Student Senate Makes Seating Arrangements

By DEAN REED

Definite steps were taken by the Student Senate last night to alleviate the seating situation in Kyle Field's student section.

All corps seniors must present tickets—which will be issued to them—to enter their section.

All students will, before entering a ramp, be prepared to show their athletic coupons. This must be done to prevent non-students from taking valuable space in the student section, the Senate decided.

Only one guest will be allowed each student. Slightly more than 10,000 seats are allotted A&M students and their guests by the Athletic Department. This makes it necessary to limit the number of guests, according to the Senate's decisions.

"Fish" Seats

Should the freshmen in the corps fail to fill their section to the midpoint of the end zone, seats in that area will be made available to non-corps students and their wives who wish to sit during the game. The area will be opened to "sitters," however, only if there are extra seats.

The Senate met in special session last night to discuss the effectiveness of last week's seating arrangement and to iron out problems which have been foreseen for Saturday afternoon's A&M-TCU tilt.

Corps and non-corps areas will again be roped off Saturday, it was announced at the meeting.

Tickets will be distributed through the corps organizations to seniors, enabling them to sit in the roped-off "senior section."

Must Have Tickets

Issued to the seniors will be old tickets for last year's "Duke Ellington" show. Members of the Executive Committee of the Senate stressed "without Duke Ellington's" no entrance into the corps senior section.

Senior cadets, OD's, OG's, and RDO's will be on duty at entrances into the senior section to check tickets. Seniors will show their tickets, but keep them for future home games, the Senate decided.

"We are requesting all corps seniors to help us keep this section reserved for them. It can only be done with their help," said Bill Moss, Senate vice-president.

Assistance Asked

"If every corps senior will take upon himself as a personal responsibility to politely ask anyone not authorized to sit in this senior section to move, we believe the entire seating arrangement will benefit greatly," Moss said.

All freshmen have been asked to enter the stands through Ramps L, M, and N. This will aid in cutting down congestion in other ramps, according to Executive Committee members.

A seven-man committee was named to observe the seating situation Saturday afternoon and work out any problems the Senate now faces to make the arrangement more effective and more suitable. Named to the committee were W. A. Sky-Eagle, Nolan Brunson, Alfred R. Gibson, Hans Killingstad, Don Young, Tom Poyner, and Dave Robertson.

Medallion Sales

Medallions commemorating A&M's 75th Anniversary year will be sold by Senate members soon, it was decided at the meeting. The Exchange Store has 1,700 medallions on hand, Parse said, and will have 5,000 shortly.

"These are excellent souvenirs of A&M's 75th Anniversary," Parse explained. "They will be sold for 50¢ each, with half the money going to the Senate."

On a motion by Bill Boddeker, the Senate voted to earmark the profits from the medallion sales for the Campus Chest. Last year, half of the Campus Chest fund was given to the Twelfth Man Scholarship fund, used to send a selected student through school—courtesy of the student body.

Malcom, Woodard, Garrard, Parker, Are Queen Finalists

A committee of twelve, representing the faculty and student body, chose the four finalists for the 75th Anniversary Queen contest which is reaching its latter stages.

Lennie Garrard, Ann Malcom, Pat Parker, and Helen Woodard were the top choices in the pickings.

Sponsored by The Commentator, a student publication representing the Arts and Sciences school, the Queen contest received a great deal of response from the students with thirty candidates being entered.

George Charlton and Herman Gollob, co-editors of The Commentator, said that the contest was very successful and they want to thank all that took part in it. They also added that they were sorry that all of the candidates' pictures were not run in The Battalion, but because of late entries some were not able to receive public recognition as was planned.

Special Dance Planned

The four finalists will be presented at a special afternoon dance in the Memorial Student Center,

Queen Finalist

Ann Malcom

Helen Woodard

Lennie Garrard

Pat Parker

November 4th, the day of the Arkansas-A&M game. At half-time, during the encounter between the two Southwest Conference schools, the Queen will be presented to the student body.

Besides statewide recognition which is planned for the quartet of beauties, the winner will adorn the cover of the January issue of The Commentator, and the other entries will be shown on the inside of the magazine.

