Thieves, Petty and Otherwise, Here at A&M

Did you ever forget and leave your tion? People who steal usually don't get soap in the shower and go back after it a little while later and find it gone?

Or have you left your coat lying someplace, in a classroom perhaps, and returned the next day to discover that someone had appropriated it?

Or have you been one of the many Aggies who "lost" a textbook early in a semester?

Things that we have left lying somewhere don't just up and crawl away; somebody, some of own students, come behind us and pick up those things. Now why they do it, we don't know!

Surely nobody operates on so close a budget that he can't buy his own soap. And we hope no one is so destitute that he has to steal clothing. And a book thief at A&M, he's about the lowest-nobody has any use for books.

Still those little and big things do disappear around here, and the guys that lose them don't like it one bit. None of us who have been victims of some other Aggie's willingness to use our soap, or books, or coats without our permission think that such conditions should exist here at A&M.

What's to be done about this condi-caught, so putting guards around wouldn't do any good. And it would make A&M look like a "police state," anyway.

But we can appeal to the guilty men who take the half-used bar of soap left in the shower, or the textbook left outside the mess hall, or the coat hanging on a desk in the Academic Building. We can ask them to think a minute, and ask themselves if what they are doing really worth what it costs them and A&M. It costs them considerable loss of self respect. What petty thief can be proud of himself?

It costs A&M the trust that Aggies put in one another We're pretty far gone when one Aggie starts stealing from an-

It would be a good feeling to know if you left a bar of soap in the shower and came back a week later, it would still be there. Everything on this campus has a rightful owner. Something that is left doesn't lose being owned, the owner will be back to claim it.

Legally, it's just the respect for another's property rights; simply stated, it's taking care of what's yours and letting things belonging to other people alone.

What could be fairer?

Formosa and Taft, With Political Intrigue . . .

author of the Taft-Hartley Act. despised by the labor unions, noted conservative and isolationist Republican up for re-election this year, has crept out from under has nearsighted bifocals (which, previously have restricted his vision only to the American domestic scene) and has taken a rather gallant stand on far-away

The Ohio senator has joined ex-president-Hoover in calling for American defense of Formosa against Chinese Communist who are preparing to conquer this last foothold of the Chinese Nationalists. They only want a few American ships bristling with guns ploughing through waters between Formosa and the Chinese mainland to prevent the island's seizure by the Reds.

We are surprised that Senator Taft would speak so completely out of character. Always before, Taft was a stern iso- mere political expediency?

Robert A. Taft, senator from Ohio, co- lationist. His chief concern was to guard our shores, not islands thousands of miles

> Suddenly the good senator has become in internationalist. Or is he just playing politics? He knows his Democratic opponent (unnamed yet, but certainly to appear) will harp on his record of isolationism. This together with organized labor's predicted efforts to defeat him, seems to add up that the Senator is playing politics and yelling about something he knows will find popular support. Who wants to let the Communists have anything?

> If Robert A. Taft didn't face re-election this year, we'd regard this departure from his previous isolationism as a good omen-that even our most conservative congressmen are becoming international minded. As it is, we wonder if his pleadings for Formosa's defense are sincere or last Thursday with the publication of a joint paper-the New York World-Telegram and Sun. The World-Telegram bought out the Sun and thereby gobbled up all its subscribers. The sale plunged the Sun's 1,200 employees into the ranks of the unemployed.

Sun's Lighthouses, and Parallels . . .

On the masthead of the combined paper appeared the lighthouse, symbol of keeper. We hope not

The New York Sun went into eclipse control by the Scripps-Howard newspaper combine.

> We wonder if the physical difference between the sun and a lighthouse will follow into the journalistic field? The sun throws light everywhere, illuminating the whole world while a lighthouse is a beacon guiding ships by the light that is directed and focused by the lighthouse twin. The housing shortage forced the couple their folks can't tell 'em apart-how do

A young former G. I. was married to a you know which one to make love to?" observed a friend.

"I don't know which is which either," to live in the home of the wife's parents. was the reply, "but when I feel affection-"Those sisters look so much alike even ate I seize one of 'em and if she ain't mine she defends herself.

The Battalion

"Soldier, Statesman, Knightly Gentleman"

Lawrence Sullivan Ross, Founder of Aggie Traditions

News contributions may be made by telephone (4-5444) or at the editorial office, Room 201, Loodwin Hall. Classified ads may be placed by telephone (4-5324) or at the Student Activities Office, Room 209, Goodwin Hall.

