

Mural Softball Winners Cut To TU Geology, Dorms 14, 16

By HAROLD GANN

Potential intramural softball winners for the first six weeks were narrowed to three yesterday afternoon. Texas, Dorm 14, and Dorm 16 have mathematical chances of finishing in first place.

Dorm 14 regained the runner-up slot by smothering Dorm 17, 15-3, while Dorm 16 bowed to Texas, 1-2, in the spotlight game, Walton forfeited to Milner.

Texas leads Dorm 14 by one-half game. Dorm 16, off the pace of two games, must sweep their final three games to stay in the running.

Dorm 15, holder of fourth place and two and one-half games away from Texas, moved out of contention for the crown yesterday when Texas and Dorm 14 won.

Texas 2, Dorm 16-1

The Texas crew notched its fourth straight victory yesterday after taking a pitcher's duel from Dorm 16. Loser John Thomas, allowing five hits, opposed John O'Donahoe, who allowed four well-scattered blows.

The game went scoreless for five full frames. Only two men advanced as far as third, and only four—all Texans—got to second.

Texas talked their runs in the sixth when O'Donahoe opened with a single and Al Ratcliff followed with a double, sending the pitcher home.

Jack Howard gave Texas its margin of victory with another single that scored Ratcliff. The Dorm 16 run, registered in the seventh off a base on balls and three errors, was unearned.

Dorm 14-15, Dorm 17-3

The remaining game of the afternoon was a well-played affair for four innings. Dorm 17's Hiedman pitched four-hit ball, allowing four runs during the first four frames.

Meanwhile, Dorm 14's Moroney allowed no hits, but four walks combined with an error accounted for two Dorm 17 runs in the second.

Then Dorm 14 batters found the range, pounding out eight hits and 11 runs during the last three innings to win the game going away.

Moroney turned in another creditable pitching performance after allowing one hit—to right fielder Hansen—in the fifth. Hansen rounded the bases to score after his drive to the outfield had been booted around.

Ken Pipe's two-run homer paced Dorm 14 batters Sonney Blain and Mack Howell each had two hits for the victors.

Burt Shotton Happy Over National League Victory

Chicago, Ill., July 12.—(AP)—Burt Shotton at the age of sixty-five was full of glee—happy as a 14-year-old schoolboy over the 4 to 3 triumph his National League over the Cardinals Tuesday.

The bitterness in his heart from a pre-game boozing and jeering at his introduction was almost gone. He charged into the dressing room and out loose with a blood-curdling yell.

"What a ball game," screamed Burt, clad in his usual civilian togs of gray slacks, white shirt, blue polka-dot tie and blue Dodger cap. "There's simply nothing to it—just that kind of a gang," heamed the 67-year-old boss of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Shotton spoke briefly of the boozing that followed his introduction. "I stood out there long enough with my hat in my hand to let them see me and get all the boozing out of their system. Those 46,000 out there ought to be ashamed of themselves now."

Shotton said he knew Hank Sauer "wouldn't have a complaint. Sauer is a gentleman."

"All I wanted to do was win."

"The Chicago fans booed Shotton because of the Sauer incident. Shotton had tried to displace the Chicago outfielder with his own Duke Snider but was overruled."

In the crowded dressing room, Shotton squeezed his way through College Station took the first two places in the 133 1/3 yard relay Saturday night. On the front row, usual order, are the winners, College Station "A" relay of Joe Steen, Pete Hickman, John Robt. Smith, and Clinton Helvey. Second row has the second place winners, the College Station "B" team composed of Dick Hickman, Craig Thompson, Bobby Wilkins, and Albert Stevens. The Tyler "A" relay which won third is standing and are Dwight Haley, Harry Goyer, John Shallow, and Jeff Heller.

Baylor Footballers To Be Young Team

By RICHARD PRYTON

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series of reports on football activities at the different SWC schools.)

Baylor's new head coach George Sauer, will begin preparing the 1950 Bear football squad Sept. 1 with 20 returning lettermen. However, his success this fall will depend heavily on the performances of untried sophomores.

The loss of 18 lettermen from last year's team which won eight and lost only two games will hurt the Bears and their chances considerably. Among the graduates were Adrain Burk, the nation's No. 1 passer; J. D. Ison, second team all-American end and Burk's favorite pass receiver; Don Mouser, last season's team captain and all-conference guard; and Chuck Stone, who was all-SWC guard for three consecutive seasons.

Veterans to be Counted On

Sauer will rely on two veteran footballers for the coming campaign which gets underway Sept. 23 when the Bears meet Wyoming at Laramie. The gridiron are Stanley Williams, who is catering towards all-American honors at the end position for the coming season, and Frank Boydston, 195-pound line crashing fullback and outstanding defensive linebacker.

Hayden Fry of Odessa is Sauer's lone returning letterman quarterback who saw little service last season although he alternated with Isbell in the man-under-shot, Larry Isbell a junior from Houston, is Sauer's second choice as a replacement for Burk.

Parma to Help

While Boydston is the only returning letterman fullback, Richard Parma, a Waco product, up from the freshman team will probably see considerable action. Helping fill the halfback position will be lettermen John Curtis, Waco, James Jeffery, Corpus Christi, and James Mott of Lufkin.

The Baylor Mentor should have little difficulty in finding another end to pair with Williams. Among the top candidates is Harold Riley who was an all-Coherence end when he was a soph in '48. Others considered for the position are George Cook and Terry Downs, who are especially noted for their defensive work.

Veteran Tackles Available

Ken Casner, of Waco, Steve Dowden of Odessa, and Walter Still of Lufkin form Baylor's three veteran tackles who will be ready for heavy duty in the fall. Reserves will be supplied from the sophomore ranks.

