Schenectady, N. Y.—(P)—Dt. Irving Langmuin, top scientific rain-maker, told the National Academy of Sciences that cloud seeding may have caused drought in the southwest last winter.

The dry area was southward from middle Colorado. Its boundaries were not precisely located. But the drought conditions extended eastward toward a north and gouth line made by the westernedges of Louisiana, Arkansas and control of the conditions of the condition dges of Louisiana, Arkansas and precipitated rain.

Missouri.

Dr. Langmuir, a Nobel prize winner, said that at the time of reduced rains I in the Southwest, the opposite happened east of the tri-state line. He attributed this extra rain to the same cloud-seeding that had caused the southwestern drought.

He said these added rains fell in the southeastern United States. He did not give exact locations. But he said the rains were widespread and heavy. And he said that last winter's evidence indicates that cloud seeding can drift down-

New Rodeo Arena Built By Saddle and Sirloiners

By SID ABERNATHY

The cheapest way to build anything, and still be reasonably sure that you get what you want, is to do it yourself.

At least that seems to be the common of the Saddle and Sirloin call, members now constructing a new rodeo arena across the rail road tracks from the bas haid it it was no, the original intention.

Now nearing completion, the and they or their buddy will vault from a chute sitting astride a wild bronco whose sele intention is to unseat the rider.

To the club, this seemed to be plenty of money for the arena but after inquiring around they found that the cheapest possible bid they could get would run at least $2,000 more than they had. Their only alternative was to build it themselves.

Work was begun about the middle of September and has been proceeding steadily ever since. Practically every member of the Saddle and Sirloin Club donates a part or all of his spare time to

to do just this.

It apparently also has the spirit to keep plugging along. Last year the team that won only one game had this spirit. In fact when someone asked Smith if the Aggie team was discouraged because it trailed Southern Methodist by a couple of touchdowns at the half, he grinned and said, "Shucks, no, that was pretty good for us."
