Batt Names Seven New Departmental Editors

Battalion news coverage plans for the Spring semester were strengthened yesterday when the co-editors named six new departmental editors to fill vacant posts, and announced a new "club publicity co-ordinator" to handle club news.

Heading all campus news coverage for the Spring will be Andy Anderson and Bob Hughson, campus editors.

Ralph Gorman as sports editor and Fred Walker as associate sports editor will fill the vacancy left by Frank Manitzas, who left the college at mid-term.

Vivian Castleberry, who already is known to Battalion readers through her weekly column, has been named women's editor. She will write and produce a weekly women's feature page during the Spring and cover women's news for the daily city page.

Assisting City Editor Joel Austin through the remainder of the school year will be Allen Pengelly, newly named assistant city editor. Club news coverage will be increased during this semester by Dick Kelly, club publicity co-ordinator, who will maintain headquarters in the Student Activities office.

Campus Editors

Campus Editor Anderson is a junior journalism major from Talco. He came to work for the Battalion early last Fall and worked his way to the campus news post as a reporter and feature writer in that department. He will handle the Batt's campus desk on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and weekends.

Heading the campus news department on Mondays and Thursdays, Hughson is a senior business administration major from Aqua Dulce. He has held the post of Campus Editor unofficially since the middle of last semester. Beginning his Battalion work in the Spring of last year, Hughson moved to the campus desk after serving as reporter and news writer last year.

Sports Editors

The new sports department head, Gorman, is a senior architecture major from Port Arthur who began work on the Batt sports staff in the Summer of 1949. He was a sports news editor during the Fall after a year's sports writing experience while a junior.

Walker, who takes over the new post of associate sports editor, is a junior journalism major and a College Station resident. He came to A&M and The Battalion last Summer after attending Missouri University for several semesters. Named summer amusements editor, he moved into the sports department as a sports news editor last Fall.

Women's City Editor

Plans for complete Battalion women's coverage were actually formulated last Fall by Mrs. Castleberry, who is the wife of senior engineering major Curtis Castleberry. She began writing a campus names and events column several months ago, and began her duties as women's editor during the Christmas holidays. She is a former editor of the SMU Campuses' student newspaper of that college.

The new post of assistant city editor, to which Pengelly has been named, was created to promote Battalion plans for wider city news coverage during the Spring. Pengelly, who was feature editor of the Freshman Page last year, will assist in editing the city news page. He is a sophomore journalism major from Houston.

Club Publicity

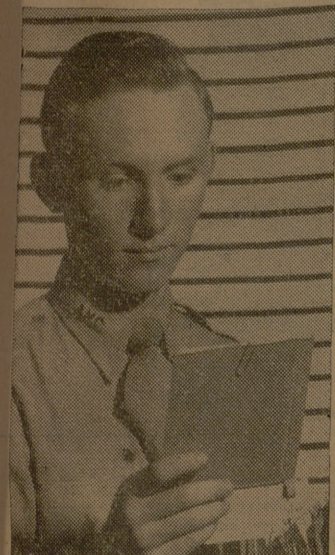

Club Publicity Co-ordinator Kelly is a senior pre-law major from Ranger, who returns to The Battalion after a two year absence. He served as managing editor of The Little Batt published by freshmen at the Annex in 1947-48. His new job is to provide campus clubs with as thorough Battalion publicity as space permits.

At 9 a. m. each night of R. E. Week, Chaplain Frost will hold discussion groups on subjects to be chosen by the individual groups. These discussions will be held on a come-and-go basis so that the students not having much time may come and leave as they please. Born in Haverhill, Mass. in 1910, Chaplain Frost went to the West Coast to receive his educational training. He received his B. A. Junior Prom and ASABAB Top Weekend Activities

Heaven and Hell Theme of Architects

Originally scheduled for last Friday night, the ASABAB, annual dance sponsored by the Architecture Society of A&M will finally get underway tonight in the banquet room of Sbis Hall at 8.

With the exception of a change in the orchestra, there have been no changes made in the plans for the ball.

Glenn Dewey and his Quintet have replaced the combo from North Texas State Teachers College in Denton, which was scheduled to play had the dance been held last Friday.

