AN EXAMPLE

R. C. Houlohan, president of the Texas Retail Grocers Association, which represents 7,000 independent state merchants, urgently calls for an end to panic buying. "There is plenty of all kinds of food for everyone," he said. "Please do not hoard. Hoarding will only create artificial shortages and cause prices to rise. When that happens, we can expect controls as a logical consequence."

An example is fresh in our minds—black pepper. Scare buying has run the price up to a cost of 78¢ per 4 oz. pkg. WHOLE-SALE. If you need it, buy ONE package; otherwise, none.

Bank Established in 1946 To Serve Needs of City

By DALE WALSTON

The College Station State Bank is truly a "community enterprise." Opened in July of 1946, the bank was organized by College Station men to serve the banking needs of this city.

All of the original bank stock was owned by local business men and men connected with the College. Some of these men have of course moved away, but still the great majority of the bank ownership remains in College Station.

The charter for the bank was granted in April, 1946, and the directors had hoped to build permanent quarters at that time. However, restrictions on building materials made this impossible, since the application for priority for materials was rejected by the civilian production board on three occasions.

The bank's directors and officers are active in community affairs. President and chairman of the board of directors is S. A. "Doc" Lipscomb in an A&M graduate of the class of 1907, and owns Lipscomb Pharmacy at the North Gate.

He has served two terms on the athletic council of A&M, and has been elected for nine consecutive years as representative of the Brazos County A&M Club of the State Association of former students.

Executive vice-president Harold Sullivan is an Aggie-ex. He is a Mason and member of the College Station Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis Club, and the American Institute of Banking.

One Mishap

The only mishap during the bank's history, including the construction and all, was a stuck door on the main vault. The door remained jammed for three days, and the bank had to appeal to the Federal Reserve Bank for money. Finally a vault-man from Canton, Ohio, with the help of a Houston expert jugged the door and open it swung.

The new light will be installed around the front to protect the door.

New Traffic Light Will Be Installed

A new three-light traffic signal will soon be installed by the city at the Main Street-Sulphur Springs Road intersection at the North Gate.

The present building is of concrete construction with a foundation which will allow the addition of a second story when necessary in the future. This building is the most modern banking facility in Brazos County.

The construction of the bank building was unique in that it was built around the bank's concrete steel vault. The vault was constructed in 1946, at which time the original building was erected. The pre-fab was torn down in February, 1949, and the vault was left standing on the lot.

Slowly the new building started taking shape around the vault, but for nearly a month the vault stood in the open by itself, with a can-

Guards prevented anyone from using Khor Ong bridge, because a wild elephant was giving birth on the road where the bridge ends.

Finally the bank began business in a prefabricated structure, 32 by 32 feet, and continued business in that place until February, 1946, when it moved into temporary quarters, while the present building was being built.
