

Dupuy Now On Muster Staff; Practice Held

Bill Dupuy, senior non-military student living in Puryear Hall, has been added to the Muster Program, Ken Landrum, student senate muster committee chairman, announced at Muster practice yesterday afternoon.

Dupuy will deliver the Muster Tradition reading on the program. On hand for the practice were members of the White Band commanded by Charlie Lundelius, the Singing Cadets led by Leonard Perkins, and students appearing on this year's Aggie Muster.

David Haines, College Station junior, will be this year's master of ceremonies. He served in that capacity last year for the 1949 Aggie Muster broadcast over the Texas Quality Network.

The invocation will be delivered by King Egger, corps chaplain. Doyle Avant, cadet colonel of the corps, will give a short response to the address by Louis A. Hartung, '29, president of the Association of Former Students.

Principal speaker of the Evening will be M. S. Church, prominent Dallas attorney.

Jack Norman will read the Roll Call For The Absent, a poem read at Musters. He will also call the roll of Aggies who have died over the past year. The roll will contain three former students who have died since the last Muster.

The closing ceremony includes a three volley salute to the men on roll call fired by a six man squad of the Ross Volunteers. The salute will be followed by Silver Taps.

This year's Aggie Muster will be held at 5 p. m. Friday in Guion Hall, Landrum said.

Freshmen to Hear Talk on MSC Jobs

J. Wayne Stark, director of Memorial Student Center, will speak to all freshmen interested in working in the student center, Thursday night at 8:30 at the Annex Theatre.

Chris Geier, Assistant director of Memorial Student Center, and Russell Wright student manager of the Cave, will also speak of the group. Stark will distribute and explain application forms to the freshmen gathering. He will also set up arrangements for initial interviews at a later date, for those who are interested.

Other matters to be discussed will be the pay scale, chances for advancement, what a student center job offers other than financial gain, and the type of men wanted for the positions.

Stray Dog Killed; Is Reported Mad

A report came from College Station city officials yesterday that a stray dog shot Saturday night was mad.

The dog's head was sent to the State Health Department in Austin, which reported the dog to have had rabies, according to City Manager Raymond Rogers.

The dog was killed on Jersey street near Consolidated High School and Highway 6 by Curtis Bullock, night patrolman here.

Nothing the hound when it attempted to bite the wheels of his car. Bullock shot the dog after observing its strange actions.

The small speckled canine wore no license tag.

Crisis at Issue Number 2,500 . . .

Amarillo Lass Wrecks Batt, Lokey's Lady Leaves Press

By C. C. MUNROE

Amarillo Aggies don't know it yet. Ted Lokey doesn't know it yet, and last of all, Miss Betty Joyce Scott doesn't know it yet, but she just about messed up the works for The Battalion Monday afternoon.

Betty is to be the Amarillo Club's duchess to the Cotton Ball and Ted Lokey is to be her escort.

Now Betty is a sharp looking young lady, one of the best. And she was scheduled to have her picture in column seven on Monday's front page. In fact, for 2,500 issues of the paper that day, Betty DID have her picture on the front page. That, however, was all.

Precisely on the 2,500th copy Betty and The Battalion ceased to become friends. It wasn't anything personal, you understand, but for a little while Monday she was the center of an awful lot of trouble in the print shop. Here's how it began.

TB Can Be Caught Early . . .

Tuberculosis Caught Early In Chest X-Ray Survey

By CATHERINE GENT

Is a pale, hallowed-eyed apparition, with no appetite, less endurance and a wracking cough, your conception of a tuberculosis suspect? If it is, then you are ten years behind the times.

Betty McDonald, author of the best seller, "The Egg and I," found that out. She was still entertaining a healthy tapeworm appetite and was only a little run down, from flu and a slight cold that hung on.

She found out, after taking a chest X-ray, that she had TB.

With no more symptoms than those, she entered a sanatorium listed as an advanced case. Now it is known that early TB usually has no symptoms at all. By the time one reaches the coughing, run-down, blood-spitting stage it is far advanced and difficult to cure.

Since TB is highly contagious it may be contacted any place.

A unit similar to the one that discovered Betty McDonald's TB is now in operation in the YMCA, Students and Citizens of College Station and the surrounding country are eligible for the free chest X-Ray survey.

The time involved is minute, in comparison with the saving in time and money if TB is caught while still in the early stages. For if TB is caught in the early stages, it may be the only medicine needed.

