

Ags, Steers, Hogs Picked For Wins

By FRANK N. MANITZAS
Battalion Sports Editor

Southern Methodist, the No. 1 team in the nation, will remain undefeated over the weekend since they will not play but rest and wait for their game with Texas University, Saturday week. The rest of the Southwest Conference will be playing, four teams engaged in conference tilts.

Manitzas

The Longhorns tangle with Rice Owls at Houston, and it should be quite a ball game with all of the 70,000 tickets already sold.

A&M meets Baylor in the other conference game, with the Bears celebrating a homecoming.

Arkansas and Texas Christian will also play, but against teams from other conferences.

The Razorbacks tangle with Vanderbilt while the Horned Frogs meet Mississippi University. Arkansas plays at Little Rock and TCU at Memphis, Tenn.

Throughout the nation, here's the way their picking the winners: Texas over Rice, A&M to down Baylor, Vanderbilt to stop Arkansas, and Ole' Miss to trip TCU.

So far this year we have picked 19 conference games right, and eight wrong for an average of .703. In these pickings, we have picked one upset—OU over TU—but lost on others, but at the same time we have come fairly close on our scores. From now on, we wonder what the scores will be.

Aggies to Edge Bears, 28-21

At the beginning of the week we sent out releases with our predictions of the Southwest Conference which included with some of the regular malarkey, the indication that the Aggies would easily roll over the Bears by a four touchdown margin.

Now, we hope we can BEAT Baylor.

Many reasons are responsible for us changing our predictions, but we believe the words of A&M's Head Trainer Bill Dayton will explain everything:

"What has happened during the week between Baylor and A&M—the bear-snatching, etc.—has brought the Baylor team to a new high of enthusiasm and they are more fired up than Coach George Sauer could ever get Baylor.

Texas Longhorns To Romp Rice, 33-20

Although many are predicting upsets in favor of the Owls, we pick the Steers, and with a 13 point margin for one simple reason. TU is good; they have yet to show what they can do, but we believe that the Longhorns will roll this coming weekend, and if there is any team—with the exception of the Aggies—that TU would most like to beat we can't think of it.

Last year at Memorial Stadium, both teams—TU and Rice—met. Both were undefeated, both were strong favorites for the conference title.

Texas outplayed the Owls all over the field: in rushing TU had rolled up 236 yards to Rice's 148 yards and in the air, TU led with 136 to 53.

Arkansas to Down Vanderbilt, 34-20

Arkansas big, stout line will be the difference in weekend inter-sectional battle between the Razorbacks of the Ozarks and the Commodores of Vanderbilt.

Although the Commodores expected to win their last game easily, Florida surprised them, knocking them from the unbeaten ranks, 31-27. In other games this season Vanderbilt has defeated Middle Tennessee, 47-0; Auburn, 41-0; Alabama, 27-22; and Mississippi University, 20-14.

The Porkers, on the other hand, do not boast such a fine record, but they have won every other game which they have played, and the tilt against Vandy is No. 6.

Last week, the Hogs showed that they must have something holding a lead over the University of Texas until the final period of play when the Longhorns went on to score and win the game, 19-14.

Bill Wade's passing and Jim Tabor's attack just as potent as ever, but we depend on the Porkers' line to keep up the SWC's good record among inter-sectional opponents.

With big Bob Griffin on the defensive side of the Arkansas forward wall, Wade's running may be halted, and remember that the Porkers' also have quite a runner—Ray Parks.

So will leave it up to the Ozarkians line to decide the final score with Arkansas ahead, 34-20.

TCU to Tie Mississippi, 13-13

It will be the third meeting between Ole Miss and the TCU Frogs encounter which was in the Delta this weekend in Memphis, Tenn.

That's it.

A fired up team like the Bears is a dangerous team. With Larry Isbell's passing and Stanley Williams' fine end play, it will be quite a job for the Aggies should the Bears be playing over their heads.

Last year Baylor blanked A&M, 21-0. Statistics ran something like this (Baylor's given first): first downs, 16-7; own fumbles lost, 0-1; net yards rushing, 127-126; passes attempted, 22-5; passes completed, 13-3; net yards passing, 188-40; touchdown passes, 1-0; punt runbacks in yards, 87-11; and yards penalized, 40-20.

But this year, matters have stacked up differently and we take A&M by seven points, 28-31.

First downs were in favor of the Orange and White, but in one department, the Steers didn't lead. The department was—the field goal department which included those attempted in the closing seconds of the game.

Froggie Williams, All-American end, caught one of the passes that gave the Owls one TD, kicked two extra points and the winning field goal.

This season, both teams are ready, willing, and able, but the Austinites should be the second team in two weeks to romp over Rice, who, although they have a good team, are not up to par with the main cogs of the SWC.

We take the Byron Townsend led Steers over the George Glaunder led Owls, 33-20.

