

Major General Hobart R. Gay

The commanding general of the 1st Cavalry Division has sent a Japanese battle flag and officers sword to be given to the A&M Cavalry Squadron at Sunday's corps review. The gifts are from the officers and men of the division, now stationed in Japan.

Spring Dairy Show Is Set For Saturday

The 14th Annual Spring Dairy Show, sponsored by the Kream and Kow Klub, will be presented Saturday, Open House Day, at the Dairy Barn, according to C. T. Hand, club president.

Besides the dairy show, there will be numerous other shows and exhibits in various departments. The show will begin at 1 p. m.

Cows will be judged in 12 brackets, with prize money offered in individual classes. The prize money will be divided $4, $3, $2, and $1. It will be further divided, Hand said, 50 per cent for fitting and training, and 50 per cent on individuality of the animals.

There will be two combinations of placing in each class; first on individuality, second, on fitting and training. This does not apply to best udder cow class, according to Hand.

Judging will be first divided into Jerseys and Holsteins. Under Jerseys, classifications include senior yearling heifers, junior yearling heifers, and senior heifer calf. Others are the junior heifer calf, sub-junior heifer calf, and the best udder Jersey.

For the Holstein bracket, judging will include senior yearling heifer, junior yearling heifer, senior heifer calf, junior heifer calf, sub-junior, and the best udder Holstein.

Both classes will have a champion and a reserve champion, Hand said.

Senior Yell Leaders, 50-51

Don Joseph

Joseph, one of this year's junior yell leaders, won his race for the 1950-51 senior yell leader position last week in an election by the Class of '51, the incoming seniors. Joseph is a member of K Flight Air Force.

James Pianta

Pianta, freshman yell leader of the Class of '51, was elected one of the senior yell leaders for next year by a class ballot last week. Pianta is a member of A Infantry.

Phi Kappa Phi Names New Officers, Members

Officers and spring initiates of Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society for scholarship, have been announced by President Robert M. Holcombe. Phi Kappa Phi is a group of distinguished faculty members and alumni, and the highest one-sixtieth of the graduating class.

President-elect is Dr. Walter A. Varvel, of the Department of Education and Psychology. Vice-president is Dr. E. C. Koppie, of the Mathematics Department, and treasurer is Fred J. Benson, of the Civil Engineering Department.

Secretary and journal correspondents were elected for a two-year term last year. They are Richard L. Patrick of the Ag Engineering Department, secretary, and Dr. Paul Woods of the History Department, journal correspondent.

Dr. Horace G. Johnston, Dr. Ralph W. Steen, Dr. John P. Abbott, Dr. Philip T. Murdoch, Dr. Samuel R. Wright, Virgil M. Farves, and Harley C. Dillingham, Dr. John H. M. Bill, Dr. Patton W. Wright, and Isaac T. D. Brooks.

Graduate Students

Two graduate students elected to the group were Charles W. Cook and Eddie Ortiz.

Agriculture Students

Students elected for membership are as follows:

Henry L. Vaughn, Donald V. Allison, Kenneth M. Schackelford, Bobby E. Greenwood, Teddy D. Hodges, Albert Dittmar, John W. Exley, Phil B. Kosow, Ken Kumhar, William C. Zelman, William L. Hoover, Lance E. Cahoon, George R. Gilbert, Everett G. Jackson, John A. Montemano, Row "Kud" Johnson, F. H. Treckmann, L. M. Barber, and George G. McFee.

Veterinary Medicine Students

Students in Phi Kappa Phi are Joseph R. Goulet, Lester Johnson, and Jack D. Robbins.

Arts and Sciences Initiates

Students in the School of Engineering selected are Raymond P. Hudson, Joe P. Maddox, Ross J. Burns, Franklin A. Cleland, James C. Franklin, Roy Lee, Jr., Clifford A. Miller, John F. Taylor, Charles E. Underhill, Jack E. Breen, Lyn T. Stanley, James D. Grant, George T. Keene, Elwood L. Carlson, Wilbur E. Hoyler, James E. Sharp, Lloyd E. Carroll, George H. Ford, Bob H. Reed, Sabat Joseph, James T. Martin, Charles E. Gobble, Warren G. Brennan, R. B. English, J. E. Knight, N. C. Heffron, D. A. Kirkard, Gerald Betts, George W. Barley, F. N. Kusenberger, C. D. Whittington, and R. P. Nuccio.

