably would be made to the Justice Department and the President within a week, Senator Connally (D-Tex.) observed that Senator Johnson (D-Tex.) had only recently returned from Texas. He said they had not had an opportunity to dispose of the matter.

Appointments by the President usually are made on the recommendation of the senators of a state if they belong to the party in control of the White House.

Connally made it clear that he was "keeping hands off" in the consideration of his son for the $15,000-a-year life job. The 39-year-old son of the senator has been highly recommended, however, by attorneys with whom he has been associated in Texas.

One point which is believed to be weighing in favor of Tarlton and Warren is the fact that they are residents of the southern portion of the South Texas Federal District. The law which created the two new judgeships specified that one judge should reside in that section after he takes office.

Tarlton was a supporter of Johnson during the latter's heated fight for election to the Senate, but his age of 65 may be to his disadvantage. Alfred is but 50, although he already has held down a federal judgeship, which he gave up to make an unsuccessful fight for the senate against W. Lee O'Daniel in 1942.

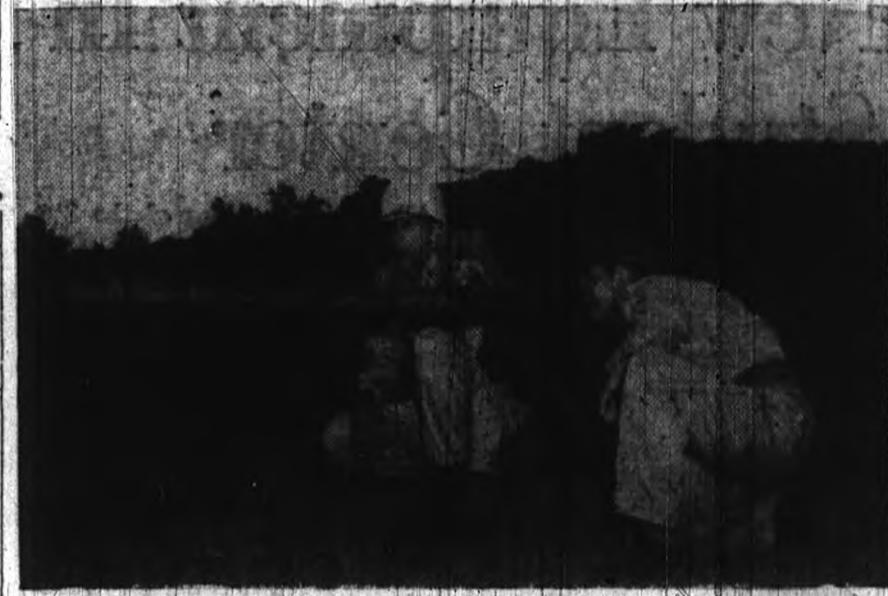

Warren's consideration for the job appears to rest not on any relations with either of the Texas senators, but on the fact that he and President Truman became friends during World War One days in France.

Band Performs In San Antonio For Tech Game

The Texas Aggie band travels to San Antonio this week-end to perform at the Texas Tech football game Saturday night, according to Lt. Col. E. V. Adams director of the band.

Under the baton of Martell Moore, Gene Hollar, and Alen Waldie the band plans a brief but complicated drill to entertain the large crowd expected at Alamo Stadium. Marching letter formations, including script letters, will form the body of the drill, Col. Adams said.

"Because of the shortage of time and the large number of new members early morning drills were a necessity for this week but the band will put on a good show", Col. Adams promised.

Osaka Sam Thinks Falsies Have No Japanese Future

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, (AP)—A cigar-smoking, saki-drinking big wheel from Osaka, thinks one American product has only a limited future in Japan.

The product is—Falsies. "If Japanese girls wear European dress," said Sam, "maybe falsies all right."

"But if she wear kimono—no!" It seems the Japanese feminine ideal is a bumpless silhouette.

"Sam"—a nickname he picked up here—is Isamu Saheki, 47, Managing Director of the Kinki Nippon Railway, the largest independently owned railroad in the Orient.

The railroad owns a chain of hotels, department stores and theaters, and Saheki is visiting America to drum up some tourist business for the land of cherry blossoms.

"Business bad now, better next spring," he said. "How's stock market doing?"

He had a long talk with Sam and the interpreter he leaned on when his own thought exceeded his English—George Alexander,

Tokyo, traffic manager for the North Airlines.

The Japanese Silk Association asked him to find out why American women prefer nylon stockings, and Sam said:

"I feel that silk stockings are more flattering to women's legs than nylon."

Thoroughly broad-minded as well as keen-eyed, he gestured with his hands as if outlining a barrel, and remarked:

"American women beautiful—very shapely. All have originality in dressing."

Sam made a trip on the subway, but it failed to give him any new ideas on how to sardine more passengers onto his own railway.

It already carries from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 commuters daily. He does plan, however, to put on some cute girl hostesses. They'll peddle tea.

He felt Japan could adopt a higher respect for women, a thing that struck him about the United States.

"In Japan woman walks behind," he said.

And what Japanese custom did he think America might follow to its advantage?

Sam thought and thought. "Well, Japanese men very patient under bad luck," he said, and his face became bland and innocent.

"Japanese women very, very faithful to their menfolks."

Fish Defendant Says He Really Wasn't Fishing

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 23 (AP)—Chris Dobard, one of 49 defendants in the state's suit to halt alleged fishing of Texas waters without a license, told 126th District Court yesterday, he has never fished Texas Waters.

Called to the witness chair by the state in its third day of the hearing, Dobard styled himself "a citizen of the United States and resident of Texas."

He said he last voted in Louisiana, which the state claims is his home, in 1941 and paid a Texas poll tax in Orange in 1948.

What do you claim are Texas waters? Assistant Attorney General David Wuntch asked him.

"Three marine leagues—nine nautical miles," he replied.

Ashek if he had testified in a federal suit in Houston that he considered Texas waters to extend only three miles from shore, Dobard replied that he did not remember.

Attorney General Price Daniel read into the court record testimony alleged to have been presented by Dobard at Houston. It said that Dobard then testified that he had not fished within the three-mile zone of the Texas coast, always being cautious that he was seaward of that zone.

Dobard told the court that most of his fishing was done opposite the coast of Mexico.

All of the defendants are charged with fishing without a state license within three leagues (about 10 1/2 miles) of the Texas coast. The state is seeking a temporary injunction. The defense has not yet called its witnesses.