The Battalion, official newspaper of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas and the City of College Station, Texas, is published five times a week and circulated every Monday through Friday afternoon, except during holidays and examination periods. Durings the summer The Battalion is published tri-weekly on Monday, Wechesday and Friday. Subscription rate $4.30 per school year. Advertising rates furnished on request.

The Associated Press is entitled exclusively to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in the paper and local news of spontaneous origin published herein. Rights of republication of all other matter herein are also reserved.

Entered as second-class matter at Post Office at College Station, Texas, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1870.

Member of The Associated Press

Represented nationally by National Advertising Service Inc., at New York City, Chicago, Los Angeles, and San Francisco.

BILL BILLINGSLEY, C. C. MUNROE ...

Clayton Selph, Lewis Burton,
Otto Kunze
John Whitmore
Charles Kirkham
George Chariton, Dean Reed,
Clayton Selph
Emil Bunjes Jr. Dan Davis, Curtis Edwards, J. C. Falls,
Herschel Fitts, Henry Lacour, B. F. Roland,
Jerry Zuber
Brad Holmes, Bill Hites, Hardy Ross, Joe
Brad Holmes, Bill Hites, Hardy Ross, Joe
Kenneth Marak, Emmett Trant, Jack Brandt,
Jack Stansbury
Jim Reed
Morgue Manager

Cabaniss, Bill Potts Sports Co-editors

Letters To The Editor

practice.

dition we have.

the decision to abolish the yell practice would probably "bring the house down." But if the men who are so strongly against our pol-icy had read the reasons, listed in the Batt, for which the yell practice was abolished, and considered the facts, they would see the reason for the abolishment of yell

We must do what is good for the school, even though it may take away a small something, or even hurt a few personal feelings. For as all Aggies know, we must act for the good of the group.

That is the truest and oldest tra-

As one man said in the Batt not long ago, this is the time to think for ourselves instead of letting the group think for us. And to met its crisis, and this is yours.

Instead of being shamed by the abolishment of yell practice, you may be able to be proud to be the first in a movement. We are not taking away, but giving. Giving good relations for A&M.

Member, Student Life Committee

A COED COLLEGE?

From some recent articles and letters to the editor which I have followed in The Battalion, it seems that there are a few who would like to turn A&M into an escort bureau, instead of an educational institution of men, not beaux.

don't know about those students, but I certainly wouldn't care to date a girl who would go out with any Tom, Dick, or Harry, just because he had on an Aggie uniform.

like it or not, that everyone admitted to A&M is not perfect, even though we do like to feel that the majority of Aggies are those who hold the moral standards of their homes, churches, schools, and nation above any petty trifles. However, we cannot forget that there is a minority of students who have forgotten a few of these essential ideals. I cannot condemn those girls who have offered to date

Aggies; maybe they have seen only the good side of Aggieland, in con-nection with those friends and relatives who are Aggies and with those great ideals of friendship, equality, and brotherhood which have made A&M known throughout the world. No one can condemn a girl who admires this spirit of Aggieland and the men of A & M, who are among the cream of American youth; however, I think they are trying to get acquainted

Now I come to the point which

We have to admit, whether we Sincerely.

Editor, The Battalion:

Class of '51, every class has

CODE OF ETHICS

Editor, The Battalion:

So you would substitute an "appropriate code of ethics", devised and written by man with his very limited understanding for a law as basic as a law can be, having been made by One who understands human suffering, and who made the law to be kept, intact?

Just what code of ethics do you think could be devised. What man or group of men could sanely take it upon themselves to decide when it was right and when it was wrong to kill a human being?

A man can be a shining light in a community; he can be loved and respected by all, and yet down in his soul there can be a weakness, an evil, which would let him submit to a temptation to "mercifully" kill. Killing, whether done in dark streets by hardened criminals armed with knives or done in respectable homes by "respectable" people with fragile hypodermic needles, even if done in the name of mercy, has been wrong at least since the time of Moses and will probably continue to be wrong for long time to come.

I request that you, the editors, so capable of influencing opin-ion, consider the making of such statements very carefully in the

Sincerely, Evin J. Stump '52

"MYP" REBUTAL Editor, The Battalion:

Last night I picked up the Batt and saw what I had expected to see—a good gripe to the Student Life Committee, dealing with the midnight yell practice recommend-

When the issue was brought in the committee, we would hit a sore spot. For two sessions we labored over the sit-uation, reading letters from various people in the cities and listening to the damage to Aggie reputations, and the personal damage bestowed upon a few individuals, resulting from fights at yell

It is not our intent to abolish, or hurt in any way, the Aggie tradition. We are Aggies ourselves, some of us of very long standing; but it is our intent to see, and en-deavor to help, the Aggie reputation among the cities and the exstudent associations.