At the Annex last week, 1,435 persons had their pictures made. This included the students, faculty, staff, clerical workers and all. Although the service is free, this is not a charity project. It is a "census of Chest Health." With this survey or census it is hoped that TB will be wiped out of existence in a similar manner to the killing out of small pox by vaccination.

For the campaign to be effective at least 80 percent of the population must be X-rayed, Mrs. A. A. Blumberg, executive secretary of the Brazos County Tuberculosis Association said.

There is no undressing nor is an appointment necessary. The unit will be in operation from 8:30 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. today through Friday.

On Saturday the hours are from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. The staff will not stop for the noon hour, Mrs. Blumberg added.

This project is an undertaking of the National and State Health Departments in an effort to eliminate TB from the position of a major health problem in the United States.

The primary aim of the survey is to discover unsuspected cases in each community, so they may be isolated, treated, and returned to normal life. In addition to discovering TB suspects the portable X-ray will also show chest disorders such things as scars from pneumonia, pleurisy, cancer or even the shadow of an enlarged heart.

In the cases of a chest disorder, the report is forwarded to the individual's doctor. All of these reports are kept confidential between you and your physician, Mrs. Blumberg said.

Senior Meeting Set Thursday

The Senior Class will meet Thursday at 7:15 p. m. in the YMCA Chapel, Bobby Byington, class president, said today.

Included on the agenda for the meeting will be selection of a class agent and designation of a place to hold the Senior Ring Dance.

The dance can be held either at the Grove or at Sbisla Hall, Byington said.

The class agent will be responsible for making regular news reports to the Texas Aggie, newspaper of the Former Students' Association. He also writes three or four letters a year to be sent to each member of the class.

The agent receives and collects information from all class members. He is also the class' representative to the Former Students' Association Council.

Any men interested in applying for the position of class agent was asked to contact Byington before the meeting.

Election Dates Set for '50-'51 Junior Officers

Another spring election is in the making. Candidates for next year's eight junior class officers may begin filing today, R. A. "Dick" Ingels, Sophomore Class president, announced at a class meeting last night.

Applications for candidacy will be received in the Student Activities office, 209 Goodwin Hall, until noon Saturday, April 22. After this time, no applications will be received, Ingels said.

The eight offices include president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, social secretary, parliamentarian, sergeant-at-arms, and reporter-historian.

Primary elections will be held Tuesday night, April 24, he said, with run-offs scheduled for Thursday night, April 26.

Next year's junior yell leaders will be chosen in the same elections, according to Ingels. Fifteen candidates had applied for the two positions when the filing deadline fell last Saturday at noon.

Voting will be by secret ballot, with a man appointed to distribute and collect ballots in each dormitory. These ballots will be returned to an appointed election committee, Ingels said, which will tabulate and announce the results.

A&M's sophomores have been invited to Saturday night's Annual Spring Formal of the TSCW Sophomore Class. Ingels read a letter from the class president, in which an invitation was contained.

Inter-Church Film Program Planned

An inter-church movie program and fellowship hour is being planned for Wednesday, April 19, at 7 p. m. in the YMCA chapel, Jarvis Miller, president of the YMCA Cabinet, said this morning.

Present plans are to show three short movies—"The Leadeth Me," "One God," and "The House I Live In," starring Frank Sinatra.

The purpose of this meeting is to try to bring all the different student religious groups on the campus together to become better acquainted, Miller said.

This program is intended to close the gap existing in our religious activities, the inter-church phase, he added. After the movies, refreshments will be served.

Coslett, Selph New Co-Editors; First Time With Two Corps Men

Committee Asks Guarantee Of Privacy Rights

A resolution calling for stricter college regulations guaranteeing student rights of privacy was sent to the Academic Council yesterday by the Student Life Committee.

The resolution, if approved by the council, would require the presence of an authorized student at any search of student belongings conducted by college authorities.

Specifically, the resolution recommends alteration of a current college regulation. The regulation states: "Personal belongings of students are subject to inspection by the Dean of Students or his authorized representative at all times."

Dave Coslett Clayton L. Selph

Unopposed Pair Win Top Posts Without Race

By virtue of the Student Life Committee passing a recommendation by the Election Committee of the Student Senate, Dave Coslett and Clayton Selph yesterday afternoon became co-editors of The Battalion for the 1950-51 school year.

