

Injuries May Make SMU Third Upset Victim for Cowboys

BASED ON AP REPORTS

SMU may be the third number on Oklahoma A&M's SWC upset list when the two elevens meet this coming weekend in the much publicized football double-header which is supposed to be the first of its kind.

The big reasons that the Mustangs may lose are the loss of Rusty Russell, Jr., and Hank Stollenwerk who were hurt in the Missouri game this past weekend. Russell suffered a rib fracture, Stollenwerk an ankle injury, and neither is expected to be ready for the coming weekend fray. But the Methodists continued to prove that they are one of the top teams in the nation, defeating the Missouri Tigers, 21-0.

The second largest home crowd in Missouri history, near 36,000, sat in as Missouri suffered its second straight shutout since the tail-end of the 1937 season. That year Kansas tied the Tigers 0-0 and U. C. L. A. beat them 13-0. Missouri played better than it did in losing 34-0 to Clemson last week, but the Tigers couldn't stop the power running of Rote and (See MUSTANGS, Page 4)

Pro Giants Protect Undefeated Record

New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Charlie Connerly threw a last-minute touchdown pass to Gene Roberts yesterday to give the New York Giants a 21-17 victory over Washington and preserve their record as the only undefeated team in the National Football League.

Until the winning toss, a 39-yard play, Bill Dudley and Harry Gilmer had kept the Skins ahead with fine running and passing.

The Giants now lead the NFL's American Conference with a 3-0 record. Cleveland, 30-17 victor over Pittsburgh last night, is second with a 3-1 mark.

At Chicago, the Bears' Johnny Lujack shifted from a passing to running game in the 27-6 victory over the Cardinals. He scored twice to break a scoreless deadlock in the second quarter, from the one-foot and 32-yard lines.

The Bears now are in a three-way tie for first in the NFL's National Conference with Detroit and the New York Yanks, both victors today. Each has a 3-1 mark.

Strong-armed Bobby Layne completed 15 of 32 passes for 205 yards in Detroit's 24-7 pasting of the hapless San Francisco Forty Niners. At Green Bay, the Yanks outlasted the Packers in a six-sixty-two third quarter tie, 44-31.

OU's Final Plays Confusing, Lucky

By Frank N. Manitzas
Battalion Sports Editor

It was quite a game in more ways than one. The Oklahoma-A&M game, we mean.

The Aggies showed what they had, and as Buddy Shaeffer said, "We had them beat . . . until . . . it all happened so fast."

Exactly what happened may never be known, but to the radio audience it probably sounded like poor coaching in the final few minutes of play. Actually it wasn't; just a little fast play which was confusing and lucky.

When OU's quarterback Claude Arnold completed six of the final seven passes which he threw, he not only surprised the Cadets, but also himself. Arnold will probably be the first to tell you that it has been quite a while and probably the first time in his life that his passing was as sharp as it proved to be.

Not that Arnold is a bad quarterback. On the contrary. He's great. But he is not one of the better passers in the nation by a long shot.

Concerning Arnold's passing we quote Charles Burton of The Dallas Morning News: "Arnold who hadn't been able to hit the ground with his helmet all afternoon, threw . . ."

Said The Houston Post: "Arnold, who impressed very few with his passing in the first minutes, emerged a hero . . . the Aggies were vastly underrated . . . for 56 and a half minutes they (the Aggies) had beaten Oklahoma at its own game . . ."

From The Fort-Worth Star Telegram: ". . . they (the Aggies) proved to the satisfaction of all who saw the bruising game that they're a team to be reckoned with by all future opponents" . . .

Defense Set Up To Stop Runs

Coach Harry Stiteler had the yardage on running plays than Cadet defense set up to stop the passing plays which Sooners most powerful plays which we could have stopped had our were in the form of running at boys been in 'better position.'

The eight-three formation used habitually by the Aggies was, according to Stiteler, ". . . to stop deny; and we'll agree that the wide running plays of the Cadets DID have that game won, Sooners . . . they gained more but it's just one of those things.

Notre Dame, Michigan State Upset

Notre Dame getting beat by the Purdue Boilermakers, 28-14, and Michigan State knocked off by the Maryland eleven, 34-7, dropped the first two ranking teams in the nation from their positions.

At the present time, the team with the longest streak of wins is Oklahoma. Had the Cadets beaten the Sooners, it would have marked one of the seven upsets during the weekend.

All of the Southwest Conference teams with the exception of the Aggies won their intersectional tilts over the weekend. This gives the SWC a 9-4 record over outside opponents, for the season.

Baylor upset Mississippi State, 14-7; Kyle Rote and the Ponies defeated an easy Missouri team, 21-0; TCU defeated Arkansas in the conference opener 13-6; and the Rice Owls ran over an easy LSU Tiger, 35-20. The University of Texas remained idle.