We student members of the Student Life Committee were elected from the student body. Three men were elected from the nonreg, two editors of the Batt, the Senior class president, cadet colonel of the corps, the president of the Junior class, and members chosen from the senate. These men, plus members chosen from the faculty, give a good cross section of the school. Every man of the above mentioned group thought and studied the situation, for we knew that

Official Notice

J. A. Orr. Professor Civil Engineering Dept

I want to express. I think that A&M should have a coeducational system, for the following reasons: 1. Students at A&M have little chance to meet girls, except at home and at parties and dances. At these occasional meetings, they certainly cannot evaluate a girl according to their own ideals. Little can they learn about the girl's likes and dislikes or their common interests. About the only judgements that can be made are those concerning appearance and in the wrong way.

friendliness.
I assume that the majority of

GUION HALL—Thurs., Jan. 19 — 6:45 P. M. & 9:00 P.M. PERSON!! NEW MUSICAL DEPRECIATION REVUE OF 1950 Featuring Doodles Weaver as Prof. Feitlebaum

George Rock, Helen Grayco, Dr. Horatio Q. Birdbath
The World Famous "City Slickers" and 14 — Explosive Vod-Vil Acts — 14!!

Prices: $2.50, $1.80 and $1.25 (tax included)

MAIL ORDERS ACCEPTED: Send check and self addressed, stamped envelope to Student Activities Committee, A.&M. College, College, Station: Please indicate which performance

"For The Love Of Mike - Don't Miss Spike"

From Where I Sit . . .

Metro's 'Malaya' Judged Top-Notch Melodrama

Malaya (MGM) starring James tewart, Spencer Tracy, Sydney reenstreet, Lionel Barrymore

Until today we had been firm be-lievers in the ancient proverb.
"Too many cooks spoil the soup."
After seeing "Malaya" at the Cam-pus theatre, where it is now show-ing through Tuesday we have fal-tered in our tenuous faith in the usually reliable adage.

starring James Stewart, a star of whose presence in a film is enough to queue up block-long lines in front of theatres, "Malaya" is the niftlest melodrama to come from Hollywood for this year.

Taut with suspense, bristling with crackling dialogue, alive with arresting characters, "Malaya" concerns the efforts during the war of two American soldiers-of-fortune—one a free-lance report-fortune — one a free-lance report-er, the other a convict-on-leave— to smuggle rubber out of Jap-infested Malaya for American consumption.

Tracy is seen as the con, a cocky, happy-go-lucky daredevil with no particular purpose in life other than having a hell of a good Until the war, the same could have been said about the reporter, played by Stewart with his usual lanky ease and assurance. But the death of his brother on Wake Island has given him a goal,

Knipling to Speak To Entomologists

Dr. Edward F. Knipling, '30, division chief in the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quaran-tine in Washington, D. C., will address the Entomology Society Tuesday night at 8, F. L. Rider, club reporter, said today. Knipling did his graduate work at Iowa State College after graduating from A&M. After receiving his Ph. D. Knipling joined the Menard, Texas, staff of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine. He has done his work in the Division of Insects Affecting Man and Animal.

Rider invited all persons interested in hearing Knipling to attend the club meeting. It will be held in Room 10 of the Science Aggies will marry in the near future. They should be able to meet girls and evaluate them in a normal environment, instead of some exaggerated social event. Lasting friendships are based upon a firm understanding of common likes and dislikes, of faults, and of good qualities. This understanding can be based only upon a day-by-day association and a slow-growing, but everlasting friendship. This is the only type of friendship which makes for a happy married life.

2. Aggies have to learn to get sleeve," along with a mixed crowd. In few modern fields will they find complete male domination, and certainnot in home, civic, and social

3. Girls seem to have a knack of lightening the loads of life and resurrecting fallen spirits.

4. Maybe a certain number of students would stay on the campus and study instead of traveling all over the state to have female companionship.
5. A&M is a great educational system. Its facilities and instruc-tion should not be denied the girls of the state.

I know there is only a minority which will agree with my views but they are my beliefs, and what good are a person's convictions if he does not stand up for them? I am not too interested in dates, but I like to see a girl once in a while and hope to meet the right one some day. I want to prepare for a full living, not a one-side biased one.

