Harlingen Women Scorn Nude Sally

Harlingen, Tex.—(AP)—The Harlingen Women's Christian Temperance Union doesn't like the idea of fan-dancer Sally Rand appearing at the valley mid-winter fair.

"Feminine modesty and purity can be artistically portrayed without nudity," Mrs. Mary D. Myrick, corresponding secretary of the WCTU, wrote to the Valley Morning Star. "Civilization begins with the adoption of clothing. Demoralization begins with its removal."

The fair will be held Nov. 19 and 20. Booking of Miss Rand and a supporting cast of 53 performers was announced last Wednesday. Mrs. Myrick said the WCTU group met Saturday and decided to write the letter to the newspaper and then tell Fair Association officials line looked plenty good, in fact, the whole team looked good. We couldn't ask for more."

Bob Byington, president of the senior class, said the weekend "turned out fine. I liked the way the team fought all the way and never gave up. The corps made a good impression on Houston, too." Byington is an electrical engineering major from Dallas.

One man who didn't enjoy the weekend was Joe Bodine, a junior pre-law major in A Flight. "It was my fault, though. I don't like Houston. It's too big. I'm just a country boy."

Bodine commented that he enjoyed the game a great deal. "Some Rice boys helped us out, too. We were looking for some directions and these guys came over, met us, and showed us where we wanted to go. They even remembered our names when we took off, too."

Johnny Gossett, junior business major of the corps staff, said, "McCarthy can be complimented for the way he treated us, especially over the nation-wide radio hook-up."

Another corps staff man, Conrad Ohendorf, said "It was a grand ball game. The team showed lots of spirit, but the second half was the best."

John Taylor, senior business major in C Troop, was another man who didn't enjoy the weekend. Asked for a reason, Taylor commented that "it just wasn't my week. I've had so many good times this year that once in a while one doesn't live up to expectations."

"The Aggies played a fine game, and might have won if they could have capitalized on the breaks," Taylor said.

"The Shamrock went out of its way to be nice to us," he concluded.

The general opinion of all the students questioned can be best summed up in the words of I. E. Montgomery, senior architecture major from Baytown.

He wandered into the Battalion office when this story was being written and, after hearing of the comments of the people who enjoyed the weekend, said "well, I agree. Up until this past weekend my best corps trip was the one we made in 1945 to Fort Worth. But this Houston trip has replaced that weekend for me. That's my comment if you want it."

Rice, UH Plan Large Stadiums

Houston, (AP)—Plans to build a 100,000 seat football stadium here are just about dead but there is a good chance two others of about 50,000 each will become reality.

Both Rice Institute and the University of Houston are talking stadium construction.

Sources at Rice say a 50,000 seat, concrete structure may be ready by next season. Houston newspapers say it is a cinch the new structure will be built at least by 1951.

The University of Houston spokesman advised the school's Sideline Coaches Club this week the Cougars will have a stadium of its own by 1951.

Corbin Robertson, son-in-law of Hugh Roy Cullen, oilman who has given millions to the university, did not talk in terms of seating capacity but indicated the new structure would accommodate a minimum of 40,000, and probably more.

These developments followed by only one week a statement from oilman Glenn McCarthy that Houston would have a new stadium, despite the fact plans for the huge municipal structure had fallen through.

McCarthy had offered 150 acres for the 100,000 seat structure and had agreed to underwrite half of the estimated cost of $3,000,000.

He withdrew the offers because, he said, city officials and other residents had been too slow getting things organized.

Pre-Law Group Holds Social at Franklin's

Aspirant lawyers will wine and dance this evening as the Pre-Law Society holds its first social gathering of the year at Franklin's Herman Gollob, club reporter said today.

The affair will be a combined meeting-social with a program also on tap for the evening. President Dave Kreeger announced.

All members are invited, and those who plan to go should meet in the Y Cabinet Room immediately after yell practice, Kreeger said.

Jacksonville and Conroe plays Palestine this week. Lufkin heavily favored over Jacksonville, can take title by winning if Palestine beats Conroe. If both Lufkin and Conroe win this week, Conroe would get title since it beat Lufkin, 7 to 6.

11. Port Arthur (3-0) and Beaumont (2-0) in lead. Port Arthur will be heavily favored when it plays Beaumont, Nov. 25.

12. Galveston (4-0) and Baytown, which had 3-0 record before its Saturday afternoon game with Freeport, will decide title when they meet each other next Friday.