This coming weekend two SWC teams may lose but it is unlikely, according to the experts. Texas has had a week of rest for their game with OU, while SMU should be more than ready for the Oklahoma A&M Cowboys, although the Mustangs will be without the service of Rusty Russell, Jr., and Hank Stollenwerk. These four teams make up the first football double header in the history of the game.

Hillhouse Tries Hard

Andy Hillhouse (89) tried hard to catch this pass thrown by Quarterback Dick Gardenal, but defensive specialist Tommy Gray of the Sooners managed to out-wrestle the Cadet end for the pass which fell to the ground incomplete. This was during one of the top games in the nation when A&M almost broke OU's endless string of victories, losing in the final 37 seconds, 28-34.

Bears May Fool Experts After Upsetting Maroons

BASED ON AP REPORTS

Baylor will try to fool all the experts this coming weekend when they meet the favored Arkansas Razorbacks in Fayetteville, Ark., for their first conference tilt.

Upsetting favored Mississippi State during the past weekend of upsets, the Bruins may be a far better team than anyone expects. It was the passing of the Bears quarterback in the final moments of the game which gave Baylor a 14-7 victory.

The quarterback, Larry Isbell, brother of the fabulous Cecil Isbell of pro football fame, picked up the flagging Baylor boys after they had struggled through a scoreless first half. Baylor was completely outclassed by fast, sprightly Mississippi State in the first two quarters. But Isbell's Houdini-like ball-handling from the T-quarterback slot and his passing wizardry evened the score in the third quarter.

Near the end of that period, Isbell completed six straight passes in a 67-yard drive. His score for the night was eight complete out of 13 thrown, for a total of 98 yards. Halfback Don Carpenter played one yard for a touchdown and back Jim Jeffrey went over from the one after Jim Mott's 37-yard runback of a pass interception set up the second score. End Henry Dickerson converted both.

State went 7 yards on 10 plays for its touchdown in the second period. Frank Branch, 127-pound quarterback, masterminded the deal and Halfback Norman Duplain tallied on a 12-yard dash.

End Max Stanbrook converted. An estimated 20,000 fans saw the intersectional fray, the first defeat for Mississippi State and Baylor's second win in three times out.

to be the winning touchdown of the game.

The locals followed this up with a spectacular run of 70 yards with the ball carried by speedster Jerry Leighton on a screen pass from quarterback George Johnston. Unlucky Jones' placement failed again.

With two minutes and five seconds left to play, the snarling Tigers found themselves in position to score again.

Unfortunately Father Time was not with the Tigers, and they were left with a two-point deficit staring them in the face.

Hogs After 1st League Victory

BASED ON AP REPORTS

Arkansas will be trying for its first conference win this weekend on their homefield when they meet the surprising Baylor Bears, who upset Mississippi State last weekend. Texas Christian who won its first SWC tilt Saturday defeating Arkansas, 13-6, will take a breather this coming weekend when they meet the much beaten Texas Tech Red Raiders, who lost this past weekend to West Texas State, 13-28.

In downing the Razorbacks, the Horned Frogs garnered their first win over the Porkers since 1943.

Gil Bartosh—the boy who wandered from TCU to Texas A&M then back to TCU, as a freshman and caused a conference investigation—team with Dan Wilde, Horned Frog veteran, to bring the Arkansas could have won the game and was in it until the final minutes. Two dropped passes over the goal line took away Razorback touchdowns and penalties dealt staggering blows to the Razorbacks at critical moments. A penalty for illegal use of hands nullified a touchdown run by Buddy Rogers in the second period.

Owls in Race For SWC Title After Easy Win

The Rice Owls proved that they were definitely in the running for the SWC championship which they won last year as they easily defeated a not so strong as usual Louisiana State eleven, 35-20. Rice travels to Pittsburgh Saturday where they will meet the home city's footballers who were defeated 41-7 by Ohio State.

A crowd of 52,000 saw Rice score its first victory since 1945 over LSU and gain revenge for the only defeat suffered last year while winning the Southwest Conference championship.

In the cold dawn morning air the Cadets showed they were badly off form, but it was obvious that the Oklahoma man had been better prepared for the match. Garmany's time, the home team's best, was a poor 10:05.

Charles Hudgins took fifth for the Aggies and Charlie Gabriel, Jim McMahon, and Marshall Lazarine finished seventh, eighth, and ninth for the Maroon and White, in the five man team contest.

Wilkenson, Lazarine, and McMahon were right together at the head of the pack at the mile mark but the pace was too tough for the Aggies as they dropped far behind in the second four laps.
