

Pistol Team Wins Three-way Match

The A&M pistol team added another victory to its string last week by defeating the University of Illinois and Colorado A&M College in a three-way pistol match, according to Lt. Colonel Frank R. Swoger, sponsor of the team.

Scoring 1,371 points out of a possible 1,500, the Texas Aggie team copped its seventh victory in eight starts, having lost once to Colorado A&M earlier this year. Colorado A&M and Illinois U. scored 1,298 and 1,237 points respectively.

High man for Texas A&M was J. V. Aalto with 284 out of a possible 300 points. Close behind were A. W. Benefield, 282 points, and H. Q. Haile with 277 points. Other high men were Ted Means, 266 points; A. M. Kenny, 262 points; and W. G. Long with 252 points. Each man fires three targets at slow, timed and rapid rates of fire.

Colonel Swoger has scheduled 45 postal matches for the team this year. Each team counts its five highest men during the week of the match and mails the results to the participating teams before midnight of each Saturday night. The team reporting the highest score for five men wins the match. The team will fire against Utah State University this week.

Fish, Game Party Planned on Friday

The Fish and Game Club will have its annual Christmas party Friday, December 16, it was announced today by Jack Mitchell, chairman of the Christmas Party Committee.

All members are urged to attend and bring their wives, children and dates. Old Santa has been invited and is expected to attend and bring with him presents for all persons at the party.

AH Profs Present Papers in Chicago

Six members of the Animal Husbandry department presented before the annual meeting of the American Society of Animal Production in Chicago, Nov. 25 and 26.

Bruce L. Warwick, R. O. Berry, R. D. Turk, and C. O. Morgan presented a paper on selection of sheep and goats for resistance to stomach ailments.

A report on results of a year's improvement of sheep through selection of good breeding stock was presented by W. H. Damerson, J. C. Miller, J. M. Jones, S. P. Davis, and R. E. Patterson.

Performance testing of beef breeding stock as an aid to stock selection was the subject of the paper authorized by R. E. Patterson, J. H. Jones, J. J. Bayles and R. V. Turnbough.

A study of embryo breeding was done by A. A. Melton, R. O. Berry, and O. D. Butler.

Fred Hale and C. M. Lyman discussed Vitamin B-12 for growing pigs, and L. C. Cartwright and R. H. Shrode gave a study on inheritance color markings in Hampshire swine.

Second team backs were Frankie Albert, San Francisco; George Taliferro, Los Angeles; Bob Hoernschemeyer, Chicago; and Marion Motley, Cleveland. Second string linemen were Dante Laywell, Cleveland; and Baldwin; tackles John Kissell, Buffalo, and Ruby; guards Bill Willis, Cleveland, and Joe Signaio, New York, and center Bob Nelson, Los Angeles.

A dozen Texas or Southwest Conference players now performing in the two pro loops were included among the honorable mention winners listed by the Associated Press on its 1949 All-Pro squad. In addition to Ruby, Baldwin, and Russell, six backs and three linemen were named.

End Dan Edwards of the Chicago Hornets (Georgia and Gainesville, Tex.), center Bill Blackburn of the Chicago Cardinals (Rice), and George Strohmeier of the Chicago Hornets (A&M and Notre Dame) were the forwards listed.

Backs included were Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins (TCU), Johnny Clement of the Chicago Hornets (SMU), Glenn Dobbs of the Los Angeles Dons (Tulsa and McKinney, Tex.), Bobby Layne of the New York Bulldogs (Texas), Tommy Thompson of the Philadelphia Eagles (Tulsa and Fort Worth), and Y. A. Tittle of the Baltimore Colts (LSU and Marshall, Tex.).