It is not my objective to disagree with the A&M system. It is the best. I would not be here if I did not think so. I simply want to express my view on one of its

Norton McDuffie Class of '51

First Run - Features Start -1:35 - 3:45 - 5:50 - 7:55 10:00

RICE - NORTH CAROLINA Cotton Bowl Game and the new Bugs Bunny Cartoon
"HURDY-GURDY HARE"

a tangible reason for existing.
Fortunately for the success of the film, sexy, slithering actress (if we may use the term loosely) Valentina Cortesia, who may be summed up as an Italian Lauren Bacall, has only a minor part. Her artificially husky voice renders her thick accent barely intelligible, and her chief expression seems to be a smile, which varies from a limp, I anguid grin to a wide, ebuillent molarshower. The only improvement we noticed in Miss Cortesia was the change made in her bobbed, frizzled hair-do of "Thieves Highway."

In support, Sydney Greenstreet,

In support, Sydney Greenstreet, as a delightfully unscrupulous sa-loon-owner; John Hodiak as an earnest, likeable FBI agent; Gil- Robinson.

bert Roland as another who lives for wine, women, and adventure; and Lionel Barrymore as a newspaper publisher, add verve depth to the film.

Dallas' Theatre '50 will give Loren Disney's comedy "My Gran-ny Van" its world premiere tonight in Dallas' State Fair Park.

Running for three consecutive weeks through January 28, "My Granny Van" will be the second play having a Texas setting to be presented at the Dallas theatre this season.

Under the direction of the nation to be presented at the Dallas theatre this season.

tion famed Margo Jones, Mary Fin-ney will play the title role, and will be assisted by a cast which includes Ben Yafee and Virginia

Der Fuehrer's Face Shows, But Owner Disclaims Kin

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 9—(P)—Henrich Noll says he is just n tired of American military policemen asking if he's Adolf Hitler. Noll, a 38-year-old jobless male nurse, thinks he ought to go to United States "where people don't worry so much about der Fueh-Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 9-(P)-Henrich Noll says he United States "where people don't worry so much about der popping up."

Noll, is the spitting image of Hitler—toothbrush mustache, droopforelock and all. Only his voice is different. Noll is soft-spoken. "I look like Hitler but I didn't like the old goat," says Noll. "And character isn't like his. I like meat, cigarettes and women.

Hitler was a reputed vegetarian and non-smoker.

Noll's first brush with the MP's came in 1945 when American troops entered Giessen. Noll rashly poked his head out of the window of his home. Droves of MP's with tommy-guns stormed into the house thinking he was the prize catch—Der Fuehrer.

"Almost everybody in town had to swear that I'd lived there all my life before the Americans would let me go." he related.

He says he grew his toothbrush mustache before Hitler came to power "although my wife said it looked silly."

Why doesn't he shave off his Hitler mustache now?

He wants to play the part of Hitler in a planned Austrian movie The Third Reich." But he says he'd rather go to Hollywood to portray Hitler in American movies.

Frisky Heifers Avoid New Owner Oldland, England, (A)-Weary

Charles Cryer has sold his two racing heifers—as is and where Now all the buyer has to do is catch them. The heifers-a pair of three year-old Shorthorn sisters named Rosie and Daisy—are lurking in a 25-acre field.

Two weeks ago Cryer decided to round them up and take them to market. But they ran like Ga-zelles every time he entered the field. This went on for days.

In desperation, Cryer put up a reward of 5 pounds ($14) for their capture. Fifteen men and four dogs chased Rosie and Daisy fruitlessly up and down the field.

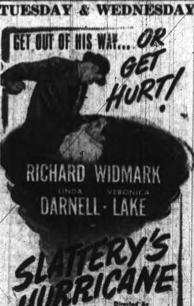

I'm going to let them calm down a while before I have a go."

Tiergarten Replanted

Berlin (A) The city of Bremen shipped 35,000 oak and linden seedling trees to Berlin to replant the once-famed "Tiergarten" which was blackened by war and then denuded by freezing Berliners for firewood.

Bridge Team To Be Formed

The Bridge Committee of the Memorial Student Center is making plans to select bridge players to represent A&M in the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament, according to Wayne Stark, commitee adviser.

The Bridge Committee will meet in room 157 Bizzel Hall on Wed-nesday, January 11 at 7:30 p. m. to discuss a method to select tourna-ment entrants. All students and faculty members interested in bridge are invited to attend and

This also went on for days.

Finally Cryer gave up and sold them at 30 pounds ($84) under the market price, to dealer Albert Lovell.

"I've got a few ideas up my sleeve," Lovell said today. "Now I'm going to let them calm down will play in Chicago for the cham. pionship. All travel expenses will be paid by the National Com-mittee, Stark added.

Bridge and other card games are some of the recreational activities planned for the game room in the new Memorial Student Center, Stark concluded.

FOR ONE WEEK

HILARIOUS! HOPE FLEMING Great