The student life group approved by unanimous vote the recommendation of the senate that if in the event there were no qualified candidates for neither the military or non-military co-editor positions, both co-editors would be elected from the list of qualified candidates by a campus-wide election. Being the only two qualified candidates to file before last Saturday's filing deadline, Coslett and Selph are assured of the co-editor positions.

Background

Coslett, a junior journalism major from Miles, is this year's feature editor of The Battalion, has worked three years on the Batt staff, and was elected to Who's Who on the campus. In A Flight Air Force, he is an opportunity award scholarship winner, and recently edited The Battalion's national first-place Christmas safety section.

Selph, a junior journalism major from Houston, is currently managing editor of The Battalion, and is also a three-year staff veteran. A member of H Flight Air Force, he served as summer co-editor of The Batt last year, and worked with this year's co-editors on the 1949 Freshman edition, the largest Batt ever published.

Juniors Now Filing For Senior Offices

Eleven juniors had filed for next year's senior class offices yesterday at the close of the first day of filing. Several candidates had filed for most of the offices and at least one aspirant had filed for each position.

Vice-presidential candidates are Bill Parse, civil engineering major from Tulsa, Oklahoma, of B So. Engineers, Braden McAllister, architecture major from San Antonio of C Battery, Field Artillery, and Ralph Gorman, architecture student from Port Arthur of C Troop Cavalry.

Those who have filed for secretary-treasurer are Herbert G. Mills, geological engineering student from San Antonio who is on the Corps Staff, and Herman Gollob, English major from Houston of H Flight Air Force.

Social secretary aspirants are Kenneth W. Schaeke, business major from Chilton of B Co. Infantry, Jes D. McIver, civil engineering student from Honey Grove of B Co. Engineers, and Joseph D. Hinton, architecture major from Abilene in C Battery Field Artillery.

George Charlton, Journalism major from Dallas of A Flight Air Force was the only candidate for Class Historian.

Deadline for filing for senior class offices will be April 24.

Official campaigning may begin as soon as the candidate has filed. No limit has been set on the amount a candidate may spend on his campaign. The only campaigning regulations that the candidate must follow are those required by the college concerning posting of campaign signs.

Election of officers will be held April 27 in a joint meeting of both corps and non-corps juniors. All voting will be by secret ballot.

The program is expected to last an hour, Lt. Col. Adams said.

Band Schedules Annual Concert

The A&M Band will hold its Annual Spring Concert Tuesday, April 25, at 7:30 p. m. in Guion Hall, Lt. Col. Vergne Adams, band director announced today.

The band will present a program of varied music including concert marches, overtures, novelty numbers, and two instrumental quartets.

This concert has been designed to appeal to the musical tastes of almost anyone. Lt. Col. Adams said. He emphasized the fact that the concert is one of the highlights of the band's activities for the year.

Two instrumental quartets will be featured in this year's concert. Wayne Dunlap, Richard Lay, R. L. Robinson, and W. J. Aaberg will be featured in a cornet quartet, and E. D. Snead, Gordon Keller, Charles Rowen, and T. W. Carlisle will be featured in a trombone quartet.

The program is expected to last an hour, Lt. Col. Adams said.

No Election Report

No report on the official slate of candidates for the coming general campus election was made by the Senate election committee today because of a delay in checking grade point ratio qualifications.

Wednesday's Battalion will carry the complete list of qualified candidates as well as the official election date.

Take a Break

An Aggie invaded the SMU campus this past weekend and in his wanderings over "The Hill" he chanced to come upon the Methodist's Engineering Show.

Strolling about on the first floor the College Station visitor noticed signs suggesting he visit Exhibit 53A on the second floor. Motivated by curiosity he climbed the stairs and headed for a doorway over which hung a sign proclaiming that inside was Exhibit 53A.

Beside the sign was another notice, "Drafting Students Hard at Work—Do Not Disturb—Texas A&M Students, No Doubt."

Resolving to keep as quiet as possible, the Aggie whose curiosity was thoroughly aroused turned the knob, opened the door and looked in.

Forty drafting tables were lined up inside. Equipment lay ready for use. Only one thing was missing. Not another person was in the room.

Here's partial proof of how hard The Battalion Staff worked putting out yesterday's Last-O, while Dean Eed and Lynn Skelton, editor of the Lass-O, check over the latest wire copy, which was used to fill the paper. L. O. Tiedt smugly writes a letter home asking for more money for the weekend. Sitting in the center of the table is Clayton Selph who is cleaning the typewriter with the help of Betty Chamberlain.
