New Procedure For Veterans

Veteran's Administration Instructions No. 1-A dated September 1, 1949 was canceled and Instruction 1-B dated October 5, 1949 adopted, Taylor Wilkin's Veteran's Advisor, announced today.

Instruction 1-B repeats that under existing law a veteran cannot take a course under the GI Bill which is avocational or recreational in character nor may he pursue a course in a school which has been in operation for a period of less than one year prior to enrollment.

Considering the above laws, effective Nov. 1, 1949 any veteran who submits an original request for education or training or a request for transfer of training from one school to another must show in his application the course of education he intends to take and the institution he wishes to attend.

To attend elementary flight, private pilot, or commercial pilot, the veteran must submit a physical examination, justification that the course is in connection with his present business, an affidavit by him supported by affidavits of two disinterested persons that such flight is in connection with his present business.

Effective November 1, 1949 a veteran may change courses within his original field by securing a change of curricular card from his Deans Office and turning in at the Veteran's Advisors Office. A Veteran desiring to change from his original field to a new field must receive prior approval from the Veteran's Administration.

The final approval from the Veteran's Administration will take at least two weeks, therefore it is necessary for a student to initiate his request early.

Veterans desiring to change schools as well as courses of study should initiate their request at least one month before the change is to be made.

Those who plan to change courses this semester should do so before Nov. 1, 1949.

Losing Hair? Connecticut Barber Says Sleep Cause

BY HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—Are you sleeping your hair away?

Well, if you're getting bald, the chances are—says Angelo Mantello—that the way you sleep has a lot to do with it.

Mantello is a middle-aged barber from Wilson, Conn., who spent four decades listening to customers grouse about their hair falling out. And after 40 years of pondering, he's come up with what he thinks is the cause of baldness.

"Such factors as heredity, nervousness and diet have no direct bearing on it," he said. "Baldness results from improper sleeping position.

"Sleeping on the side and burying the forehead into the pillow. Sleep on the back causes the crown of the head to become bald."

What's a thinning-haired man to do then—sleep standing up like a horse?

"Not necessary," said Mantello. "Just correct your sleeping habits. Get a smaller pillow that won't wrap around your ears—a pillow you won't push up against the end of the bed with the crown of your head. "And don't sleep with your head on your arms. Wherever your hand or your arm or your pillow hits, you have no hair—in time."

Mantello looked critically at his own forehead, which has receded almost to the rear neck cuff.

"There is absolutely no reason for anybody to get bald," he said sternly.

"It's so simple. People try to make hair grow like spaghetti or macaroni—by pressure. But you can't make hair grow that way any more than you can grass. "Hair treatments that apply heat and massage are double robbery—they take away your money and they take away your hair. They make the hair fall out before it is ripe, on ready to shed. It's like shaking a fruit tree. If you shake the tree hard enough, even the 'green fruit falls off."

"If an improper sleeping position is the cause of baldness, why aren't more women bald? I asked. "They use pillows."

"Well, since women started cutting their hair shorter, more of it does fall out," he said. "But one reason they don't get as bald as men is that they wear their hair longer, and that helps keep the scalp moist."

And how do you cure baldness? "If you don't get bald," said Mantello, tossing his black hair, "You don't need a cure. It's always harder to raise grass on a lawn after you put concrete over it."

Faith and Sight

We are awed by science! Our life saving sulfa drugs, penicillin, radar, the catalytic atom bomb, even our nylon hose, all are results of scientific research.

In laboratories all over our land scientists gaze through microscopes at tiny organisms too small for human sight and there find the basis for many gifts of health and countless comforts and conveniences for daily living. Through telescopes we may view the distant stars!

But there is a vast area of life above and beyond scientific sight. There are eternal values which cannot be seen with the physical eye—spiritual truths which must be accepted on faith. It is only by faith that we can be lead to a higher plane of spiritual reality.

Faith and sight are not opposed to each other. Rather does each complement the other and together they make an invaluable contribution to the well-rounded life.

The Church has the faith-finding instruments for our use. You and your children should worship there for greater vision.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor of earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, our democracy and civilization cannot survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.
