New Zealander Tells of New Ag Changes

New Zealand's basic agricultural economy is changing from production per man hour to production per acre as new land becomes scarce, Norman H. Taylor, New Zealand soil expert, said here Friday night.

Taylor, assistant director of the Bureau of Soils at Wellington New Zealand, described and illustrated with colored slides New Zealand's soils and agriculture to a group of graduate students and faculty members in the Biological Science Building lecture room.

Only one fourth of New Zealand is plowable, and there is a wide variety of soil types and rainfall rates, Taylor said. Superphosphate fertilizer is widely used in pasture improvement, said Taylor.

Taylor is now touring the United States studying soils programs and agricultural research methods.

Local Pastor Accepts Post At Giddings

Rev. Fred Mgebroff, pastor of the A&M Lutheran Church, will leave College Station Dec. 31 to accept a pastorate at the Martin Luther Lutheran Church of Giddings. He will also become the pastor of the St. Johns Lutheran Church at Dime Box.

Rev. Mgebroff has been serving as Lutheran pastor to students, the first and only officially titled pastor in Texas, under the Division of Student Service for the past five years.

During his pastorate at College Station, the A&M Lutheran Student Foundation was organized and established and the A&M Lutheran Student Center was built at Main and Cross Streets.

Both parishes where he will officiate were established by his father, the Rev. John Mgebroff, in 1894.

Rev. and Mrs. Mgebroff and daughter Joann were honored at a reception and open house given by the members of the Texas A&M Lutheran Student Association in the Lutheran Student House. The Student Association presented the family with a silver service as a remembrance.

Communism's Designs Told

Communism and its world aims were discussed by M. E. Truitt, manager of the Credit Bureau of Greater Houston, Wednesday night in the Assembly Room of the MSC.

Speaking before the Market and Finance Club, Truitt explained that in 1938 he made the acquaintance of several leaders in the International Communist Party in America. Through these men he acquired extensive knowledge of the party's work in this country.

According to FBI figures, Truitt said, there are some 54,000 members of the Communist Party in the United States. Besides these, there are some 500,000 who are in sympathy with the party.

Several terms used by the Communist Party were defined by the speaker as he outlined their plan for world domination.

Truitt warned the assembly of the growing danger of communism in America and outlined several plans for combating it.

Book Review Ends Newcomer's Year

Approximately 30 members of the Newcomers Club met Wednesday afternoon at the YMCA for their last meeting of the year.

Mrs. Horace Blank presided at the business meeting. Afterward Mrs. Ernest Bulow, program chairman, introduced Frank Coulter who reviewed the book, "In the Pink," written by Mildred S. Topp.

The tea table decoration carrying out the Christmas motif was centered with Pine Needles and multi-colored tree ornaments.

Aggie Architects Chosen To Make Spindle Top Display

Texas A&M architecture students have been chosen to prepare an exhibit for the Spindle Top fiftieth anniversary celebration at Beaumont next year, announced B. B. Trant, Texas petroleum research committee secretary. Trant is supervisor of construction of the exhibit.

The Texas petroleum research committee which is a joint operation of Texas A&M College, Texas University, and the Texas Railroad Commission is sponsoring the exhibit in memory of Spindle Top, the first successful production oil well in the state.

The 10 x 3 foot exhibit will be on display at the Beaumont fair grounds, said Trant, starting Jan. 3 and remaining there most of the coming year.

The exhibit will include maps and charts of the development of the oil industry since the Spindle

Top discovery plus photomurals of the A&M campus, Texas University campus, and the State Capitol, Trant declared. Miniature working models of oil derricks, pumping units, and lenticle models of oil fields showing how gas and oil is produced will be shown, he pointed out.

The A&M tectonics laboratory will show how salt domes were created by geologic action, he said.

John W. Newton, vice president of the Magnolia petroleum company who is also vice president of the A&M board of directors, is general chairman for the Spindle Top celebration, Trant stated.

champ Tom Cox of Rice.

McCarthy, a senior squadsman from Muleshoe, is showing the most promise on the squad toward making a fine quartermiler and seems to have a tight hold on a permanent spot on the relay team. Although he is a classified senior, he has another year of athletic competition eligibility after this year.

Mays Shows Improvement
From Brownwood comes junior Bob Mays, who is a junior college transfer, has shown great improvement this fall and seems to be definitely among the top five quartermilers at A&M.

Both Baker and Ragsdale are sophomores in eligibility although Baker is a classified junior in school. He was a standout 440 sprinter on the 1949 freshman team, but the following year he became scholastically ineligible.

Ragsdale was one of the main stays of last year's Fish team where the Junction lad led all competitors in the 440-low hurdles and broad jump. He will be a great help to the varsity this year.
