Michigan Prof Talks Tonight

Dr. Bradley M. Patten, professor of anatomy from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, will address the A&M chapter of the Sigma Xi tonight at 7:30 in the Chemistry lecture room, on "The First Heart Beats and the Beginning of the Embryonic Circulation."

Patten, a nationally known heart researcher and lecturer, is completing a tour of California, Colorado, New Mexico and Texas. His talk is based on results of his recent investigations on the heart.

Sigma Xi is a national honorary society devoted to research. Members and others who are interested are invited to attend the lecture.

Patten has been to Texas Tech, Rice Institute, and the University of Texas since he has been in Texas.

HAVE YOU TRIED THIS EASIER, BETTER WAY TO ROASTER-FRESH COFFEE?

Next time you know you're going to have to stay up late studying, pick up a jar of Nescafé.

Nothing helps you through long sessions like coffee. And no coffee is easier to make than Nescafé. It's instant. Simply put one teaspoonful of Nescafé in a cup, add hot water (preferably boiling), stir.

Good! It's delicious! Nescafé just naturally makes a better cup of coffee, because it always keeps its roaster-fresh flavor until you release it in the cup.

Yes, Nescafé gives you all the flavor and "lift" of pure, freshly roasted, freshly brewed coffee, without the fuss and muss of brewing.

Nescafé is the instant way to pure coffee enjoyment. If you like good coffee—you'll love Nescafé. Keep it on hand for all occasions.

More people drink Nescafé than all other instant coffees!

*Nescafé (pronounced nes-ca-fee) is the exclusive registered trade-mark of The Nestlé Company, Inc. to designate its soluble coffee product which is composed of equal parts of pure soluble coffee and added only carbohydrates (dextrins, maltose and dextrose) added solely to protect the flavor.

after we had tied it up with eight minutes to go. That little surge was all they needed. We got a little wild and reckless then trying to catch up and of course the Aggies just made more points off of our efforts.

Mr. Henderson doesn't censure his team for allowing McDowell to make those three buckets at a critical stage of the contest. In fact, they didn't let him make two of them.

"Our boys blocked his shots twice," Mr. Hickman declared, "and knocked the ball to the floor. He picked up the ball both times and made his goal."

Mr. Hayes fully aware that McDowell is averaging better than a dozen points a night, though his Mustangs held the Aggie star to eight points as SMU bested the Cadets, 53 to 48, in their opening engagement down College Station way.

"I believe we had George Owen on him," says Mr. Hayes, "and maybe Fred Freeman was on him a while, too."

It was John DeWitt, brother of Baylor's Bill DeWitt, who was most troublesome to the Haymen that night. DeWitt made 15 points.

"John looks to me like he's as good on defense as Bill, and better on offense," says Hayes. "But they're both good boys."

Karow Disagrees

Mr. Karow refuses to agree that his team should be the title favorite at this stage of the race.

"You don't win pennants in the middle of the campaign," says the Cadet coach. "Any team in the league may beat any other club any night."

Mr. Henderson says this is eminently correct, but confesses "I wish I could play Arkansas every night." Mr. Henderson has sent his Bears against the Razorbacks the required number of times twice—and won both games. So he can afford to speak his mind.

Some of the fans are beginning to wonder if the Southwest Conference will have a representative in the NCAA play-offs this year, and that is a pertinent thought.

Though the conference race is a thriller, our teams have looked

Army Chaplain, Bible Teacher To Hold Forum

Major Steve P. Gaskins Jr., post chaplain at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, and Paul G. Wassenich, head of the Jewett Bible Chair at Texas University, will conduct special discussions among the students during Religious Emphasis Week according to Gordon Gay, assistant secretary of the YMCA.

The informal forums will be held each day from 4 to 5:30 in the YMCA Chapel and at 9 p. m. in the dormitories. These discussions will be open to all students to come to listen or participate.

Wassenich's specialties are "Men and Women Relations," "Marital Problems," and "The Building of Christian Homes." He teaches courses in Bible and Christian Marriage and Family Life at Texas University.

Besides his instructor duties, Wassenich is the president of the University Religious Worker's Association and adult sponsor to the Texas Disciple Student Fellowship and the Disciple Student Fellowship at the University Christian Church.

Wassenich has spoken at Religious Emphasis Week at San Marcos Teachers College, University of Texas and twice at Southern Methodist University.

Gaskins entered the Army Chaplaincy immediately upon completing his theological training. He was assigned to the 158th Infantry "The Bushmasters" and went to the Southwest Pacific with them and served through Brisbane, Port Moresby, Milne, Goodenough Island, Finschhafen and Arowe, New Britain.

In 1944, he was transferred to the 6th Infantry Division and served with them through Samsar, Mafin Bay and the Luzon campaign. He returned to the states in 1945 as executive assistant chaplain to the First Army Headquarters.

