TSU Directors, Dean of Law Resign Posts

Houston, May 26 (AP)—The Houston Chronicle yesterday said two members of the board of directors and the dean of the School of Law at the Texas State University for Negroes have resigned.

The directors are Maxine Bell, Beaumont Attorney, and Charles K. Devall, Kilgore publisher.

Law School Dean Dr. John Johnson confirmed his resignation effective June 1 to become legal adviser to the Prince Institute government sponsored law school in Philadelphia.

Officials of the University and the board refused comment.

The Chronicle quoted Devall as saying by telephone from Kilgore:

"I don't want to say anything at this time."

Bell was not available for comment.

Bell and Devall were appointed to the University's original board in 1947 by the late Governor Beauford Jester.

Craig F. Culman, Houston oil man, resigned as member and chairman of the board in March. He declined comment but it was reported he resigned because of internal conflict over operations of the school.

The Chronicle said Johnson's resignation has caused speculation the University's law school might lose its approval by the American Bar Association.

The association has given its provisional approval to the school and is scheduled to discuss the school further at its meeting in September.

The feature editor for the summer, Abernathy, has been named editor for this semester. Last semester he was a member of the editorial board and served as freshman editor last year.

Tiedt, of B Field Artillery, has been news editor this semester. He was copy editor last semester and was managing editor of the freshman page last year.

Department Editors

The feature editor for the summer, Abernathy, has been named editor for this semester. He was a member of the editorial board and served as freshman editor last year.

Manitzas, summer sports editor, was sports editor for the freshman page for the first semester, then a sportswriter on the campus for the second semester.

The Battalion will be published four times a week for the summer terms. Tuesday through Friday.

Summer subscriptions may be had at $2 for the entire summer. The co-editors said.

Students at ROTC summer camps will receive the paper free as has been the custom in the past. Each summer camp will have a correspondent. The Battalion and the paper will forward news from the camps as often as possible.

Same Policy

"No change from the present basic policy of The Battalion is contemplated for the summer," the co-editors said. "We will continue these policies since we believe they are best for the paper and for the editorial staff."

Several positions are still open on the summer staff. They are:

College and Industry Attend Bolton Dinner

By L. O. TIEDT

As a token of 41 years of service to the College, several hundred people will gather in Sbusa Hall Saturday night to honor the retiring president of the College, Dr. Frank C. Bolton.

More than 60 out-of-town guests, including his family from Mississippi and former students, will be present for the occasion.

President Bolton started his career at A&M as an instructor in the Electrical Engineering Department. Since that time he has run the gamut of positions on the staff. During his tenure at A&M he has served as an instructor, head of the department, dean of the school of engineering and later as dean of the College.

Named in 1948

The climax of his career came in 1948 when he was named president of the College. After retiring he will become president emeritus.

Speakers for the occasion will represent the various organizations the president has been in contact with.

Globe Gideon will address the banquet in behalf of the A&M College system.

W. W. Lynch, president of the Texas Power and Light Company will represent Texas industry at the dinner meeting. The Grand Marshal of the College.

The A&M Student body will be represented by C. E. Morris, acting editor of the Battalion. Representing the senior class will be the elected vice-president, C. E. Morris, and D. Kirkham.

Dean Hargrave and C. W. Edwards, both 20, will represent the staff and former students.

Harrington to Speak

Serving as master of ceremonies will be H. C. Harrington, 29, of the Electrical Engineering Department.

Norman Anderson, pastor of the A&M Presbyterian church, will deliver the invocation.

Following the dinner a reception, scheduled for 7 p.m. will be held in the president's home.

Tickets for the Bolton Dinner are on sale in the Former Students Office in the Administration Building and the Aggieland Inn for $1.75.

Dress for the dinner will be formal.

Baccalaureate Services Reset

Baccalaureate services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday.

There will be two services. Ben W. Zinn, assistant to the Dean of Men announced today.

Dr. Turk is the head of the Department of Veterinary Medicine. Everett E. Wilson was elected vice-president, and Dr. C. W. Burns was elected secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Turk is the head of the Department of Entomology. Everett E. Wilson, a junior Vet. Med. student. Dr. Burns is the head of the Physiology and Pharmacology Department.

Phi Zeta was established at New York State Veterinary College in 1926.

The services will be held at 10 a.m. instead of 10 a.m. as announced in yesterday's Battalion.

President Bolton

Vets Install Honor Phi Zeta Chapter

The Kappa Chapter of the Society, Cornell University on April 26, 1926. Since that time chapters have been established in veterinary colleges of the University of Pennsylvania, Ohio State University, Iowa State College, and Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Based on Scholarship

Active membership in Phi Zeta is based on scholarship and is limited to graduate veterinarians who have had their degrees for at least two years. They must be on the staff of a college where a chapter is located.

Any graduate veterinarian may join who is enrolled as a graduate student in an institution where a chapter is located and who has displayed the ability of a high order in dealing with phases of veterinary medicine.

Undergraduate students must have completed at least two and a half years of the veterinary curriculum. They must be of good moral character and possessing high ideals of professional service and conduct. A junior must be in the top 10 per cent of his class and a senior must be in the top 25 per cent of his class.

Honorary Membership

Honorary membership is limited to veterinarians who have been in possession of their degrees for at least five years and who have rendered distinguished service in fields of science related to animal diseases.

Charter members of the chapter who were initiated at the installation were senior students Hugh M. Wallace, Jr., Paul P. Brandes, Lester D. Robbins, Joseph B. Culpter, and Lester Johnson.

Faculty Members

Faculty members who became charter members last night were, Dr. I. B. Brightwell, Dr. P. W. Burns, Dr. A. L. Tenent, Dr. R. D. Turk, Dr. J. H. Milliff, and Dr. R. Dunn.