Gals Aplenty Show Set for '50 Follies

By JOHN WHITMORE

What would things around A&M be like if there were girls on the campus?

This year's Aggie Follies is going to try telling this story and show that cadet life wouldn't be all Petty Girls and moonlight on the drill field. To help explain what would happen, the theme of the Follies will be "There's Nothing Like a Dame."

Musical parts of the program will be provided by six different musical organizations. These musical ensembles will include the Singing Cadets, the Aggieldand Orchestra, the Annex Dixie Land Jazz Band, and Uncle Ed Harrington and his Coon Chasers.

In addition the 1950 Follies has imported a band from behind the Iron Curtain, Burko Weller, director of the Follies, says. The Schumaltz Sextet and Frieda have recently come to this country from the Russian occupied sector of Berlin. They will bring with them the latest best songs, fresh from the Berlin hit parade.

Bud Barlow, Drums, and Boys will be on hand for their fourth appearance at the Aggie Follies. Bud, in his spare time is the dean of the School of Engineering. His boys suit in as profits in various departments on the campus.

Recently Bud's orchestra (also known as Bud Barlow and his Brazos Bottom Boogie Busters, Dr. Howard H. Barlow and his Philharmonic Orchestra and other aliases) turned down an engagement for a movie short. Bud said, "Julius (Pettilio) wanted wanted too big a cut in the profits, so we declined."

Shakespeare's adage of the "Whole world is a stage" will be brought out, Weller says, since anything may happen from the first floor to the balcony.

According to the script, which is looked up nightly in the Chemistry Department's safe, there will be Petty girls, pretty girls, and just girls on the Guion Hall Stage.

Jack Norman will act as the emcee, or referee, for the evening, aiding him by keeping track of the girls on the show will be a special detachment of Ks.

Tickets may be purchased from first sergeants in the corps or in the Student Activities office in Goodwin Hall, Madley's Pharmacy, Blacks Pharmacy or Lipscomb Pharmacy in College Station. James "Red" Duke, chairman of the ticket sales committee, announced today.

Tickets are also available at W.S.D. in Bryan and in the Annex Student Lounge, Duke said.

Different colored tickets will be sold for each performance on Friday and Saturday Night in order that the ticket sales for either night will not exceed the seating capacity of Guion Hall.

The tickets for the two nights will not be interchangeable, Duke pointed out.

All students and local citizens are requested to attend the Follies on Friday evening, Charlie Modisett, chairman of the All College Day Committee, said.

This request is being made in order that parents and friends of the students may see the performance on Saturday night.

Extermination Program Set To Kill Rodents

Instructions for the extermination of rats will be given Thursday, May 11, at 8 a. m. in Room 11 of the Civil Engineering Building. James E. Poore, mammal control supervisor of the Extension Service, has agreed to conduct this short period of instruction.

"It has been brought to the attention of the Sanitary Board of this College that certain parts of the campus are infested with rats, that they are on the increase, and are fast becoming a menace to the health of the community," Colonel H. L. Bolner, commandant said this morning. "Remedial steps in order to be effective must be continuous and systematic and will require the effort and cooperation of all departments and business establishments in the City of College Station," Col. Bolner added. Each department is requested to have representative at the instruction period Thursday morning. Local merchants and individuals who have an interest in this program are also invited to attend.

Phi Kappa Phi Names New Officers, Members

Officers and spring initiates of Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society for scholarship, have been announced by President Robert M. Holcombe. Phi Kappa Phi is a group of distinguished faculty members and alumni, and the highest one-sixtieth of the graduating class.

President-elect is Dr. Walter A. Varvel, of the Department of Education and Psychology. Vice-president is Dr. E. C. Koppie, of the Mathematics Department, and treasurer is Fred J. Benson, of the Civil Engineering Department.

Secretary and journal correspondents were elected for a two-year term last year. They are Richard L. Patrick of the Ag Engineering Department, secretary, and Dr. Paul Woods of the History Department, journal correspondent.

