among eight pitchers in the eight and one half inning contest. Morisse was the standout for the afternoon as he struck out five and walked but one in his two inning stand on the mound.

Fielding for both of the teams was capably handled as the Aggie basebalers showed definite evidence that they will be able contestants for the SWC diamond crown. Guy Wallace and Hershel Maltz were the outstanding fielders and also proved their worth at the plate getting two hits for five trips up.

"Shug" McPherson and Hollis Baker got a round tripper as each slammed one out of the park. Other standouts in the batter's box were Joe Savarino, getting three for six; Al Ogletree, one for two; and McPherson, two for four.

Close followers of pre-season practice and those who witnessed Saturday's game feel that if the hurlers round out to consistency, the fielders will afford the support needed to make the coming season successful.

Contractors Meet Wednesday Night

Discussion of an inspection trip to Austin, selection of a Cotton Ball Duches, and election of officers will be main topics of a meeting of the Association of General Contractors Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the CE lecture room, president Bob Page said this morning.

Page also requested that all members wear coats and ties to the meeting since the picture for the Aggie-land 1950 will be taken.