White was high point man of the contest with 11 points.

Company 1, trailing 12-3 at the half, came fighting back in the second half and held Company 5 to the sum total of no points but were unable to amass enough digits to win the contest.

The final score was 12-10. Acre of Company 5 was the high point man of the engagement with six points. Brandt and Ohlendorf led the Company 1 cagers with four tallies each.

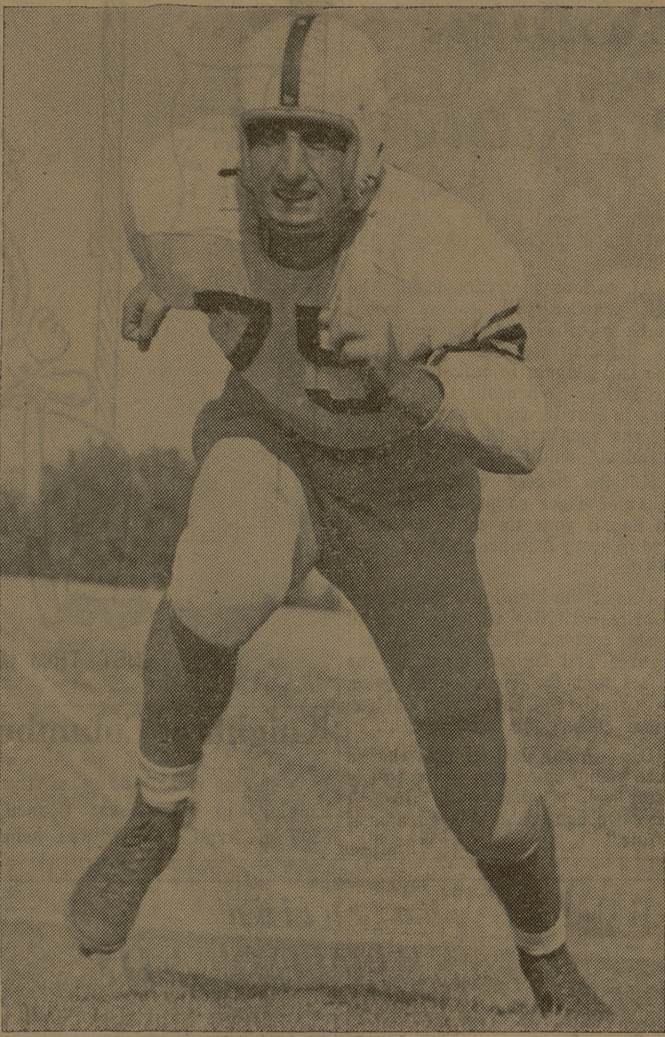

Company 7 smashed an out-classed Company 9 team, 22-9. Lockshin was the leading point maker for the winners and of the game he sent nine points through the hoop. His teammate, Bob Morgan was close behind with eight corners to his credit.

Leggett piled up a 17-9 lead at halftime and coasted in to defeat Bizzell, 23-15. Irish was high point man of the day with eight. R. Stegemeir led the crusading Bizzell cagers with six markers. Thurman Boswell had five.

Dunkin and Nark led Company 4 to an easy 23-13 win over Company

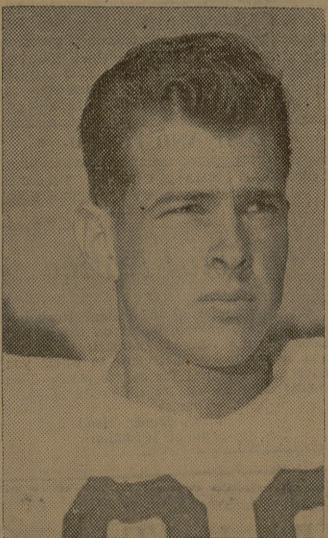

The Mississippians won the first between Ole Miss and the TCU Frogs encounter which was in the Delta this weekend in Memphis, Tenn.

Rough Aggie Tackle

Sam Moses

Moses is one of the Aggies top tackles and is playing his second year on the varsity. Weighing over 200 pounds, Big Sam is quite a hustler.

Charley Royalty

Royalty will be on the Aggie lineup tomorrow for the first time since the VMI game and the little halfback may get to play against the Bears.

Bears In Best Mental, Physical Condition for Saturday's Game

By FRED WALKER

The Baylor Bears, keyed as delicate as a tuning fork after numerous "prank" incidents, will loose a team against the Aggies tomorrow which will be in the best physical and mental condition of the season.

Coach George Sauer, former Navy mentor, stated yesterday that during the more rugged workouts this week, Baylor blocking has been better than any time previously and the whole squad was showing the best of spirits.