Aims Set Forth

Primary mission of Phi Kappa Phi is to recognize honor faculty members who have distinguished themselves as alumni, who have distinguished themselves since graduation, and the highest one-sixtieth of the senior class who show high scholarship and class room integrity. Holcombe said.

The society holds two elections of members each year. A few members are elected in the fall and the rest are elected in the spring.

Phi Kappa Phi members elected to the group this spring are R. E. Patton, Dr. John Omswiler, and

Veterans' Officials To Visit A&M Campus

Representatives from the War of 1812 of the Veterans Administration will be on the Campus Thursday from 9:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. in Room 290 Buggell Hall, according to Taylor-Veterans, veterans advisor.

Any veteran with any type of problem related to the Veterans Administration Program is encouraged to talk with these representatives, Wilkins said.

Tom Puddy — Aggieldand's Showman De Luxe

Movie Man Brought Gilt to Guion

By JOHN WHITMORE

Tom Puddy, manager of Guion Hall, is what might be termed a "Jack of all trades." In addition to being a theater manager he is an interior decorator, a machinist, a designer, a projection maintainer, a photographer and a radio repairman.

All of these talents were of use to him when he first came to A&M in 1943. He was the first full time manager to run Guion Hall.

Until he came, Guion Hall was run as a part time theater sponsored by the YMCA.

Before he came here he was an instructor for Hughes Tool Company, but he had previously spent his life in movie houses of one sort or another. For a while he worked for the Griffen Circuit as a traveling manager. It was his job to pull a motion picture house that was losing money back into the black.

This was the situation when he came to Guion. It depended on outside funds for all of its work. In addition to this lack of money, says Tom, it was equipped with "museum pieces."

From the first, he started building it up. He reworked all of the machinery, ordered new parts to keep the old relics going for a while and "hung things together with baling wire."

"When I first came," Tom says, "I looked inside Guion—it looked like a barn." The seats then were wooden uprights, the interior decorating was nil and, in general, it was run down.

The first thing he did to remodel was to start repainting and repairing the plaster. Later he received money to replace the seats and completely re-decorate the inside.

This entailed more than meets the eye. Guion Hall is one of the biggest auditoriums in the state being used as a movie theater. For instance, getting carpets was a major war with the theater outfitters. He needed 370 yards, to cover the aisles and lobby and suppliers wouldn't release them. The candy counter had to be one of the biggest available.

After the inside was looking better, the machinery started giving out. New parts were ordered. Many of them were modified to fit the old parts.

In one case Tom fitted a new piece of sound equipment on to an old part—it worked very well. The next day he received word that the part he had modified could not be modified — "Well," Tom says, "it still works so I haven't bothered to change it."

During our interview a number of students came into Tom's picture-lined office quite often to ask question about cameras. Tom is one of the best in this area.

"There is only one time," Tom said, "since I can remember that I left the theater I became a painter. You know what my first job was? To paint the inside of a theater. It was a small town house and the local citizens had the habit of spitting tobacco juice on the wall. I painted in brown splashes to match and it worked very well."

Tom Puddy

biggest auditoriums in the state being used as a movie theater. For instance, getting carpets was a major war with the theater outfitters. He needed 370 yards, to cover the aisles and lobby and suppliers wouldn't release them. The candy counter had to be one of the biggest available.

After the inside was looking better, the machinery started giving out. New parts were ordered. Many of them were modified to fit the old parts.

In one case Tom fitted a new piece of sound equipment on to an old part—it worked very well. The next day he received word that the part he had modified could not be modified — "Well," Tom says, "it still works so I haven't bothered to change it."

During our interview a number of students came into Tom's picture-lined office quite often to ask question about cameras. Tom is one of the best in this area.

"There is only one time," Tom said, "since I can remember that I left the theater I became a painter. You know what my first job was? To paint the inside of a theater. It was a small town house and the local citizens had the habit of spitting tobacco juice on the wall. I painted in brown splashes to match and it worked very well."

Corps Awards Set for Sunday

By RAY WILLIAMS

Presentation of the annual awards for military scholarship and excellence will be made in conjunction with the All-College week-end May 13 and 14.