Miss Malcom, who last year was the Class of '51's sweetheart, attends Southern Methodist and is from Abilene. She was entered by J. D. Hinton, also of Abilene and a senior architect student.

Past Sweetheart

Aggie sweetheart of '48-'49, Miss Parker graduated last year from TSCW and is now a 2nd lieutenant on a dietetic internship at Brooke Army Hospital. Doyle Avant entered the past sweetheart in the contest.

Duchess in the Cotton Pageant last year Helen Woodard, of Houston, will be the date of Russell Hagens, Senior Architect student.

She was also a contestant in the Miss Zither contest in Houston last year.

Lennie Garrard, of Houston, was a beauty last year at the University of Houston, and will be escorted by John Tapley, junior yell leader. She lives in Houston.

Committee Members

Frank Manitzas, contest chairman, George Charlton and Herman Gollob, Co-editors of The Commentator.

Non-student members were: Grady Elms, vice assistant dean of men for activities; J. P. Abbott, Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences; C. C. French, dean of the college; and Col. E. W. Napier, PAS&T.

Corps Not to March For TCU Game

The Corps of Cadets will not march in to the TCU game this weekend, Col. H. L. Boatner, commandant and PMS&T, has announced.

The march-in was postponed because of the Traffic congestion and the difficulty in taking up tickets, he said.

Colonel Davis, Other Officers Called to Camp

Col. Joe Davis, former assistant commandant, left Thursday for Camp Chafee, Ark. to assume command of the 4020 Infantry Training Regiment, according to Lt. Col. Marion P. Bowden who succeeded Col. Davis as assistant commandant.

Also leaving for Camp Chafee are Capt. W. A. Hill, Capt. H. R. Williams, and Capt. Dave Wilson. Col. Davis is a graduate of A&M, class of '29 and has served here almost continuously since 1930.

During World War II he served at Fort Leavenworth and Fort Hood for a time until he returned here as adjutant and executive officer.

In December of 1946 Col. Davis was appointed assistant commandant.

Capt. Williams came here in 1948 as a tactical officer at the annex and was a military counselor until he left this year.

Capt. Hill came to A&M in 1949 and served as assistant to J. Wayne Stark, director of the MSC, Lt. Col. Bowden continued.

Capt. Wilson came here in 1947 to join the Range and Forestry Department from the Clearwater Timber Protective Association of Idaho. He was an assistant Fire Warden in charge of grazing.

"Col. Joe" Davis has lived in College Station since he started school in 1925. He holds a B. A. degree in Education and has done graduate work in sociology.

Hats will not be worn inside the Memorial Student Center by members of the Cadet Corps, the Senior Class decided in a meeting yesterday.

Proposed by Wilman "Pusher" Barnes, the regulation was suggested as a means for honoring Aggie war dead to whom the building will be dedicated later this year.

Uniform regulations discussed at the session had been previously outlined in a meeting of commanding officers this week. Subject to approval of the commandant, the Senior Class proposed:

Proposed Regulations
For freshmen: regulation first year basic uniform, brass to be straight and not filed, cross stitching on patches, no wide belt buckles.

For sophomores: Nylon Khaki belts, garrison caps, either khaki or wool with stiffener; key chain out of formation (for sophomores in good standing as determined by

SWC Opener, Dance Highlight Weekend

By Sid Abernathy

A regimental ball tonight followed by midnight yell practice, a football game Saturday afternoon with two bands performing between halves, and an All-College dance Saturday night will offer a wide variety of entertainment for both students and visitors this weekend.

The Seventh Regimental Ball tonight in the Second-Floor Ballroom of the Memorial Student Center will begin the schedule of events.

Music for the ball, which begins at 8 p. m. and lasts until 11:30 p. m., will be furnished by Bill Turner and the Aggieldand Orchestra.

All seniors are invited to attend the ball. Tickets can be purchased from Don Sheffield, Regimental Commander, in Dorm 12 before the dance or from seniors at the door tonight.