Returning to action will be tackles John Hancock and Luke Welch, a former All-Stater from Dayton, Tenn., turned in speed and hustle during spring training to be one of the bright prospects. Another All-Stater, Day impressed many with his dazzling speed. Hancock has looked good at defensive tackle.

Offensive Lineup

The Baylor offense will stack up this way. Ends: Bob Trout, 190, 6-2; has extra drive—Harold Riley, 195, 6-2; letterman; has caught 15 passes for 197 yards and is the fifth ranking pass receiver in the Conference. Tackles: Steve Dowden, 215, 6-2; letterman; strong, fast, aggressive—Walter Still, 190, 6-0; letterman; good enough to fill the tackle slot at a below-normal weight. Guards: Walter Bates, 190, 5-10; letterman; fast but hampered by a trick knee—Byrce Reid, 200, 6-1; letterman; most aggressive man on the club; 60-minute man. Center: Danny Cockrane, 200, 6-2; letterman (2); dependable experience.

Isbell Dangerous

Quarterback: Larry Isbell, 180, 6-2; second best passer in the Conference by completing 34 of 75 for 4 TDs and 465 yards; 10th punter in the nation and best in the Conference with an average of 41.3 an 31 kicks. Halfbacks: James Jeffery, 185, 5-11; letterman, ninth leading ball carrier of the Conference with 253 yards or 3.7 per carry; No. 2 ground gainer in 1949—Buddy Parker, 158, 5-10; letterman (2); tied for fourth in Conference scoring; fast seaback. Fullback: Richard Parma, 190, 6-0; promising sophomore; hard-driving and fairly fast.

On the defense will be Terry Downs and George Cook at end; Luke Welch and Ken Casner at tackle, Bill Athey and John Hancock playing guard, Gayle Galloway and Frank Boydston linebackers and James Mott, Johnny Curtis and Glenn Jones holding down the halfback and safety slots. Mott, Boydston and Cook have lettered two years at a defensive post while Downs, Casner, Galloway and Curtis have earned one letter each. Boydston is another 60-minute man.

Against this crew Coach Harry Stiteler will send the same men who started last week's game against TCU with the exception of Dick Gardemal who will replace Delmar Sikes at quarterback. Also returning to action will be Buddy Shaeffer, Charley Royalty and W. T. Rush.

A call to Stiteler's office assured the public that "no one would be out" and that the Aggies will be in "good shape." This includes Billy Tidwell and Glenn Lippman who were roughed up last week. Stiteler went on to say that "the boys were not overconfident. They don't have too much to be proud of yet."

So far this season Baylor has lost to a fine Wyoming team 7-0. (They have not been defeated through five games), walloped Houston 34-7, upset highly-favored Mississippi State 14-7, was trounced by a heavier and more experienced Arkansas eleven 27-6 and took Texas Tech 26-12. If the Aggie and Baylor efforts against Tech were compared the picture would be about the same. First downs were 17 to 14 in favor of the Bears and 19 to 15 on the Aggie side. For total offense the Bears gained 371 yards and Tech 321 while it was 305 and 273 respectively when A&M was in San Antonio.

The Bear-Aggie series started in 1899 and through 51 years there have been 46 games played. Of these the Aggies have won 29, lost 11 and tied six. The largest Baylor win came in 1901 when they defeated A&M 47-0, but nine years later the Aggies got revenge by stifling the Bears 53-0.

This will be Homecoming for Baylor and to lend dignity to the affair will be present the noted Bryan team of 1930—a team which included All-American Bochey Koch. The kickoff will come at 2 p. m. and a goodly crowd is expected to view a battle which will be intensified by an exchange of pranks by both schools.

Tigers Hold Weight Edge Over Bastrop

By CHUCK NEIGHBORS

The Consolidated Tigers go against Bastrop tonight with a slight advantage in weight. Bastrop's biggest player, Kelly, the left end, weighs in at a solid 185 pounds, but the remainder of the Bastrop squad are anything but Goliaths, with the average at about 140 pounds.

Bobby Williams, who played for a quarter in the Smithville game, will be out of action in tonight's affair because of an injured knee.

Good news for the Tigers will be the return of end Billy Richards who was sidelined in the Smithville conflict with a sore ankle.

Melvin Free, Dave Bonnen, and Billy Smith are expected to see a lot of action on defense as are Bobby Jackson and Jimmy Richards.

Bastrop, running expertly from a single wing, has an excellent passer in Wolf, their fullback. Wolf's ability prompted Coach Othel Chafin of Consolidated to keep his boys working on pass defense at every practice this past week.

Other players in the exceptional category for thrice-beaten Bastrop, are Turner, the wingback, and Meuth a 168 pound defensive guard.

Says Consolidated's mentor, "We'll play wide open, and with a little luck we can win."

According to Principal C. L. Boze of Consolidated, there will be two buses running to Bastrop for the benefit of the students. The fare will be sixty cents.