Actual presentation of awards will be made at the Parents Day review on the main parade ground at 9:30 a. m. Sunday.

These awards are presented every year to men who have made outstanding accomplishments in the field of their military duty, and to outstanding units of the Corps of Cadets.

They are to be awarded to both individuals and groups who have excelled themselves militarily during the past school year.

Moore Award

"Cream of the crop" for unit recognition is the General George F. Moore Award, presented annually to the best all-around corps unit. The company is chosen on its military proficiency, scholastic standing, intramural participation, and extra-curricular activities. The award is to be presented by W. L. Penberthy, dean of students.

Another top military organizational award is the Houston Chamber of Commerce Military Affairs Committee award. Given to the unit deemed outstanding in military proficiency, a maroon and white citation cord marks the members of the winning unit.

Non-Corps Awards

Each outstanding non-commissioned cadet officer in each regiment will also receive an award from the Houston group.

The Texas Department of the Reserve Officers Association will award a saber, to be presented to the outstanding cadet officer of the year. Selection is based on academic standing, leadership, and military proficiency.

The Caldwell Trophy—a watch presented to the most outstanding junior of the Corps—will also be awarded. The winner is chosen by the Military Science Department with selection based on scholastic standing, military proficiency, and extra-curricular activities.

To Outstanding Junior

Mrs. Frank G. Trau, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will present $200 cash to some outstanding junior for the DAR.

The Albert Sidney Johnston saber, given by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, will be presented by Mrs. Coke Tilley, president of the Texas chapter, to an outstanding cadet.

The Federated A&M Mothers Club award, a bronze cup and key, will be presented to the outstanding classified sophomore in the Corps. Selection is based on academic record, leadership, aptitude, extra-curricular activities and drill.

Rifle marksmanship awards to be presented are the William Randolph Hearst Trophy, first place award for the Fourth Army area.

First Place Award

For the first time, keys will be awarded to officers on the Corps Staff, regimental commanders, battalion and company commanders. Heretofore, only company commanders received keys.

The Lullie Huey Lane Scholarship award of $200 cash will be awarded by the Texas Association of Daughters of 1812 to a sophomore liberal arts student.

The Sons of the American Revolution Award and medal will be presented by Robert G. Wagner, president of the group.

Alamo Essays

Two awards of $150 and $50 for essays on the Military History of the Siege of the Alamo will be presented by the San Antonio A&M Club.

Branch awards to individual students will be presented by the senior staff members of the Military Science Department. These awards are for Air Force, Chemical Warfare, Coast Artillery, Engineers, Field Artillery, Ordnance, Quartermaster, Signal Corps, and Transportation Corps.

The winners of these awards will be announced at the time of the presentation, on the main drill field.

Non-Corps Awards

Each outstanding non-commissioned cadet officer in each regiment will also receive an award from the Houston group.

The Texas Department of the Reserve Officers Association will award a saber, to be presented to the outstanding cadet officer of the year. Selection is based on academic standing, leadership, and military proficiency.

The Caldwell Trophy—a watch presented to the most outstanding junior of the Corps—will also be awarded. The winner is chosen by the Military Science Department with selection based on scholastic standing, military proficiency, and extra-curricular activities.

To Outstanding Junior

Mrs. Frank G. Trau, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will present $200 cash to some outstanding junior for the DAR.

The Albert Sidney Johnston saber, given by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, will be presented by Mrs. Coke Tilley, president of the Texas chapter, to an outstanding cadet.

The Federated A&M Mothers Club award, a bronze cup and key, will be presented to the outstanding classified sophomore in the Corps. Selection is based on academic record, leadership, aptitude, extra-curricular activities and drill.

Rifle marksmanship awards to be presented are the William Randolph Hearst Trophy, first place award for the Fourth Army area.

First Place Award

For the first time, keys will be awarded to officers on the Corps Staff, regimental commanders, battalion and company commanders. Heretofore, only company commanders received keys.

The Lullie Huey Lane Scholarship award of $200 cash will be awarded by the Texas Association of Daughters of 1812 to a sophomore liberal arts student.

