night that the Cadets are closing the gates to visitors as the final week of practice gets underway in preparation for the annual Turkey Day battle with Texas.

TU also joined the Aggies in holding secret practice as they resumed workouts Wednesday.

Both of the schools have already gained entrance into post-season games, and the Nov. 30th tilt will be the regular grudge fray.

The Longhorns, Southwest Conference Champions, will engage mighty Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day while the Cadets will play in the First Annual President's Cup game at College Park, Md. against the University of Georgia Bulldogs. The game between the Cadets and the Bulldogs will be held on Dec. 9th.

Won-Lost Records

TU is entering its last lap of competition of football for the year with a 7-1, won-loss record to the Cadets' 6-3, Georgia's 5-1-3, and the Vols 8-1.

Last night at Tulsa, the Arkansas Razorbacks finished out their season, losing to the powerful Huricane, 13-28, giving the Porkers a 2-8, xon-lost season.

A&M Basketball Teams Fish Star To Show Talent Tonite

Tonight at 7 in the DeWare Field House, the 1950-51 edition of the Aggie Varsity and freshman teams will make their debuts in two intrasquad games. The Fish game starts at 7 p.m. while the varsity takes to the court at 8:30 p.m.

Head Basketball Coach John L Floyd had this to say about the Cadet quintet which last year finished in a tie for fourth place with

"This year A&M folks will several minor changes in A&M basketball. You will see the team taking 55 to 65 shots a ball game, with 95% of the shots coming from "The boys will pass the ball and move themselves until the defense is picked off or relaxes, and at that time the shot will be taken. We will take advantage of any good, fast break opportunity, but we'll be sure to have the basketball when we reach the offensive end of the

"...Several Types Defense ..."

"We will use several types of defense, but the one you will see most will be sinking man-to-man where all players work together and try to help each other by sinking off their man when he doesn't have the ball.

With dead-eye Tom Hamilton missing from the scene, Gray must gain a lot of improvement from the holdovers and a surprise by the newcomers to make much of a showing through the tough schedule. Lettermen available for the rebuilding program are Frank Womack, Joe Ed Falk and James Dowies, all of them playing regularly at the close of last season, Don Klein, George Cobb and Dickie Don Klein, George Cobb and Dickie

Most impressive of the new hands is Jimmy Viramontes, a 5-7 dervish from Las Cruces, New Mexico, who has been slowed by illness. Sophomores of promise include George Scaling and Cecil Morgan of Fort Worth, Leon Black of Martin's Mill and Kelton Brewer of Gladewater.

Viramontes, Black and Scaling will furnish speed that was needed a year ago, while Klein (6-6), Falk (6-5) and Dowies (6-3) have the eight and more know-how than fresh man eleven yesterday against the TU frosh and was the Aggies best passer, completing 6 of 10 attempts for 62 yards.
