

Aggies to Open Season Tonight

Artist, O'Bannon netted six points in Tuesday night's Bear game.

Towering five inches above the six foot mark, Bobcat Center J. C. Maze is one of the tallest men on the team. Also named to the all-league team a year ago, the lanky Maze picked up 11 points against Baylor and was high point man for the 'Cats a year ago with an average of 12.3 for his 23 games.

A host of aggressive reserves are included in Jowers' cagers and with an offensive record such as theirs, the men from San Marcos will be hard to beat.

Change at Center

Tonight's fans will see a slight change in Lloyd's lineup for the Aggies. The change being Marvin Martin to start at the center post in place of Buddy Davis.

Although the rangy 6' 8" center leads the Cadets in scoring honors with 55 points, Davis will not start against the Bobcats tonight. In a recent interview Coach Floyd said that he had "been driving Davis too hard . . . will be better later in the season."

The remainder of the first team will be as it was against Duquesne, with all-conference guard Jewel McDowell and sophomore Don Heft starting at the guard posts.

On the forward wall will be 6' 5" John DeWitt and Leroy Miksch, who is an inch shorter than the lanky DeWitt. Miksch is also up from the 1949 freshmen ranks.

First Fish Game

As a warmup to the varsity tilt, Floyd's Fish quintet will vie against the Lon Morris Junior College cage team at 6 p. m.

Height is not a deficiency in the 1950 version of A&M's Fish cagers, as each member of the first five towers above the 6' 1" mark and have a team average of over 6' 3".

James Addison and Ronald Dwyer, 6' 4" and 6' 3" respectively, will get the coaches nod for the forward posts; while Vol Montgomery and Bill Williams, who both tower at 6' 2", will work at the guard slots.

One of the tallest men on the squad is Roy Martin, who is slated for the pivot post. Hailing from Waxahachie, the 18-year-old Martin stands seven inches above six feet while on the hard court.

McDowell No. 2 Scorer

Running a close second to Davis for top Aggie scorer is McDowell, who has garnered 43 tallies in the first five games. DeWitt is third with 39 points.

Following are statistics on the Aggies' first five games.

Chandler

man committees from each league to conduct the search.

"As matters stand we will make no attempt to oust the commissioner," said one club owner, "at least until we have agreed on a candidate."

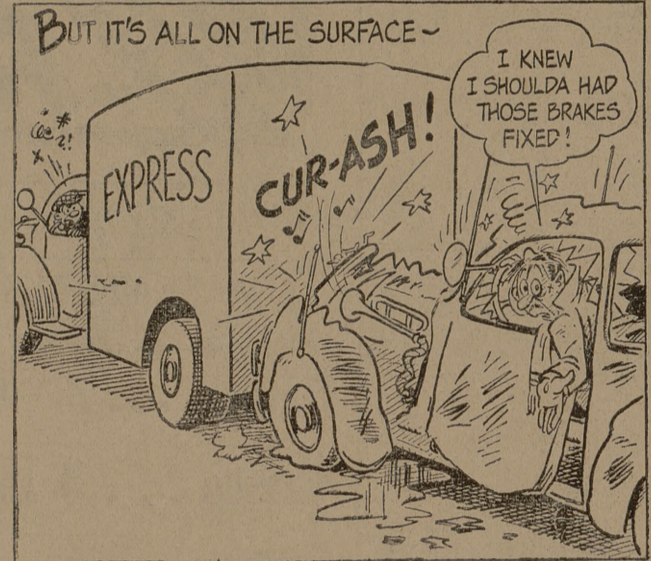

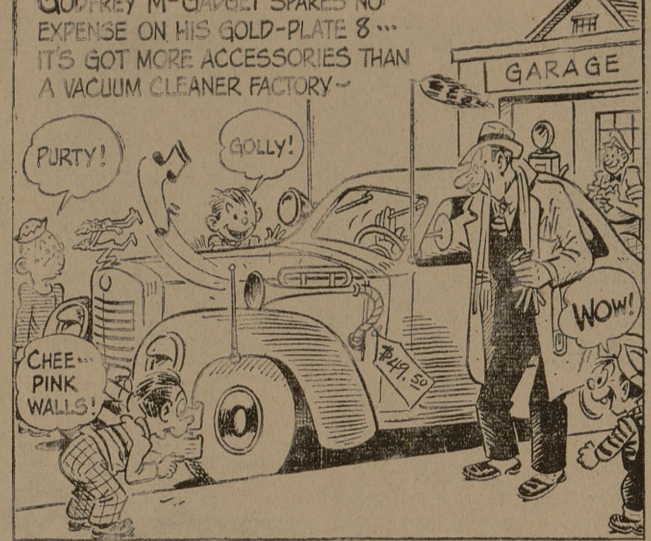

There was doubt as to how the commissioner could be forced out, if at all. Some think a majority (five) from each league could remove him from office "for cause."