The Sons of the American Revolution Award and medal will be presented by Robert G. Wagner, president of the group.

Alamo Essays

Two awards of $150 and $50 for essays on the Military History of the Siege of the Alamo will be presented by the San Antonio A&M Club.

Branch awards to individual students will be presented by the senior staff members of the Military Science Department. These awards are for Air Force, Chemical Warfare, Coast Artillery, Engineers, Field Artillery, Ordnance, Quartermaster, Signal Corps, and Transportation Corps.

The winners of these awards will be announced at the time of the presentation, on the main drill field.

Non-Corps Awards

Each outstanding non-commissioned cadet officer in each regiment will also receive an award from the Houston group.

The Texas Department of the Reserve Officers Association will award a saber, to be presented to the outstanding cadet officer of the year. Selection is based on academic standing, leadership, and military proficiency.

The Caldwell Trophy—a watch presented to the most outstanding junior of the Corps—will also be awarded. The winner is chosen by the Military Science Department with selection based on scholastic standing, military proficiency, and extra-curricular activities.

To Outstanding Junior

Mrs. Frank G. Trau, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will present $200 cash to some outstanding junior for the DAR.

The Albert Sidney Johnston saber, given by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, will be presented by Mrs. Coke Tilley, president of the Texas chapter, to an outstanding cadet.

The Federated A&M Mothers Club award, a bronze cup and key, will be presented to the outstanding classified sophomore in the Corps. Selection is based on academic record, leadership, aptitude, extra-curricular activities and drill.

Rifle marksmanship awards to be presented are the William Randolph Hearst Trophy, first place award for the Fourth Army area.

First Place Award

For the first time, keys will be awarded to officers on the Corps Staff, regimental commanders, battalion and company commanders. Heretofore, only company commanders received keys.

The Lullie Huey Lane Scholarship award of $200 cash will be awarded by the Texas Association of Daughters of 1812 to a sophomore liberal arts student.

The Sons of the American Revolution Award and medal will be presented by Robert G. Wagner, president of the group.

Alamo Essays

Two awards of $150 and $50 for essays on the Military History of the Siege of the Alamo will be presented by the San Antonio A&M Club.

Branch awards to individual students will be presented by the senior staff members of the Military Science Department. These awards are for Air Force, Chemical Warfare, Coast Artillery, Engineers, Field Artillery, Ordnance, Quartermaster, Signal Corps, and Transportation Corps.

The winners of these awards will be announced at the time of the presentation, on the main drill field.

Non-Corps Awards

Each outstanding non-commissioned cadet officer in each regiment will also receive an award from the Houston group.

The Texas Department of the Reserve Officers Association will award a saber, to be presented to the outstanding cadet officer of the year. Selection is based on academic standing, leadership, and military proficiency.

The Caldwell Trophy—a watch presented to the most outstanding junior of the Corps—will also be awarded. The winner is chosen by the Military Science Department with selection based on scholastic standing, military proficiency, and extra-curricular activities.

To Outstanding Junior

Mrs. Frank G. Trau, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will present $200 cash to some outstanding junior for the DAR.

The Albert Sidney Johnston saber, given by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, will be presented by Mrs. Coke Tilley, president of the Texas chapter, to an outstanding cadet.

The Federated A&M Mothers Club award, a bronze cup and key, will be presented to the outstanding classified sophomore in the Corps. Selection is based on academic record, leadership, aptitude, extra-curricular activities and drill.

Rifle marksmanship awards to be presented are the William Randolph Hearst Trophy, first place award for the Fourth Army area.

First Place Award

For the first time, keys will be awarded to officers on the Corps Staff, regimental commanders, battalion and company commanders. Heretofore, only company commanders received keys.

The Lullie Huey Lane Scholarship award of $200 cash will be awarded by the Texas Association of Daughters of 1812 to a sophomore liberal arts student.

The Sons of the American Revolution Award and medal will be presented by Robert G. Wagner, president of the group.

Alamo Essays

Two awards of $150 and $50 for essays on the Military History of the Siege of the Alamo will be presented by the San Antonio A&M Club.