13. Temple (4-0) and Corsicana (4-0) leading. Will decide title in their clash at Corsicana Friday night.

14. Austin (2-0) and Corpus Christi (2-0) will determine titlist in their Friday night game at Corpus Christi.

Cinch For Alice

15. Alice (2-0) has cinch with only one more game against Laredo (0-2) left to play. Alice invades Laredo Friday night.

16. Harlingen, which has two victories, one tie and no defeats in conference play, can take title by beating Brownsville in its last district game Friday night. Edinburg, which has a 2-to-1 edge in perceptions in its 13-to-13 tie with Harlingen, has won two, lost one and tied one after being upset by San Benito, 14 to 13. A Brownsville victory over Harlingen would give the title to Edinburg.

Austin, Texas — (AP)—Upsets marked Class A play over the weekend, and the state's list of unbeaten teams dwindled to 14.

Alvin was knocked out of the perfect record class by Aldine, 13-7, to highlight Friday night's play which saw several district races muddled, others clarified.

Alvin's defeat coupled with Webster's 26-12 victory over Cypress-Fairbanks left those two teams tied for the 25-A lead.

Ballinger was dropped a peg from a perfect classification as its traditional Armistice Day rival, Coleman, scrambled to a 13-13 tie and was threatening to score again as the game ended. The game failed to keep Ballinger from winning the 7-A crown, however.

Meanwhile, the other unbeaten teams came through. Dalhart stopped Dumas, 40-12. Lefors beat McLean, 41-12. Arlington stopped Terrell, 34-14. Edna beat Karnes City, 26-6. Uvalde stopped Pearsall, 40-0, and Del Rio beat Crystal City, 34-6.

Others Idle

New Braunfels, Kaufman, Mexia and Leveites Chapel were idle. Beaumont French, Bowie and Irving won Thursday night games, while Nederland fell from the list the same night.

Spur took over the 3-A lead by defeating Ralls, 29-0, while co-leader Floydada lost to Crosbyton, 6-14.

Littlefield sacked up the 4-A north crown by defeating Levelland, 20-13, while Slaton upset Post, 7-6, to win the 4-A south title.

Rotan took the 6-A east crown by downing Hamlin, 7-0, while Haskell grabbed the 6-A west flag by defeating Munday 46-14. Ranger clinched its 8-A title by walling Eastland 37-6.

Archer City knocked Holiday out of a tie with Burk Burnett for the 9-A lead with an 18-12 victory.

Garland stayed in a tie with Irving for the 12-A lead with a 32-0 victory over Carrollton. Clarksville took the 13-A lead by downing Commerce 20-0, while Honey Grove dropped out of the lead when Farmersville gained a 13-13 tie. Mineola clinched a tie for the 15-A crown by defeating Pittsburg, 44-13.

Cameron Upsets

Cameron upsets Rosebud, 7-0, to toss 21-A into a tie between these two clubs.

Lampasas, Burnet and Llano remained in a triple tie for the 22-A lead as Lampasas beat Mason 27-0. Burnet stopped Fredericksburg, 26-0, and Llano beat Goldwaite, 45-10.

Edna's defeat of Karnes City gave that city the 28-A crown, while Freer took the 29-A flag by defeating Aransas Pass, 13-0.

Mission won the 30-A race by beating Pharr-San Juan-Alamo 38-6.

Uvalde and Del Rio meet next week for the 32-A title.

Cocklebur In Jim Voice Out

Atlanta, (AP)—"The next time," said nine-year-old James McCurry, "Well, I'll just keep my big mouth shut."

Young Jim said he was talking with his uncle out in a field, when the wind blew a cocklebur into his mouth.

Jim swallowed—and lost his voice.

The doctor at the Ponce De Leon Infirmary found the trouble. The cocklebur had stopped in jim's Larynx, and was stuck between the vocal cords.

The doctor got the bur out with forceps.

Jim was able today to tell everybody about his operation.

forced down in Russia and not returned to American authorities.

Cites Air Lift

Speaking with a decided foreign accent Niyaradi praised the Berlin airlift as an example of American power and coordination which triumphed over what Russia had considered insurmountable obstacles.

"The airlift showed free peoples of west that when America sets out to do something she means to do the job well." He said that the effort of the airlift was to show the Russians and the world America's air might.

America, however, has bungled badly in her diplomatic negotiations with the Russians Niyaradi continued. Half of Europe is occupied by Soviet troops, and those areas under occupation are being "sovietized. Accomplishment of this sovietization is not by popular support but rather through ruthless purging of opponents to communism and rigid control of occupied countries' economies, transportation, politics, and military strength.

China A Defeat

This country, he charged, has suffered a defeat in China. But, he added, China does not have the strategic or military importance that many attach to her.