Others say a unanimous 16-0 vote, changing the major league agreement, would be needed.

Chandler declared his intentions of carrying on business as usual. "I've still got some things to do," he said, "I'll continue to do them the best way I know how and hope for the best . . ."

The owners were ready to let him sit tight with one anti-Chandler man expressing a hope that "he'll get better advice and quit when he realizes his position is hopeless. If they agree on a new commissioner and Chandler refuses to budge, we'll have fireworks."

Washington, D.C. to make up to themselves for not getting to attend the game last weekend. Tiny Jeannette Rebold will stay home with her grandmothers.

INTERESTING STUFF. The Student Wives Survey recently conducted by the girls of the Battalion staff confirmed our belief that student wives are a thoroughly wonderful group of girls. We learned so many nice things that we can hardly wait to tell you about them . . . And so long we'll be following up some of the questions with personal interviews. Among student wives we have former professional models, nurses, secretaries, school teachers, journalists, technicians, debutantes, Phi Beta Kappas, Mardi Gras princesses, students, civil service employees, and on and on . . . We have girls from almost every state in the Union . . . Hawaii, Mexico, Canada, England and Germany. We have girls with masters degrees and girls who quit high school to become brides . . . And from the girls we have had innumerable suggestions made that we plan to do something about just as soon as we emerge from the confines of our living rooms back into circulation.

We are overjoyed at a near 25% response to our survey questionnaires . . . and with the cooperation the girls have shown we plan a much better coverage of news of feminine interest. Still we have a host of questionnaires to distribute to our town student wives. So stay with us . . . offer any other suggestions you think would be good . . . and we promise some interesting things to come.

Until then, MERRY, MERRY CHRISTMAS TO EVERYBODY.

And a few of those ads, like the ones in the middle of page 26. I have a feeling I just will not be paid for the space.

Well, I guess that is about it. This is me; I'm out and the people will have to take me like I am, but I have a feeling that I have the face only a mother could love."

And there the Commentator ends its own self criticism. But perhaps the magazine was a little too modest in its own self destruction. I personally did find one part particularly pleasing, the printing of THE END.

Reactor Piles Speech Subject Of Physicist

Dr. Edward C. Campbell, research physicist from Oak Ridge, Tennessee, will speak on "Nuclear Reactor Piles" in the Physics lecture room at 5:00 p. m. today.

Dr. Campbell's talk will be accompanied by a demonstration. The discussion will be non-technical in nature.

At present, Dr. Campbell is assisting in research work on reactor piles at Oak Ridge under the Atomic Energy Commission. He was one of the many scientists who performed work on the atomic bomb and has recently completed a book on nuclear reactor piles.

Dr. Campbell was awarded his Bachelor of Arts degree from Michigan University in 1925, and his Ph. D. from Oklahoma University in 1938.

The lecture is sponsored by the A&M Physics Society.

Ground Breaking

The Rev. Norman Anderson, pastor of the A&M Presbyterian Church, breaks ground for the new Sunday School Building. The official ceremony was held Sunday.

Wildcat Strike Hits War Effort -- Army

Chicago, Dec. 13 —(AP)—A spreading wildcat strike which the Army said "directly hurts our war effort" crippled rail freight movement and caused some passenger train cancellations in this big rail center today.

The strike tied up military shipments and other freight. The Post Office Department said the strike would mean a major delay in the Christmas mails now moving through Chicago.

A reliable source reported a petition for an injunction against the strike was being flown from Washington to Chicago and a federal judge was standing by to receive it.

With hundreds of loaded freight cars piling up in railroad yards and the strike spreading, the New York Central and two belt lines declared freight embargoes.

The New York Central cancelled four passenger trains.

EGGS . . .

To borrow a phrase from a prominent local politician, it is a matter of principle with us to have ample stocks to sell without limit all advertised items unless limits are specified in the ad itself. We regret the necessity of imposing limits on the quantity of egg purchases last Saturday, and finally running completely out. But in the first place we had more eggs on hand and purchased than we had had during the previous three weeks we had run them on special; secondly, our supplier could not deliver all he sold us; thirdly, the acute egg shortage suddenly became a radio and newspaper sensation. We have the same eggs this week at 75c per dozen, subject to stocks and to quantity limitations. Your forbearance is solicited.