Branch awards to individual students will be presented by the senior staff members of the Military Science Department. These awards are for Air Force, Chemical Warfare, Coast Artillery, Engineers, Field Artillery, Ordnance, Quartermaster, Signal Corps, and Transportation Corps.

The winners of these awards will be announced at the time of the presentation, on the main drill field.

Non-Corps Awards

Each outstanding non-commissioned cadet officer in each regiment will also receive an award from the Houston group.

The Texas Department of the Reserve Officers Association will award a saber, to be presented to the outstanding cadet officer of the year. Selection is based on academic standing, leadership, and military proficiency.

The Caldwell Trophy—a watch presented to the most outstanding junior of the Corps—will also be awarded. The winner is chosen by the Military Science Department with selection based on scholastic standing, military proficiency, and extra-curricular activities.

To Outstanding Junior

Mrs. Frank G. Trau, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will present $200 cash to some outstanding junior for the DAR.

The Albert Sidney Johnston saber, given by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, will be presented by Mrs. Coke Tilley, president of the Texas chapter, to an outstanding cadet.

The Federated A&M Mothers Club award, a bronze cup and key, will be presented to the outstanding classified sophomore in the Corps. Selection is based on academic record, leadership, aptitude, extra-curricular activities and drill.

Rifle marksmanship awards to be presented are the William Randolph Hearst Trophy, first place award for the Fourth Army area.

First Place Award

For the first time, keys will be awarded to officers on the Corps Staff, regimental commanders, battalion and company commanders. Heretofore, only company commanders received keys.

The Lullie Huey Lane Scholarship award of $200 cash will be awarded by the Texas Association of Daughters of 1812 to a sophomore liberal arts student.

The Sons of the American Revolution Award and medal will be presented by Robert G. Wagner, president of the group.

Alamo Essays

Two awards of $150 and $50 for essays on the Military History of the Siege of the Alamo will be presented by the San Antonio A&M Club.

Branch awards to individual students will be presented by the senior staff members of the Military Science Department. These awards are for Air Force, Chemical Warfare, Coast Artillery, Engineers, Field Artillery, Ordnance, Quartermaster, Signal Corps, and Transportation Corps.

The winners of these awards will be announced at the time of the presentation, on the main drill field.

Non-Corps Awards

Each outstanding non-commissioned cadet officer in each regiment will also receive an award from the Houston group.

The Texas Department of the Reserve Officers Association will award a saber, to be presented to the outstanding cadet officer of the year. Selection is based on academic standing, leadership, and military proficiency.

The Caldwell Trophy—a watch presented to the most outstanding junior of the Corps—will also be awarded. The winner is chosen by the Military Science Department with selection based on scholastic standing, military proficiency, and extra-curricular activities.

To Outstanding Junior

Mrs. Frank G. Trau, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will present $200 cash to some outstanding junior for the DAR.

The Albert Sidney Johnston saber, given by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, will be presented by Mrs. Coke Tilley, president of the Texas chapter, to an outstanding cadet.

The Federated A&M Mothers Club award, a bronze cup and key, will be presented to the outstanding classified sophomore in the Corps. Selection is based on academic record, leadership, aptitude, extra-curricular activities and drill.

Rifle marksmanship awards to be presented are the William Randolph Hearst Trophy, first place award for the Fourth Army area.

First Place Award

For the first time, keys will be awarded to officers on the Corps Staff, regimental commanders, battalion and company commanders. Heretofore, only company commanders received keys.

The Lullie Huey Lane Scholarship award of $200 cash will be awarded by the Texas Association of Daughters of 1812 to a sophomore liberal arts student.

The Sons of the American Revolution Award and medal will be presented by Robert G. Wagner, president of the group.

Alamo Essays

Two awards of $150 and $50 for essays on the Military History of the Siege of the Alamo will be presented by the San Antonio A&M Club.

Branch awards to individual students will be presented by the senior staff members of the Military Science Department. These awards are for Air Force, Chemical Warfare, Coast Artillery, Engineers, Field Artillery, Ordnance, Quartermaster, Signal Corps, and Transportation Corps.

The winners of these awards will be announced at the time of the presentation, on the main drill field.