The Aggie Band will meet a special train from Fort Worth scheduled to arrive in College Station at 12:15 p. m. and escort the visitors to Duncan Hall. The visiting band will be guests at a luncheon in Duncan Hall, as will be visiting cheer leaders.

A&M's Welcoming Committee made the arrangements this week with the TCU student body for their weekend here. Facilities available at the MSC and dining facilities were explained by the committee.

An information booth will be set up in the MSC and will be manned by the corps to provide visitors with information about the campus, location of dormitories and buildings, and other general information.

Committee Members

Members of the committee making the trip were Doyle Griffin, Bill Moss, Dan Davis, and Tom Jewell. They were welcomed to TCU by Bill Hooser, president of the TCU student body, who played host to the men at a special luncheon.

The committee made the trip in the interest of better sportsmanlike relations among student bodies of Southwest Conference Schools. It was the first such trip of the year for the Aggies.

Weekend Highlight

Highlighting this weekend will be the clash between the football teams of A&M and TCU on Kyle Field Saturday at 2 p. m.

According to information received from the Military Department the Cadet Corps will not parade before the game, but both school bands will perform during the half-time activities.

Entertainment will be provided in the fountain room of the Memorial Student Center following the football game.

All College Dance

Saturday night at 9 p. m. Bill Turner and his Aggieldand Orchestra will invade Sbsa Hall to play for the first All-College dance of the season. Dressed in their new suits and armed with a long list of danceable tunes, the orchestra will play until 12 midnight.

The TCU student body will be guests of A&M's student body at the dance Saturday night. They can also be paid guests at the Seventh Regimental Ball tonight.

Senior Boots
For seniors: senior boots and accessories to be worn on or off campus only by students who have attended A&M for at least three semesters as a member of the Cadet Corps, wool battle jackets for social occasions, pink serge shirts.

A heated discussion produced a majority vote favoring a proposal that only senior cadets be allowed to continue eating during announcements in the dining hall.

Traffic congestion at the Grove on yell practice nights was discussed and a proposal that seniors only be allowed to go to yell practice by automobile received a favorable vote.

Warren's Singing Captivates Crowd

When Leonard Warren stepped across the Guion Hall stage last night, and began to sing "Old Man River," he was putting the wraps on a sizzling opening night performance that gave the 1950-51 Town Hall a flying start.

From his first selection, "Aria di Floridante" from "Floridante" by Handel, to the last "O Thank Me Not The Songs I Sing Thee," Warren captivated the audience with a ringing baritone that made it easy to understand why he is

UN to Decide If Trygve Lie Will Keep Job

Lake Success, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The United Nations Security Council meets today (2:30 p.m. EST) to try again to decide whether or not Trygve Lie keeps his job as secretary general.

The outcome, key delegations say, is a toss-up.

Russia is determined to throw Lie out because he supported wholeheartedly United Nations action to combat aggression in Korea. Russia maintains that the North Koreans were innocent victims of American and South Korean warmaking.

The Soviet Union is supported in its campaign against Lie by Nationalist China—usually her bitter enemy in the U.N. Chiang Kai-Shek's representative resents the fact that Lie favors seating the Chinese Communist government in the U. N.

The United States strongly favors another term for the former Norwegian foreign minister.

Military Correspondence Exposed By Lunar Expert

By JOHN WHITMORE
Battalion Lunar Expert

While conducting a survey of the Moon's activity from atop Ross Hall, I fell through the roof.

And by luck I fell in a little room housing the secret and restricted directives of the Military Department.

One little black book, embossed in gold leaf "with do not open unless a full colonel or higher" caught my attention.

Hoping it was a book on moon phases, I read it.

Now it can be told—it was the US Army FM 23-34-56-68-FR 23/2, or Glossary of Official Correspondence Expressions, Modified for use of Air Force.

I jotted a few of the more common terms for publication, feeling it my duty to inform the public and to win a Boy Scout Merit Badge for fine writing.

They are as follows:
Concur Generally: Have not read the document and don't want to be bound by anything I say.

In Conference: We don't know where he is.

Please expedite: For God's sake,

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 on Kyle Field, A&M's first successful football team in three years will be ready to spoil Texas Christian's perfect conference record and take the SWC lead by winning the opener of the conference season for A&M. TCU defeated Arkansas, 13-6, in their only league tilt.

