VMI's Joe Stump Did OK Till He Hit Aggie Forward Wall

Lexington, Oct. 20—(SFC)—which broke the 13-13 third-quarter score. Even more valuable to V.M.I. this season has been Joe Stump, who averaged more than a hundred yards per game until the Texas A&M battle where he was held to a net total of 54 by a big, fast Aggie line. "Joltin' Joe" did well to go as far as he did that evening, and still averages better than 93 per outing. His average per try is 4.3, far above par for fullbacks.

Clayton Marable

The "old man" of the TCU team, 24-year-old Clarence "Red" Marable will be seeking revenge Saturday in the ranks of the Cadets. Red received a knee injury in the Aggie-Frog game last year and was out for the rest of the season.

Dove Season Opens Today

Today will probably find a great number of hunters in the field for the opening day of dove season, the season that millions of American sportsmen look forward to with keen and impatient anticipation and look back on with pleasurable recollection.

The mourning dove, a migratory species, has long been a popular game bird of Texas sportsmen. They have always been rather numerous in Texas, and survey data shows there has been an increase in the numbers of these birds during the last 15 years in spite of increased hunting.

It has become popular in South Texas because of the shortening of open seasons on other game and because it opens before others.

The great majority of mourning doves in Texas hatch and rear their young during the period from April to about mid-September. Consequently dove hunting does not open in Brazos County until October 20th. The daily bag limit possession is 10 with some local exceptions. The shooting hours are from one hour before sunrise until one hour before sunset, also with local exceptions.

TCU Planning Upset Over Favored Aggies

By Fred Walker

Imbued with the shrewd calculation of upsetting the highly-favored Texas Aggies, the TCU Horned Frogs will pile into Kyle Field tomorrow at 2 p. m. to contest a team which hasn't beaten them since 1946.

For the past week Dutch Meyer has been singing the blues, but reports from Harry Stiteler's office says the Aggies took a hint from the Frog victory over Arkansas and will be ready with determination, not over-confidence to take the Purple and White.

TCU will be powered by quarterback Gilbert "Dual Purpose" Bartosh, star passer and runner. Already being compared to the great Davey O'Brien and the versatile Lindy Berry, Bartosh, an academic junior but an athletic sophomore, leads the Southwest Conference and is 16th nationally on total offense. Against Tech he personally accounted for 152 yards—70 on the ground and 82 via the air. He didn't play the second half.

Of any comparison is to be made between these two clubs, it can be done from the teams' show-against Tech. First downs ran 12 apiece when TCU played them. The total yardage was 368 for TCU and 307 for Tech. Against A&M, Tech ran up 15 firsts against 19 for the Aggies, while the yardage was 273 and 305 respectively.

Heavy Backs

Rounding out the backfield will be veterans Johnny Dunn and John Morton and Sophomore Bobby Jack Floyd. Dunn, who lettered last the Frogs in that department. Starting at fullback will be Floyd who weighs in at 200. A hard-driving, bull-necked runner, Floyd is expected to be the main offensive threat on the ground.

Marable and Eubank Ready

Charging from line positions will be two of the most respected linemen in the Conference—center Max Eubank and tackle Red Marable. Eubank, a three-year letterman who has yet to play a down of football this fall, backs up the line and is a fine pass defender as well as the regular offensive center.

Also a three-letter man and two platoon player, Marable missed the first two games due to a knee injury. The 220 lb. right tackle has long been lauded by sports writers, and many expect him to make the All-Southwest Conference team this year.

Billy Willingham and Milton Farmer, both two-year lettermen, will hold down left and right guard respectively. Both turned in splendid performances against Tech.

The ends will be Bob Moorman, Wilson George, and Bill Moorman. The Moorman twins are three-year lettermen and are known as the best defensive end team in the SWC. George usually alternates with Bob Moorman and fills his capable shoes.

TCU's offensive line will average about 208 lbs. while the defensive unit weighs in around 222. The presence of Morton and Floyd in the backfield would bring that average to 191.

Offensive Game Expected

At no time in the '50 season has TCU been at full strength, but Meyer hopes to field practically all of his first-stringers tomorrow. Against a heavier and deeper Arkansas line the "crippled" Frogs ran amuck.

Neither the Aggies or Frogs are taking the game lightly. The Frogs listened to Bud Wilkerson say that "They (the Aggies) grind you down, blast you to pieces and take you apart. . . . nine aren't enough to stop that Aggie smashing." TCU has been working vigorously on defense since.

Bulls Lead MS Keglers

The Bulls retained their lead in the Military Science Bowling League by splitting against the Flyers, 2-2, Thursday night at the MSC alleys.