Returning lettermen for the guard position include Walter Bates of Odessa, Dick Calhoun of San Antonio, Wilson Forrre of San Benito, and Bryce Reid of Gonzales. A freshman standout from last season is Waco's Bill Athey, who will be hustling for a permanent berth on the Sauer guard train.

Graduation of giant center Eugene Huesner leaves an open spot for three lettermen, Danny Cochran of Galveston, Gale Galloway of Pearland, and Glen Taylor of

All-Star Softballers Will Be Selected

A mythical all-star team, to be selected from the nine intramural softball teams, will be named in Friday's Battalion, according to Intramural Director Barney Welch.

A catcher, first-baseman, second-baseman, third-baseman, shortstop, three outfielders, and two pitchers will compose the team.

Sports Editor Frank Mathias, Intramural Editor Harold Gann, Welch, and the intramural officers will compose the balloting.

Odessa, who are among the top contenders to fill the final vacated position.

Concluding, the Bears are in no too bad a spot and will probably come out of hibernation after their first few games and surprise everyone.

"World's Greatest Athletes" . . .

Mathias Wins 3rd Decathlon; Ross Repeats in Pentathlon

By RAY HOLBROOK

Two of the oldest sports in the world which were originated in the ancient Greek Olympic have been dominated by the past few years by two men. Bob Mathias, the world's greatest athlete, successfully defended his decathlon title June 30 and July 1 while Wilbur Ross again won the pentathlon championship this past weekend.

The two events took place on opposite sides of the United States. Mathias won his third National AAU Decathlon crown in his home town, Tulare, Calif., while Ross eked out his second straight National AAU Pentathlon title in Elizabeth, N. J.

Ross, a 23-year-old negro, representing Baldwin-Wallace College, entered the final event with a 131 point deficit but finished second in the 1500 meter run with a time of 4:19.2 to win with a final total of 3,277 points.

The repeating champion won his first title last year in a similar way, as he entered the same 1500 meter run trailing in second place. In winning the title he didn't win an event, but placed third in the broad jump, fourth in the javelin and the 200 meter dash, and fifth in the discus.

Mathias, '48 Olympic Champ

In winning his third straight decathlon title, the '48 Olympic champ set a new world's record scoring 8,042 points to eclipse the old record held by Glenn Morris of Colorado set in the '36 Olympic games in Berlin with 7,900 points.

Second in the test of "superman" was Bill Albans, the great North Carolina hurdler, with 7,353 points. Floyd Simmons was third with 6,861 points.

Albans led at the end of the first day with five events completed posting 4,323 points to 4,230 Mathias, but fell behind in the second day field events. Mathias won four events—the shot, discus, javelin, and pole vault—and placed high with three second places and finished third in three other events.

Albans Wins Five Events

Although Albans won five events, the 100 meter, the high hurdles, the 400 meter, the high jump, and the broad jump, he lost the lead with the completion of the shot, discus, javelin, and 1500 meters.

After the final event Saturday night, Mathias stated he planned to take a year's vacation from competition following the coming trip to Iceland this summer. He will probably lay off until possibly Olympic time in '52. The future Stamford University freshman will

National League Downs American In 14 Innings

Chicago, July 12.—(AP)—Red Schoendienst's home run gave the National League a 4-3 triumph over the Americans in the 14th inning of the first extra inning all-star game in history yesterday.

The win was only the National League's fifth in the classic series which started in 1933 at Comiskey Park, the scene of yesterday's game, and snapped a four-game American loop winning streak.

Detroit's Ted Gray, who yielded Schoendienst's homer, was the losing pitcher. The winner was Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell, but the real pitching hero for the Nationals was Larry Jansen of the New York Giants.

The Nationals had erased a 3-2 deficit on Ralph Kiner's homer off another Detroit hurler, Art Houtteman, opening the ninth inning.

Blackwell was the fifth National League pitcher, while the Americans, who had overcome an early 2-0 National margin, used six pitchers.

Americans Never Threatened

With the Phils' brilliant reliever, Jim Konstanty, and Jansen and Blackwell in control, the Americans never threatened after the Nationals took the lead with two off Dodger Don Newcombe in the fifth. Never threatened, that is, except for the sensational catch by Andy Pafko in the 12th.

Andy, second man in the National swing shift center field gang, raced to the wall in deep right center to drag down Henrieh's long pinch drive with two gone in the 12th.

Pafko almost won the game himself in the 11th when he sent left fielder Dom Dimaggio of Boston back near the fence to drag down his long drive with the bases loaded and two out.

Jansen blazed into the record books with one of the best jobs since this colorful series originated in 1933. Allowed to work more than three innings when the game went overtime the Giants' control artist stifled the Americans with one hit in five frames, striking out six men.

The curling smash by Schoendienst on a 1-2 pitch, landed in the first row of the seats in the upper left field stands, about 375 feet away.

Enos Slaughter of St. Louis, "the displaced man," opened in centerfield instead of the Cubs' Hank Sauer as the last minute switch.

Americans Hit Robin

The Americans got to starter Robin Roberts, the Phils' $25,000 bonus kid, for a run in the third. Washington's Cass Michaels sent a pinch double booming into the center field bullpen. Phil Huzzato of New York beat out a bunt for a hit and Detroit's George Kell scored Michaels with a fly to center.

Don Newcombe of Brooklyn, least effective of the National League pitching parade, was touched for two runs in the fifth that sent the Americans into the lead for the first time.

The Americans blew a chance to win in regulation time. Droppo tripled to lead off the fourth but was hung up between third and home on a come-back ball hit by Yogi Berra to Newcombe.
