

Abb Curtis, Stiteler To Speak At First QB Club Meeting

By GLENN WILLIAMS

Kickoff meeting of The Battalion Quarterback Club for the 1950 football season will be Thursday night, beginning at 7:30 in the Assembly Hall.

There will be two principal speakers for this first program which will launch a series of weekly affairs that will continue through the fall grid campaign. They are Abb Curtis and Harry Stiteler.

Curtis, formerly a renown Southwest Conference football and basketball official and later director of officials for the Pacific Coast Conference, now is assistant to the secretary of the Southwest Conference.

Stiteler, the head grid coach for the Aggies, will be on hand to recap the Cadets' 48 to 18 victory over Nevada last Saturday night in Sacramento, Calif.; preview the coming clash with Texas Tech's Red Raiders this Saturday night in San Antonio; and answer questions of the fans concerning the Aggies and SWC football.

Coslett Heads Club

Roger Coslett, the Quarterback Club chairman, will introduce the speakers. Stiteler will bring along the movie of the A&M-Nevada battle and will show them following the question period of the program.

Coslett announced that Curtis, Stiteler and approximately 30 other selected guests including college officials and Quarterback Club advisers will dine with the Cadet gridders at an informal dinner preceding the program at the Assembly Hall.

Quarterback Club officials also revealed that they again will sponsor the weekly contest. A contest blank will be printed in each Thursday's Battalion which must be filled out and returned before Friday noon. The winners will be announced either the following Monday or Tuesday but they must be present on Thursday nights at the Quarterback Club gathering in order to receive their prizes. The number of prizes to be awarded has not yet been decided on.

Here are the dates and speakers of subsequent Quarterback Club meetings:

Pickings Go to Pot; Only Ags, SMU OK

By FRANK N. MANITZAS
Battalion Sports Editor

Experience is the best teacher, and from now on, the University of Texas Longhorns will not be getting our vote, not by such a large margin anyway, for the coming football games.

A predicted 54-0 victory for the Steers went to pot, as the Orange and White eked out a 24-14 win over Texas Tech last weekend. Other predictions which we made that went the wrong way included Wyoming's upset over Baylor, 7-0, and Oklahoma A&M's 12-7 win, also an upset, over the supposed darkhorse of the SWC, Arkansas.

Only the Texas Aggies and the SMU Mustangs played close to form. A&M, predicted to be a 21 point favorite, over Nevada won 48-18, and SMU took Georgia Tech, 33-13, which was close to the forecast, 26-14.

No explanations are offered, only that we hope that TU is weaker than pre-season dopes—excuse me—dopesters predicted, and that Arkansas and Baylor will have to do a little hustling to win any of their games this year.

TCU, who downed Kansas 14-7, weaker than the 20-0 score predicted, may prove how strong the Okie Aggies are this weekend when they meet at Stillwater, Okla. Baylor will be given another chance to win a game when they meet the team ranked 99th in the nation, the University of Houston, at Waco.

A&M may showup the Longhorns at Alamo Stadium this coming weekend if they could win by a larger score over the Red Raiders, and SMU can prove its toughness if the Ponies muster a win over Ohio State.

TU continues on its supposed easy win road when it meets Purdue at Memorial Stadium, and Rice will open its season in a new stadium against Santa Clara who lost to California last week. Arkansas should look better against North Texas State this coming weekend, but we're not predicting anything yet.

A Word From Other texans

From another collegiate (?) newspaper, The Daily Texan of TU, we saw a little something which we thought was quite humorous; too funny to keep to ourselves, so we thought we would pass it on.

Charley Lewis, no relation to the crackpot comedian, wrote the following in his daily column—"Forty Acres."

"They say the Aggies are going to fare better in football this year. Let's hope so."

"A friend of ours, late of LSU, got quite a boot out of describing how the Tiger coach had his first stringers working out outside the stadium last year while his subs shellacked the Sharcroppers."

"Do they HAVE to be called TEXAS Aggies?"

Charley, we can only answer you like this. It is a shame that after all the time you have spent in Texas that you can not yet appreciate what the TEXAS Aggies mean to the state, not only in everyday life, but also in the sports world.

You see, last week, we won our game by a much larger score than was expected which is more than can be said for the Longhorns (We won't use TEXAS here). We might even go so far as to say that we think it disgraceful that a team with the line TU has, plus all the publicity it has received during the year of its expected great season, didn't show that mean old Texas Tech team its clippings and make them run.

It might have helped, and it couldn't hurt any. Not that we are trying to say that LSU didn't outscore us last year, 35-0, but that you are playing the Tigers this year, and although they are not as strong as last season, we hope you do better, and if you do lose, drop around, we're saving clippings on your team.

By the way, Charley, we plan to BEAT TEXAS Tech.

George White Knows What's Right

Our hats off to George White for his article in the September 6 issue of the Dallas Athletic Club News magazine.

With a story headed, "Sports Broadcast," White stated, "new coaches, security of lettermen add to probability of upsets in the unpredictable Southwest Conference this season."

