

Ags Finish Fourth At San Antonio

The Texas A&M Livestock Judging Team placed fourth in competition with fifteen other senior colleges at San Antonio Saturday, Coach W. W. Albert announced today.

Those competing from A&M were Douglas Wythe, Humberto Reyes, Bert Gibbs, Werner Lindig, and Glen Dunkle, with Maxie Overstreet as alternate.

Leading A&M judges were Missouri, Oklahoma A&M, and Kansas State. A&M was second in quarter horse judging, being beaten by six points by the Oklahoma team. Arkansas University beat A&M by six points in sheep judging, but five teams topped them in cattle judging.

In individual placings Douglas Wythe was 11th high man out of 75 in the contest, 2nd in sheep, 14th in cattle, and tied with Lindig and Reyes for third in horses. Reyes was 10th high individual in sheep.

SPECIAL RULES

or higher personal will have to go to the sidelines for only one minute.

In order to prevent excessive fouling on the part of individuals who might seek to use the "no-fouling-out-rules" as an excuse for roughing opponents, referees will have the power at any time to send a player from the court for the remainder of the game if he commits a deliberately flagrant, violent foul.

A special "fouls keeper" will be with the score keeper and will keep a record of the fouls and penalty times. Play will not be stopped to allow a player to reenter as soon as his penalty time is completed. He will have to wait until the first time the ball is dead before he can resume play.

The highly controversial two-minute rule also will be changed during the competition. During the final two minutes, when a man is fouled, the ball will be dead following his free shot—regardless of whether he makes it or not.

Jump at Charity Line

The dead ball then will be tossed up for a jump between the player who was fouled and the cager who fouled him. The jump will take place at the nearest free throw circle. The clock will be stopped when a foul is called and will be started as soon as the ball is tossed.

Ten teams are already definitely set for the tournament: defending champion, Tyler, Allen Academy, Lon Morris (only quarter to top Tyler this year), Amarillo, Del Mar of Corpus Christi, Wharton, Howard County of Big Springs, Paris, Blinn, and Schreiner Institute.

Five more squads were invited today: Laredo, Ranger, Navarro County, Kilgore, and Tarleton State. The sixteenth team will be announced today as soon as its acceptance is received. San Angelo had to drop out of the competition because of a siege of the mumps among its players.

H Air Force showed unique enthusiasm in Religious Emphasis on the campus last week with their "football sign" which hung on the west end of Dormitory Four during the week-long services.

Enlistment Quota Increased by Navy

The Navy is now accepting men for enlistment under the High School Graduate Training Program for training in aviation, electronics, interior communications, radio, radar, and other specialties, according to Chief Torpedoman Howard, local Navy Recruiter.

Navy enlistments have been on a restricted quota for the past several months but has now been increased for this area, said Howard.

Full information on Navy enlistments and the Navy's technical schools may be obtained at the U. S. Navy Recruiting Sub-station, Court House, Bryan, Texas.

played the conference champs, the powerful 1947 Texas Longhorns, in a Red Cross charity game in Austin.

In that one he played with such outstanding cagers as George Koke of Arkansas, Bill Tom of Rice and Jackie Robinson of Baylor. On the opposing team were two other hardwood foes, Slater Martin and Al Madsen of the Longhorns.

Garcia aiming for Pro Ranks Homer Adams, captain of the '45 Aggies, and local insurance salesman and real estate agent, won Garcia's praise as the most outstanding cager he has played with. "He never stopped hustling," commented Garcia.

The 170-pounder would like to play pro ball, but as yet has received no pro offers. "If not," said Mike, "I'll go on and get my masters in PE."

He considers Ralph Beard of Kentucky as the greatest player he has ever seen. Garcia described him as a wonderful ball handler who never missed the hoop and could fake you out of your underwear. "I know," said Mike, "he did it to me."

As to the most exciting game he ever participated in, Garcia, along with almost every Aggie cager, answered "this season's Baylor game."

Garcia lettered during the '46-'47 and the '47-'48 cage campaigns and will contribute his services for the last time in the TU game Feb. 28.
