 Aggie hopes were high before the Turkey Day game with Texas U., and the Farmers turned these hopes into the realization of victory as they overpowered their Longhorn friends 28-0.
Cadets Tromp Steers
 College Station, Thanksgiving Day, 1927—Joel Hunt was in great form today as he lead the Texas Aggies to the Southwestern Conference Championship by defeating the Texas Longhorns 28 to 7 on Kyle Field. The first score came when the game was hardly five minutes old, and the Longhorns were unable to master D. X. Bible's rest on the gridiron through the rest of the game.

 Midway in the second quarter the Longhorns, lead by Joe King and Bill Ford, managed to pierce the invincible Aggie line and shove across the loan Texas tally, but other than this surge of superhuman power the Longhorns showed nothing to compare with Joel Hunt and his aggregation of CHAMPIONS. When the final gun echoed the Longhorns emerged from under orange colored blanket to congratulate the Fighting Texas Aggies, 1927 Conference Champions.

A&M Edges SMU
 College Station, Nov. 14, 1939—Two of the greatest teams in the history of the Southwest Conference battled for a full 60 minutes here Saturday afternoon on a water-logged field under the dripping skies before 30,000 spectators, the largest non-Thanksgiving crowd in history, as the Aggies rang up victory number eight, this time against the fast stepping Southern Methodist Mustangs. The final score on the board was Aggies 6, SMU 2, as most of the crowd swarmed the soggy field.
 For 56 minutes the ball game belonged to the Aggies, but at this point Marshall Robnett, who played an outstanding game, intercepted a Pony pass and after zigging across the field a few times, lateraled, but the officials called it a forward pass and penalized the Aggies to the shadow of their goal.
 Conatser went back to punt out but was rushed fast by Goss, the Pony left end, and Conatser had to fall on the blocked kick to give the Ponies a safety. From there on out the Mustangs kept the Aggie team in the air with their passing. The Ponies ran four plays in 45 seconds three in eight and one in one.
 The Cadets scored their touchdown in the second period after Vaughn had recovered a Pony fumble deep in Mustang territory. John Kimbrough, on two plays, put the ball on the Pony two yard stripe and on the third play he scored.
TU Beaten, Again
 College Station, Dec. 4, 1939—The scoreboard showed a "20" under AGGIES and a "0" under VISITORS Thursday evening as the 40,000 rain-soaked fans slowly milled their way out of the concrete bowl at College Station and headed for points far and near.
 Great kicking by Gilly Davis and Jack Crain and the fact the Aggies would take no chances kept the Cadets from scoring in the first half, although they played most of the game in Texas territory.

Tackling Dummy Arrives; Tickles All

Oct. 10, 1906—The new tackling dummy has arrived and has been erected. It furnishes great sport for the small boys and onlookers. It will be painted yellow and black.
 All the company teams are out running signals and trying a little scrimmage work now and then for excitement. The captains and managers will meet this week to arrange a schedule and to discuss the advisability of awarding the winning team with jerseys as was done this spring to the winning baseball team.
 It is a little early to mention baseball; but, as the team must be selected from those who enter this term, some idea of what we will have in the way of a team may be formed.
 Capt. Smith expresses himself as very much pleased with the outlook, and as he already knows many of the new players, we can do no better than to accept his word that our baseball team is going to be a hummer.
 The senior class has the thanks of everyone interested in the success of the team. There is no doubt that their posters were responsible for the corps remaining on the side lines during Saturday's game. Now why not issue a "proc" relative to cheering. Hardly a play during the whole game was rewarded with even a murmur. Let's get busy, fellows. "Keep on the side lines," and cheer the players every time they deserve it—and that means all the time.
 October 17, 1906—During these talks it was developed that the A&M College would be compelled to put out a track team this year if she expects to remain a member of

Comeback Tie, '48

Memorial Stadium, Nov. 30, 1948 — A confident Texas University football team ran all over Memorial Stadium before 68,000 fans last Thursday, but when the smoke had cleared, the Aggies had won a 14-14 tie game.

That night the Orange of victory and the White of defeat shone on the Memorial Tower, but as far as the Aggies were concerned, their team had defeated the highly-favored Longhorns and broken the jinx of Memorial Stadium.

A&M, winless in nine starts, stopped the vaunted Steer ground attack except for the running of Ray Borneman. Texas owed its orange lights to Borneman, and its white lights to quarterback Paul Campbell, who connected with Farmer interceptors three crucial times.

But the real difference in the game was the performance of the A&M line when the chips were down. Spearheaded by Jim Winkler, Carl Molberg and Jimmy Flowers, it stopped the Steers six times inside the Aggie twenty-yard line.

were not even in the game. When the final gun sounded the Farmers were out in front by a score of 20 to 8 enabling them to retain the Championship of the Southwest for the third straight year.

Bested TU Twice

by Baylor, the Aggies finished second year, although the Farmers bested the Steers in a two out of three game series.

The last game of the season proved to be the heartbreaker for the Aggies as Lefty Golden of the Bears held the Farmer hitting attack down for five innings to defeat the favored Cadets. At the end of the season Lefty Bumpers was voted Most-Valuable player and J. D. Scoggins was elected next year's captain.

Both Scoggins and Bumpers were named to the All-Conference team.
