

Student Center Staff is Large and Experienced

"The MSC, as it is now, is only a piece of great architecture," J. Wayne Stark, manager of the Memorial Student Center, told a freshman assembly early this semester. "It will be you, the students, together with our staff in the Center, who will actually put the heart into the building," he said.

And unless some catastrophe befalls that staff, it should hold up its end of the "bargain." Carefully selected, this experienced group will keep the Center in top-notch operation, Stark said.

Secretary to the director is Helen Atterbury. Before coming to the MSC one month ago, Helen was secretary to Martin Hamilton and George Ramsey, L. G. Balfour Co. representatives. She has one child, Majure, 11, and lives in College Station.

PBX operator, Gwen Cress, is the wife of Ronald D. Cress, a freshman vet medicine student. She hails from Sweetwater, Texas, and previously has worked with Southwestern Bell for three years.

Michigan's Moller
Craft shop advisor, Carl A. Moller, a graduate of Michigan State College, is a long way from his home in Saginaw, Mich. He is a graduate student in industrial education, lives in College View and has a son, Bill, age 17 months. He taught in the public schools at Saginaw before coming to College Station.

Secretary in the front office, Elaine Lester from Bardwell, Ken. is the wife of Douthit Lester, a junior agricultural engineering student. Previously, she was a U. S. Postal Clerk for nine years. She lives in College View and has a girl, Suzanne, age one year.

Martha Williams, assistant bookkeeper, comes from Arlington, is the wife of T. F. Williams, agricultural education major. She lives in College View and has worked with the MSC for one month.

Personnel Secretary
Estha F. Nowlin, personnel secretary, formerly was with the U. S. Quartermaster Depot, Ft. Worth. She lives in College Station and is the wife of I. E. Nowlin, management engineering senior.

Frances Allen, cashier, has worked with the MSC for one year.

From McAllen, she is the wife of Mickey Allen, MSC draftsman. Mickey is an architecture student, and is from Pharr.

Claude Onxley, accountant for the MSC, from Lake Charles, La., is a senior accounting student.

Typist and clerk in the purchasing department, Marilyn Gower, is from Port Arthur, and is the wife of Robert Gower, junior business student.

Glenda Brown, typist, has previously worked in the management engineering office. She lives with her parents in College Station.

Student Warehouse Clerk
Moore F. Floyd, assistant warehouse clerk, is a business major and lives in Vet Village. He and his wife have two children, Judith Carol, two, and Patricia Floyd, four months. He is from Lufkin and has worked with the MSC for five months.

Rufus E. Meads, who has been night clerk of Aggeland Inn will continue in the same capacity at MSC. He has held this position for eight years, is married and lives in Bryan.

Charles "Babe" Lopez, well known to thousands of exes, has been assistant to C. M. Sykes in the Aggeland Inn and will continue in that capacity in the operation of guest rooms in MSC.

25-Year Men
Though only 43, Babe has worked over 25 years for A&M and has spent all of this time either in the dining halls or in the Aggeland Inn. He is married, has two children, and lives in Bryan.

He served with the 3rd Infantry

Division in Europe during the war. Mrs. C. M. Dibrell, in charge of the Browsing Library, is a graduate of Southwestern Texas State Teachers College. Her husband is a senior agriculture education major.

Gallery Club Leader

Mrs. Ralph Terry, supervisor of the Gallery Club, holds an art degree from Howard Payne College. She has also had private instructions under such artists as Jose Arpa, Spain's foremost artist, Will Stevens, of New Orleans, and Harry Anthony de Young.

She is a member of the Texas Fine Arts Association. As supervisor of the Gallery Club, she will conduct classes of those having mixed experience in art and is going to have art displays continually before the students so that they will automatically appreciate it.

Morris Walker, assistant manager of the fountain, was previously assistant fountain manager of the Campus Corner. He is from Bryan.

Jennie Spray, office clerk in the purchasing office, is from Wichita Falls. Her husband, James T. Spray, is a senior agricultural education student. She has one child, Jeanette Frances, three years old.

Former Dallasite
Marie Carter Moncrief, stenographer in the front office, is the wife of A. M. Moncrief, petroleum engineering senior. She is from Dallas where she worked for the Prudential Insurance Co. for two years.

Dorothy Faye Kennedy, telephone operator, is from Haynesville, La. and is the wife of Billy B. Kennedy, senior petroleum engineering and geology major.

Russell C. Wright, senior M.E. major from Olmito, is in the maintenance department.

J. L. McFarling, Jr., maintenance department, is from Hereford. He is a senior business major.

Dean S. Bowers, in the maintenance department, is from Alice, and is a junior Ch.E. major.

committee plans exhibits of both their work and outside work.

The games committee will be composed of sub-committees of majors of that department would be invited.

the different games offered. For example last year the Bridge Committee won the regional finals of the Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament and were given a paid trip to enter the national finals in Chicago. The Bowling Committee last year entered into competitive play with the University of Texas, University of Houston, and other schools.

Other game subcommittees will be organized as the students indicate interest. Plans are being made for checkers, chess, dominoes, and canasta committees. Plans are also being made to organize a table tennis league.

The Music Committee will be a group of students interested in organizing musical entertainment for the Student Center. They will purchase "high-brow" and "lowbrow" records for the music room and the sound system.

The Photography Club will help instruct those who have common interests in photography, and will bring in outstanding exhibits and photographers.

The Crafts Committee, with Carl Moller as advisor, will offer students the opportunity to learn plastics, leather, pottery, woodwork, and general "tinkering." The committee will be offered instructions in hobbies from time to time and will plan exhibits of its work.

The dance committee will be open to all members of the Student Center (which includes all students). It hopes to offer instruction in ball room and folk dancing for those who wish to learn.

Near 100 Students Employed in MSC

Approximately 100 students are employed at the MSC.

Reporting for an orientation course a week before school began, they were taught all phases of the Center's operations. Unlike the usual plan of hiring students on the campus, these students are working under a merit plan, which will stimulate initiative and courtesy, will aid in selection of those eligible for promotion.

Texas A and M-ers, in a line as long as the "MILKY WAY," have swarmed into the college stores for a long time now and asked for Mars candy bars.

So help us, big football heroes would step up to the counter and sigh, "FOREVER YOURS," with stars in their eyes (like the stars on Mars wrappers).

Of course, when that happened there would be "SNICKERS" from the fellas standing around . . . like the famous "3 MUSKETEERS" who were always munching on "MARS COCOANUT BARS." But these men never cared who laughed, 'cause they loved good Mars bars better than anything else in the world—especially the extra-fancy "MARS TOASTED ALMOND BAR."

Yes, Mars has been a favorite at Texas A and M for a long time . . . and we're moving right along with you into the new center!

Why not come and try one of the 6 delicious MARS CANDY BARS soon? They're the best-tasting candy bars in the whole, big state of Texas . . . or anywhere!