Annex 'Unrest' Rumor Spiked

A report in a Bryan morning newspaper that "Bryan Field apparently had its second mass demonstration within three days Monday night" was proved to be false this morning.

The so-called "mass meeting" involved a total of six students. The story reported an Annex veteran freshman as saying a cross was burned in front of the Annex Administration Building.

Actually the six students, who fled in two cars, started a small fire which was extinguished by a campus patrolman.

There has been no mass demonstration nor anything like a mass demonstration within the past three days as the Bryan paper reported, Annex officials said.

The report in the Bryan morning newspaper followed on the heels of a front page story in a Houston paper which implied general unrest among Annex students. Personal investigation by the editors of The Battalion revealed that no such unrest exists.

Disciplinary action taken against a few students recently is believed to have been the cause for the misleading newspaper reports.

A report in a Bryan morning newspaper that "Bryan Field apparently had its second mass demonstration within three days Monday night" was proved to be false this morning.

The so-called "mass meeting" involved a total of six students. The story reported an Annex veteran freshman as saying a cross was burned in front of the Annex Administration Building.

Actually the six students, who fled in two cars, started a small fire which was extinguished by a campus patrolman.

There has been no mass demonstration nor anything like a mass demonstration within the past three days as the Bryan paper reported, Annex officials said.

The report in the Bryan morning newspaper followed on the heels of a front page story in a Houston paper which implied general unrest among Annex students. Personal investigation by the editors of The Battalion revealed that no such unrest exists.

Disciplinary action taken against a few students recently is believed to have been the cause for the misleading newspaper reports.

A report in a Bryan morning newspaper that "Bryan Field apparently had its second mass demonstration within three days Monday night" was proved to be false this morning.

The so-called "mass meeting" involved a total of six students. The story reported an Annex veteran freshman as saying a cross was burned in front of the Annex Administration Building.

Actually the six students, who fled in two cars, started a small fire which was extinguished by a campus patrolman.

There has been no mass demonstration nor anything like a mass demonstration within the past three days as the Bryan paper reported, Annex officials said.

The report in the Bryan morning newspaper followed on the heels of a front page story in a Houston paper which implied general unrest among Annex students. Personal investigation by the editors of The Battalion revealed that no such unrest exists.

Disciplinary action taken against a few students recently is believed to have been the cause for the misleading newspaper reports.

A report in a Bryan morning newspaper that "Bryan Field apparently had its second mass demonstration within three days Monday night" was proved to be false this morning.

The so-called "mass meeting" involved a total of six students. The story reported an Annex veteran freshman as saying a cross was burned in front of the Annex Administration Building.

Actually the six students, who fled in two cars, started a small fire which was extinguished by a campus patrolman.

There has been no mass demonstration nor anything like a mass demonstration within the past three days as the Bryan paper reported, Annex officials said.

The report in the Bryan morning newspaper followed on the heels of a front page story in a Houston paper which implied general unrest among Annex students. Personal investigation by the editors of The Battalion revealed that no such unrest exists.

Disciplinary action taken against a few students recently is believed to have been the cause for the misleading newspaper reports.

A report in a Bryan morning newspaper that "Bryan Field apparently had its second mass demonstration within three days Monday night" was proved to be false this morning.

The so-called "mass meeting" involved a total of six students. The story reported an Annex veteran freshman as saying a cross was burned in front of the Annex Administration Building.

Actually the six students, who fled in two cars, started a small fire which was extinguished by a campus patrolman.

There has been no mass demonstration nor anything like a mass demonstration within the past three days as the Bryan paper reported, Annex officials said.

The report in the Bryan morning newspaper followed on the heels of a front page story in a Houston paper which implied general unrest among Annex students. Personal investigation by the editors of The Battalion revealed that no such unrest exists.

Disciplinary action taken against a few students recently is believed to have been the cause for the misleading newspaper reports.

A report in a Bryan morning newspaper that "Bryan Field apparently had its second mass demonstration within three days Monday night" was proved to be false this morning.

The so-called "mass meeting" involved a total of six students. The story reported an Annex veteran freshman as saying a cross was burned in front of the Annex Administration Building.