"Keep an eye on the Texas Aggies," continued White, "it has been a decade since they basked in the spotlight as co-champions; eleven years since Jarrin' Jawn Kimbrough powered the Maroon and White to a national title and victory in the Sugar Bowl. This could be their year."

White rates the Southwest Conference teams to finish in this order:

A&M	5	0	1	.917
Texas	4	1	1	.700
T C U	4	2	0	.667
S M U	3	3	0	.500
Arkansas	3	3	0	.500
Rice	1	5	0	.167
Baylor	0	6	0	.000

And he also gives the reasons why:

October 7—TCU over Arkansas at Fort Worth.

October 14—Arkansas over Baylor at Fayetteville.

October 21—Aggies surprise Frogs at College Station. SMU beats Rice at Houston, and Texas takes Arkansas at Austin.

October 28—A&M beats Baylor at Waco. Texas too much for Rice at Houston.

November 4—Farmers continue march against Arkansas at College Station. Frogs trim Bears at Fort Worth, and Texas breaks SMU at Austin.

November 11—Aggies upset Mustangs in Cotton Bowl. Arkansas has joyous homecoming against Rice, and Texas will be too much for Baylor at Waco.

Detroit Keeps Pennant Hopes Alive With Split
Detroit, Sept. 27—(AP)—Detroit kept its faint pennant hopes alive yesterday, coming from behind to gain an even break in their doubleheader with St. Louis.

George Kell's double with the bases loaded in the eighth inning climaxed a four-run rally that gave the Tigers a 5-3 victory after the Browns had won the opener 3-1.

Charles, Louis Raring to Go; Louis Favorite

By B. F. ROLAND

New York, Sept. 27—(AP)—Joe Louis and Ezzard Charles, their hard training finished, exercised lightly at their camps yesterday and were reported ready and raring for tonight's heavyweight title fight at Yankee Stadium.

Promoters were resigned to a gross gate of under $200,000. This would be, roughly $62,000 less than was paid to see Willie Pep lose his featherweight toga to Sandy Saddler three weeks ago.

The fight will begin at 9 p. m. (CST).

The odds remained a steady 2-to-1 against Charles in man-to-man betting—what little there was. It was said that 5 to 1 could be obtained against Charles' chances of winning by a knockout. Ezzard's supporters were understood to be grabbing some of this, figuring it to be an overlay.

Ezzard, himself, gave out a fiery statement in which he declared that the odds were ridiculous and that "I expect to score a technical knockout no later than the 12th round. Joe can be chopped up like any other old guy."

New York, Sept. 27—(AP)—Joe Louis is picked to beat Ezzard Charles by almost two thirds of the sports' writers covering the heavyweight title fight tonight at Yankee Stadium.

Thirty of the 48 writers polled by the Associated Press picked Louis to win. Most of them favored the Brown Bomber by a knockout. The other 18 liked Charles.

Military Bowlers To Compete In MSC

By B. F. ROLAND

"Rank hath its privileges" but not on the bowling alleys. That's the byword for four teams in A&M's Military Bowling League, which begins tonight at 6:30 on the Memorial Student Center lanes.

Army officers, Army non-coms, Air Force officers, and Air Force non-coms have temporarily broken relations and declared a kegler's war.

Heading the Army officer's team is Lt. Col. Leonard F. Walker. "We may start on the bottom, but final victory shall be ours," he insists. Members of the "Bulls"—their official nickname—are in addition to Col. Walker, Lt. Col. E. F. Sauer, Lt. Col. M. T. Bowden, Lt. Col. Walter H. Parsons, Maj. W. A. Burruss and Maj. W. J. Hyde.

The Military League claims to be the first bowling group organized under the auspices of the MSC. Rank respect will go down the alley as the four teams meet tonight.

Question: When do the Ross Hall secretaries bowl?

Air Korps Team Secret

Although Air Force officers have not announced their team, they aren't expecting to be grounded tonight. Lt. Mulheisen, captain of the team, intends to have a complete lineup of AF brass by game-time.

M/Sgt. R. J. Schroeder, captain of the Army non-coms, is as confident as his superior officer, Col. Walker. He only smiled wickedly

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests
Number 3... THE FLICKER

"One question... Where do I flick my ashes?"

Don't think our neat-pleated friend with the drape-shape doesn't know the score! He's plenty hep to all those tricky cigarette tests! If you're in the groove, they're not fooling you, either. You know, from your own smoking experience, that just one puff of this brand . . . then one puff of that brand isn't going to give you the answer you want. What can you possibly tell by a quick inhale and exhale, a whiff or a sniff?

The sensible test — the one that gives you the proper answer — is a day after day, pack-after-pack tryout for 30 days. It's the Camel 30-Day Mildness Test! You judge Camels for 30 days in your own "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste) — the real proving ground for a cigarette. Once you've tested Camels as a steady smoke, you'll know why . . .

More People Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!