After two years at the First Army, he was selected for one year graduate study at Union Theological and Columbia University in New York City. Upon completion of this work, he was assigned to his present position.

like Ned in the first reader in competition with teams of other major athletic circuits. The Aggies, now leading the race have been bested from coast to coast, for example. And two of their defeats on the outside were administered by the University of Arizona Wildcats.

Arizona Probable NCAA Entry

Arizona, of course, is in this NCAA district. The Wildcats are clawing opponents right and left and they are certain to demand a chance to play in the NCAA tournaments. That may mean a play-off between Arizona and the Southwest king.

Mr. Karow says the Wildcats, who beat the Aggies, 56 to 50, at San Antonio, and 59 to 46, at Tucson, are a good team.

"They've got four kids who can really hit the basket," says the Aggie mentor, "and I've already voted for their 6-foot 2-inch Leon Blevins for the All-America. He's a great player."

Karow is one of those who believes Arizona will be in a play-off with the Southwest's chaps. "They'll probably play Arkansas or somebody," he said hastily perhaps forgetting for the moment that his team is leading the loop.

Aggeland 1950 Contract Given

Engraving and printing contracts for the Aggeland 1950 were awarded to the same two companies that produced the Aggeland 1949, in a meeting of the business subcommittee of the Student Life Committee Friday afternoon in the office of Roland Bing manager of student publications.

Harper Standard Engraving Company of Dallas was awarded the engraving contract at a bid of $5,000. Although the Dallas company was second low bidder, it was awarded the contract because of its previous good work and since the committee felt the low bidder had done inferior work in the past.

Printing contract was awarded to the E. J. Storm Printing Company, also of Dallas, at a figure of $22,950. Storm was also second low bidder and their bid was accepted in place of the low for the same reasons of quality.

The contracts call for this year's annual to follow exactly the same size and color specifications as the Aggeland 1949.

Voting members of the business subcommittee were L. L. Joe Davis, Roland Bing, C. G. "Spike" White, Chuck Cabanis, and Bill Billingsley. Member Floyd Hank was not present at the meeting.

season time coaching football. Considering the success that Hunt met with as a player himself, it's little wonder that he has had such a successful coaching record. Hunt was All-Southwest Conference three times during his playing days at A&M.

He made All-American mention his senior year as team captain and holds the conference scoring record, set in 1927, of 125 points. He also had the honor of helping the West to a victory in an East-West clash.

Surprised at Pro Spirit

The Texas-born and raised Hunt says that he is surprised with the spirit that is shown by the play-for-boys, and that it is equal to or better than that shown by any college squad that has ever confronted him. He believes that the two platoon system is going to remain in pro football because it adds two or three years to a player's playing life.

Hunt has confidence in the coaching staff of A&M and is looking for better years ahead. As for himself, he is busy right now checking on players who are on the Colts' draft list for next year. Some of the brighter lights among these boys are Southwesterners Adrian Burk, "Muscles" Campbell, Dick Harris, and Ray Stone.

Editor. He has been covering sports events for the Batt for the past three semesters.

Sports News Editors

Daily editing of the sports page will be handled by members of the sports staff on a rotating schedule. Besides Dean Reed on Fridays, Cabanis announced that Frank Mantz and Frank Simmen, Jr., would serve as sports news editors on Wednesday and Monday, respectively.

Other changes on the staff included the addition of several new reporters and three new photo engravers. New reporters and feature writers who have signed up for this semester are Bob Boyd, Chester Critchfield, Chester Hisks, Marvin Matusek, "Rip" Torn, and Ray Williams.

Two former members of the Batt staff, Bob Lane and Bill Thompson, returned to the staff after several weeks absence.

Co-editors Billingsley and Munroe said that a number of staff members are still needed and that those interested in writing for the Battalion should stop by the Batt office any afternoon and talk with them or see Roland Bing, manager of student publications, in the student activities office on the second floor of Goodwin Hall.

Other improvements for this semester include a change in the Batt's AP wire service which will provide the paper with continuous national and world news from three in the afternoon to six in the morning.

football practice until Tuesday.

The first invitations to the 1950 State Junior College Basketball tournament at College Station went out Monday. The tournament will be held March 1, 2, and 3.

Tyler, Lon Morris, Del Mar of Corpus Christi, Amarillo and Allen Academy were extended invitations. Each of those teams was unbeaten in its own conference through Feb. 4.

Arkansas' aggressive Porkers were challenged by the Pittsburg (Kan.) Teachers Monday night, but the SWC five came through with a 41-36 win. Razorback center Bob Ambler missed the game because of a knee injury.

Matty Bell will referee the 1950 border olympics, March 10-11. The SMU athletic director's acceptance was announced Monday by R. W. Parker, director of the 18th annual track and field event.
