Carillon Bells Make Their Debut

Beautiful, metallic notes floated through the air of College Station yesterday. The A&M Methodist Church's new carillon bells were making their debut.

The bells were given the church in memory of the late J. R. Woodson of Bryan, by his daughters Mrs. Charles E. Cade Jr. of Bryan, and Mrs. Howard Hughes of Somerville, Woodson, former owner of the Woodson Lumber Co. in Bryan was a leading member of the Methodist Church in his lifetime. He was originally a native of Caldwell.

Now temporarily installed in the tabernacle at the church, the bells will eventually be housed in a tower atop the new sanctuary. A formal recital and dedication of the bells will be held at a later date.

The bell-system is made up of a 25 note keyboard, a characteristic of carillon bells. Flemish bells, another common type, have a 36-note keyboard. Both can be played at the console of the organ and used in conjunction with the organ or played separately.

When not manually operated, the bells are played through the use of special records which each contain a four-and-one-half minute melody. The records operate the bells in a manner comparable to that used with well-known player piano or music box.

Tones are electrically amplified, causing the bells to be heard within a two mile radius. The system also boasts a time-clock system which provides programs automatically at any desired time.

The English style carillon bells are the first of their kind in this vicinity according to the Rev. James F. Jackson of the A&M Methodist Church. There are chimes, but no bells nearer than Waco as far as he knows.

The bells may be played only within the church if desired or only exteriorly. They can also be played both ways simultaneously.

Present plans call for a bell program of hymns to begin at 10:45 each Sunday morning.

In the house party mesdames Al B. Nelson, C. B. Campbell, Ivan Landford, Jack Howell, R. E. Snuggs, H. W. Barlow, M. Peters, Highland Porter, and G. Sam Parker will assist.

Untied, Undefeated

fensive minutes. A series of three fumbles gave the Frogs possession inside the Cadet 20 and Homer Ludiker made his scoring debut of the game to send the pigskin through the uprights on a fourth down field goal.

TCU strengthened their three point lead six plays later when alert Frank Struska intercepted Ray Graves attempted screen pass and ran 44 yards unmolested for a berth in paydirt. A&M's Hugh Meyer bolted through the Frog defense to block Ludiker's attempted conversion and the Aggies trailed by nine points as the half ended.

Tidwell Scores First

When play resumed after the halftime entertainment, Stiteler's adept Cadets elected to receive and in 13 plays with Gardemal at the helm drove 63 yards for the first Aggie counter. Tidwell dimaxed the drive with a skirt around left end for the remaining 18 yards. Darrow Hooper converted his first of six extra point attempts for the afternoon.

Carl Molberg set up the next Cadet score when he intercepted Gil Bartosh's aerial on the TCU 41 and returned it to the 30. The Cadets marched five yards deeper into Frogland and Tidwell played the key role in a delayed reverse that took him around left end for 25 yards and another six point tally to his credit. Hooper again converted and the Aggies led for the first time 14 to 9.

Playing the loser's role for the first time, TCU again started a rally which carried them from their own 33 to paydirt. A 15 yard pass from Bartosh to Wilde climaxed the 67 yard drive. Ludiker was successful with his second conversion attempt, giving the Frogs a two-point lead over the Cadets as the stages of the game entered the fourth quarter.