M/Sgt. Milheiser was high triple for the Army non-coms with 542 in their match with the Air Force non-coms. The Army non-coms shutout the Air Force, 4-0.

year at half, looms as one of the Frogs' top backfield stars of 1950. He has picked up more power this year and has already proved to be one of the fastest men in the Conference. If unable to play, Dunn will be relieved by "defensive" halfback John Harville who averaged eight yards per against Tech. The 220 lb. Morton has been transferred from half to full following injury to John Medanich, the usual right halfback. Last year he scored 42 points to lead

Arkansas Meets TU for 32nd Time

Fayetteville, Ark., Oct. 20—(Spc)—The Arkansas Razorbacks will be on hand to see a third straight Southwest Conference school get its loop season underway this Saturday when the Porkers journey to the Texas state capital for their 32nd battle with the Texas Longhorns.

The series, which dates back to Arkansas' first year of football, 1894, has always been one of the most colorful in the southwest—this despite the overwhelming margin of victories held by the Steers.

Otis Douglas is Arkansas' 20th head football coach—but only one of that number has had the honor of celebrating a victory over Texas—Fred Thomsen. The period from 1933 to 1938—a lean one in Texas football history—was a fruitful one for Arkansas. Thomsen's charges took over and handed the Longhorns five defeats in the six years. They have been the only wins in the 54-year history of battle between the two schools.

Douglas admitted he was unfamiliar with football as played in the Southwest Conference prior to becoming Arkansas' head coach—and adds with the same breath—unfamiliar with any so-called jinx that Texas might hold over Arkansas.

Records don't lie as far as he's concerned but his Arkansas football squad isn't going to be awed by the Steer's series domination. He still admits frankly that his ball club makes a lot of mistakes—but at the same time it is improving week by week.

The Porkers gathered momentum and much-needed poise against the Baylor Bears in a 27-6 lashing last Saturday and emerged from the game in good physical shape. Douglas was visibly pleased with the Razorback line—a forward wall that will meet its match in experience and size this week. Against Baylor the Hogs did a superb job of bottling up quarterback Larry (See PORKER, Page 6)

WATCH OUT

GHOST-AND-GHOUL time is almost here. It won't be long before dark shadows dance across the face of the moon, and ghosts walk in the black hours before dawn. Witches will hold their yearly conclaves in their hide-away caves, watching the pot that always boils but never runs over. And the superstitious, those who fear All Hallows Eve, will take precautions against the evil that they feel sure will be abroad in greater force than on any night in the year.

YES, MANY PEOPLE are superstitious about Hallowe'en. They're also leery of black cats, leaning ladders, and broken mirrors.

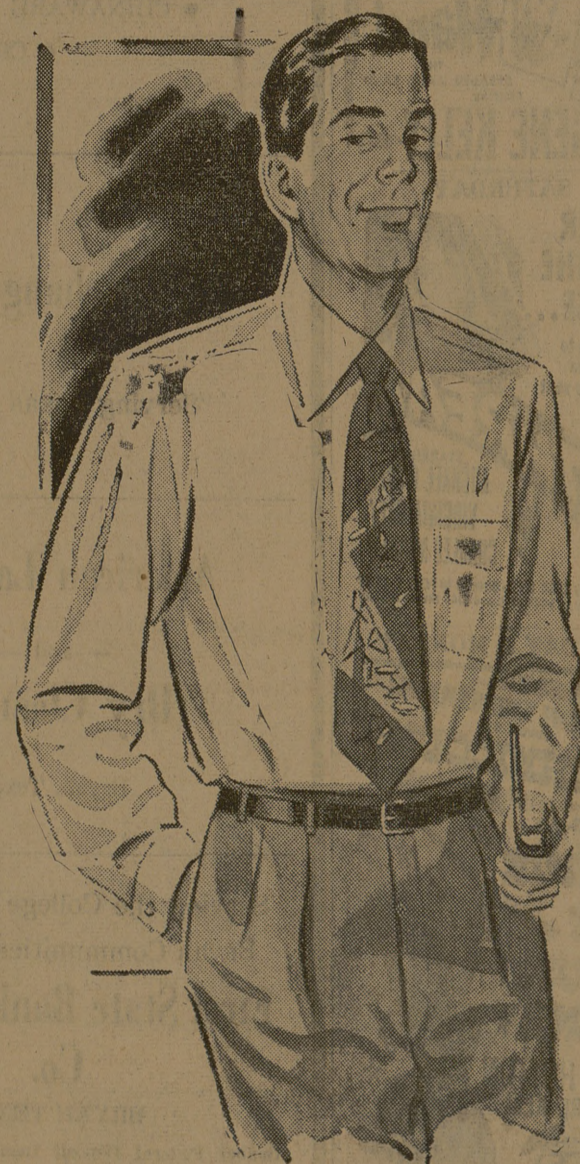

BUT IT'S NO superstition that Battalion advertising brings in results, on Hallowe'en as well as on the other 364 days in the year. Whether it's false faces or furs that you have to sell, an ad in The Battalion will reach the right people.