Saturday will also be the opening day for three other conference teams. Texas University opens with Arkansas, and both SMU and Rice open their conference schedule, playing each other.

Head Football Coach Harry Stiteler calls Saturday, "the day that we open season." The main reason for his statement seems to be that this is the first time in three years that the Aggie football team has entered a game as favorites.

The last time that A&M won a conference game was in 1947 when, with the aid of Stax Holmigs' terrific booting, the Cadets swamped Baylor, 24-0. Since that time until now, the Aggies have been underdogs in every conference tilt and in most of their inter-sectional games.

Backfield Stars Return

The return of Billy Tidwell and Charley Royalty will bolster the Maroon and White backfield, but W. T. Rush and Max Greiner, both starting guards, may not start, because of injuries.

Delmer Sikes will start at his regular quarterback position, and the conference's leading touchdown passer will be trying to push his total to six scoring passes to seven. Although the Aggies are supposed to have a weak passing offense, they trail in second place behind Southern Methodist in scoring passes with eight.

But with all of the leaders that the Aggies have in conference statistical departments, they should be able to score enough against the Horned Frogs to win. Having already scored 162 points—70 points more than all of last season—A&M leads the SWC in touchdowns, PATs, and, of course, total points.

Smith Shows Way

In ground gaining, Bruisin' Bob Smith with his total of 447 yards has shown the way, but has received considerable support from his flankers, Billy Tidwell and Glenn Lippman. Tidwell holds a 9.4 average with 264 yards to his credit while Lippman has a 4.8 average with 279 yards by his name.

All in all, it seems that tomorrow it will be the Aggies' day. On the forward wall, the Cadets average 196 pounds offensively, 207 defensively, and are loaded to the hilt with reserves.

Probable Starters

Starting on offense will probably be Andy Hillhouse and Charley Hodge at the end spots, Hillhouse weighing 230 pounds while Hodge weighs but 187. At the tackle posts may be Russell Hudeck, who didn't play last week against Virginia Military, and Sam Moses, who also sat out the VMI game.

Playing offensive guard will be Carl Molberg and Jimmy Flowers while Hugh Meyer will handle the position over the ball.

Sikes will quarterback the team with Lippman and Tidwell filling up the halfback slots, and Smith (See AGGIE, Page 6)

Dr. Millikan, Nobel Winner To Speak In Guion Tonight

By BERT HARDAWAY

Dr. Robert A. Millikan, winner of the Nobel Prize in 1926, author of the first American Physics textbook, and isolator of the electron, will speak to the student body and faculty tonight on "Supreme Elements in Human Progress" the address will be in Guion Hall.

Dr. Millikan, 82 year old scientist, has won 20 honors including the Hughes, Edison, and Faraday Medals; Nobel Prize (1926); and others representing nine governments. He stopped counting his Honorary Degrees when they passed 25.

His career started when he began teaching Physics, a subject which he knew nothing about, during his junior year at college. He had planned to be a gym instructor, but became so absorbed in this new subject that he determined to become a physicist instead.

Farm Boy

Dr. Millikan's parents preferred life in small Illinois and Iowa towns, so their son spent much time working on farms. Dr. Millikan says that he milked more than 10,000 cows and curried more than 20,000 horses between his eight and eighteenth birthdays.

It has been said that the past 50 years of Millikan's life tells two stories: his own, and that of American Science. The true science of Physics was born only in the 24 months preceding his birth, with the discovery of the X-ray and development of the theory of electromagnetism.

Major Contributions

His best known contribution to science are the isolation and measurement of the electron. The isolation of the atom made it possible to count the number of molecules in any given weight of any simple substance with absolute accuracy.

Dr. Millikan also found the source of cosmic rays and assigned them their true importance.

Now serving as Vice Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the California Institute of Technology, Dr. Millikan devotes much of his time to showing that there is no gap between science and religion. His belief is that the world is built on two "spirits": the spirit of science (and knowledge), and the spirit of religion. His life is an avowal of his philosophy.