Actually the six students, who fled in two cars, started a small fire which was extinguished by a campus patrolman.

There has been no mass demonstration nor anything like a mass demonstration within the past three days as the Bryan paper reported, Annex officials said.

The report in the Bryan morning newspaper followed on the heels of a front page story in a Houston paper which implied general unrest among Annex students. Personal investigation by the editors of The Battalion revealed that no such unrest exists.

Disciplinary action taken against a few students recently is believed to have been the cause for the misleading newspaper reports.

A report in a Bryan morning newspaper that "Bryan Field apparently had its second mass demonstration within three days Monday night" was proved to be false this morning.

The so-called "mass meeting" involved a total of six students. The story reported an Annex veteran freshman as saying a cross was burned in front of the Annex Administration Building.

Actually the six students, who fled in two cars, started a small fire which was extinguished by a campus patrolman.

There has been no mass demonstration nor anything like a mass demonstration within the past three days as the Bryan paper reported, Annex officials said.

The report in the Bryan morning newspaper followed on the heels of a front page story in a Houston paper which implied general unrest among Annex students. Personal investigation by the editors of The Battalion revealed that no such unrest exists.

Disciplinary action taken against a few students recently is believed to have been the cause for the misleading newspaper reports.

A report in a Bryan morning newspaper that "Bryan Field apparently had its second mass demonstration within three days Monday night" was proved to be false this morning.

The so-called "mass meeting" involved a total of six students. The story reported an Annex veteran freshman as saying a cross was burned in front of the Annex Administration Building.

Actually the six students, who fled in two cars, started a small fire which was extinguished by a campus patrolman.

There has been no mass demonstration nor anything like a mass demonstration within the past three days as the Bryan paper reported, Annex officials said.

The report in the Bryan morning newspaper followed on the heels of a front page story in a Houston paper which implied general unrest among Annex students. Personal investigation by the editors of The Battalion revealed that no such unrest exists.

Disciplinary action taken against a few students recently is believed to have been the cause for the misleading newspaper reports.

A report in a Bryan morning newspaper that "Bryan Field apparently had its second mass demonstration within three days Monday night" was proved to be false this morning.

The so-called "mass meeting" involved a total of six students. The story reported an Annex veteran freshman as saying a cross was burned in front of the Annex Administration Building.

Actually the six students, who fled in two cars, started a small fire which was extinguished by a campus patrolman.

There has been no mass demonstration nor anything like a mass demonstration within the past three days as the Bryan paper reported, Annex officials said.

The report in the Bryan morning newspaper followed on the heels of a front page story in a Houston paper which implied general unrest among Annex students. Personal investigation by the editors of The Battalion revealed that no such unrest exists.

Disciplinary action taken against a few students recently is believed to have been the cause for the misleading newspaper reports.

A report in a Bryan morning newspaper that "Bryan Field apparently had its second mass demonstration within three days Monday night" was proved to be false this morning.

The so-called "mass meeting" involved a total of six students. The story reported an Annex veteran freshman as saying a cross was burned in front of the Annex Administration Building.

Actually the six students, who fled in two cars, started a small fire which was extinguished by a campus patrolman.

There has been no mass demonstration nor anything like a mass demonstration within the past three days as the Bryan paper reported, Annex officials said.

The report in the Bryan morning newspaper followed on the heels of a front page story in a Houston paper which implied general unrest among Annex students. Personal investigation by the editors of The Battalion revealed that no such unrest exists.

Disciplinary action taken against a few students recently is believed to have been the cause for the misleading newspaper reports.

A report in a Bryan morning newspaper that "Bryan Field apparently had its second mass demonstration within three days Monday night" was proved to be false this morning.

The so-called "mass meeting" involved a total of six students. The story reported an Annex veteran freshman as saying a cross was burned in front of the Annex Administration Building.

Actually the six students, who fled in two cars, started a small fire which was extinguished by a campus patrolman.

There has been no mass demonstration nor anything like a mass demonstration within the past three days as the Bryan paper reported, Annex officials said.

The report in the Bryan morning newspaper followed on the heels of a front page story in a Houston paper which implied general unrest among Annex students. Personal investigation by the editors of The Battalion revealed that no such