Niyaradi traced the development of Soviet resistance to cooperation with the Western nations. In 1946, he said, Molotov announced the break down of Russian-Western coordination. By then Russia had gained her point at Tehran and Yalta and had found further cooperation inexpedient.

Since 1946 the Russian policy has been aimed at integrating the areas under her occupation into the Soviet orbit and preparing for the next war.

In a question and answer session following his speech, Niyaradi expressed his views on the Yugoslavia-Russia controversy. Tito has challenged the Russian belief that all true communism stems from Moscow. Both Yugoslavia and Russia are communistic nations, but Yugoslavia prefers her own brand of communism.

Tito, while lacking popular support, does find favor among Yugoslavian military forces, Niyaradi said. The Marshal has taken good care of his soldiers, who are perpetuating his regime in Yugoslavia, Niyaradi claimed. The military strength of Yugoslavia is only enough to preserve domestic order.

He said that the Russian Orthodox church and the revolutionists joined hands immediately upon the outbreak of hostilities against the Czar, 32 years ago. Religious persecution in Russia is almost nonexistent because the church is the tool of Stalin, Niyaradi charged. In the satellite countries there is religious persecution by Communists upon church members whose faiths are linked with the Western churches.

Russian communism, or socialism as the Soviets call it, is not Marxist socialism but rather a rude blend of a few ideas of Marx, many Russian traditions, and much of the long standing Russian imperialism that has existed through the ages, Niyaradi emphasized.

He expressed his belief that concerted American action to stop Russian advances in Europe and Asia could swing the pendulum from the inevitability of war to an uncertain status of peace. This can be done only if the United States will show her power and her determination to resist further Russian attempts to advance the cause of communism in the world.

He closed his speech with a Latin quotation which, when translated, read, "If you want peace, prepare for war."

ChE Seniors Plan South Texas Trip

Senior chemical engineering majors graduating at the end of the current semester will leave Monday, Nov. 28, on a three day inspection trip of a number of chemical plants in Southeast Texas.

Dr. J. D. Lindsay, head of the Chemical Engineering Department said today.

Purpose of the trip is primarily educational. Students will be escorted through different plants so they may have an opportunity to observe methods and equipment actually used in each field.

The trip will also give them an opportunity to meet and talk with men actively engaged in different phases of chemical engineering work.

Students will visit the South Texas Cotton Oil Co. mill in Houston and the Humble Oil and Refining Co. plant in Baytown Monday, Nov. 28. Tuesday they will tour the E. I. Du Pont plant in Orange and the Gulf Company Refinery in Port Arthur.

The trip will be concluded with visits to the Texas Co. Refinery in Port Arthur and the McCarthy Chemical Co. at Winnie on Wednesday.

Collard Announces A&M Crops Team

F. G. Collard, Jr., corps judging team coach, announced members of the team at the Collegiate American Society of Agronomy meeting last week.

Team members are L. E. Mikekka, senior agronomy major from Temple, W. A. Kelling, senior agronomy major from Chapel Hill, and J. R. Walzel, senior agronomy major from Cameron. J. E. Williams, junior agronomy major from Blossom, is team alternate.

To select the corps team, three judging contests were held, one each week for the past three weeks. Scores of each individual in the three contests were compiled and then averaged.

Mikekka had the highest average, 1,696 points out of a possible 1,800 points. Kelling was second with 1,686 points. Walzel and Williams scored 1,661 points and 1,666 points respectively.

Coplon and Lover On Trial as Spies

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Judith Coplon and Valentin Gubitchev were called into federal court yesterday for trial on charges of conspiracy to commit espionage for Russia, (9:30 a. m. CST).

The little 28-year-old brunette, formerly a Department of Justice employee, already is under sentence of 40 months to 10 years in prison.

She was convicted in Washington last June 30 of taking secret documents with intent to transmit them to a foreign power. The ex-government girl has been free in bail pending appeal and her second trial here.

Today's trial is the first for Gubitchev, 32, Russian engineer and suspended United Nations employee whom Miss Coplon said she once loved.

The Washington trial involved the taking of government secrets. The trial in New York involves the alleged conspiracy of Miss Coplon and Gubitchev, at meetings in this vicinity, to get the secrets into Russian hands.

The second perjury trial of Alger Hiss—which also involves alleged efforts of Russian spies to get U. S. secrets—is set for Thursday.

It, like the Coplon-Gubitchev trial, will be held in the federal courthouse where eleven top U. S. Communist leaders were sentenced recently to prison terms and fines. They were convicted after a nine-month trial on charges of conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government.