Because of a previous engagement for this weekend, the North Texas aggregation was to cancel the engagement here.

Decorations for the affair, which has the theme "Heaven and Hell," will prove to be very unusual, says Jack Stansbury, president of the Society. As the guests enter the hallway off the banquet room, they will be confronted by a statue of Zeus, representing both good and evil.

The Greek God will be placed in such a position that the spotlight shined on him will create an icy effect.

Entrance Tunnel

The entrance into the main dance room will be covered with a camouflage netting tunnel. This, says Stansbury will give the dancers the impression that they are emerging into Hell. When they come out of this imitation tunnel, they will be in Heaven, he added.

Inside the banquet room, the dancers will see more statues carrying out the theme of the dance. The centerpiece will be a statue of the Angel Venus, and the Devil.

Suspended from the ceiling will be imitation paper stars, and "angel's hair." The lighting in the hall will be covered with tin cans punched with holes to add to the theme of the occasion.

Best Costume

Prizes will be awarded for the best male and female costumes of the evening. If tonight's ball is anything like those of past years, there should be many unusual creations.

Stansbury said the Society expected an estimated crowd of 150. Tickets are priced at $2 stag or couple for members of the Society, and $3 for non-members.

Following the dance, scheduled to last until midnight, the Architects wives will give a buffet supper at the Brazos County A&M Clubhouse. Admission is free to all those in costumes.

Banks Will Be Closed On Lincoln's Birthday

In honor of Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12, the banks of College Station and Bryan will close. These banks are as follows: College Station State Bank, Bryan Building and Loan, City National Bank, First National Bank, and First State Bank and Trust Co. They will be open on Tuesday, Feb. 13.

Following the registration procedure, at 9 a.m. the group will gather in the Assembly Room of the MSC for an Orientation meeting. Master of ceremonies for this part of the program is Olin Brashear, senior business administration major.

Exec Group For TISA Meets Here

Executive committeemen of the Texas Intercollegiate Students Association will meet in the Memorial Student Center Saturday for their annual Spring meeting.

Representatives from about two-thirds the member schools are expected to attend the session, said Joe Fuller, parliamentarian of the TISA. Twenty-eight schools are members of the association.

The TISA is a group of Texas universities and colleges organized two years ago for three main purposes—fostering student governments, establishing better relations between Texas schools, and for conducting "workshops" where ideas concerning various phases of student life may be exchanged.

"Veep" Election

Tops on Saturday's executive committee agenda will be election of an association vice-president, preparations for the convention here March 16-17, and selection of panel discussion topics.

An informal discussion on the advisability of inviting Negro schools to become TISA members will also be held. A probable vote on this subject is expected to be one of the major actions of the March convention.

All portions of the executive committee session Saturday will be open to any student. Parliamentarian Fuller said the meetings will be arranged so students may enter and leave discussions at will.

Chandler Speaks

The welcoming speech will be given by Chandler and will be followed by the invocation by Kenneth Wiggins. Charles N. Hielscher, professor of the engineering drawing department, will be the principle speaker on the program.

Hielscher, who is a member of the class of '33, will speak lightly on the subject: "Life at A&M." He will try to show the comparison of life now and what it was like when he was here.

The banquet program will be concluded by a prayer given by James Lehman.

The dance will be held in the Ballroom of the Memorial Student Center and will start at 9 p. m. If the weather permits the already famous MSC "Moonlight" Terrace will be used for the dance. The entire upstairs of the MSC will be used for the Prom.

Tickets On Sale

Tickets to the dance should be bought as soon as possible so that adequate accommodations can be made. Tickets will go off sale Friday night. Everyone is urged to buy their tickets before this deadline.

Banquet tickets are $1.50 a plate and tickets for the dance are $3.00 a couple. Non-reg students wishing to purchase tickets should contact any first sergeant or Ted M. Stephens, room 415 Dorm 1.

Refreshments of punch with cookies or cake are planned to be served in the Assembly Room of the MSC. If the Assembly room is needed for additional dancing space, refreshments will be served in the adjoining meeting rooms.

Dr. Elliott to Begin RE Week Monday

By CURTIS EDWARDS

A&M's 1951 Religious Emphasis Week will begin Monday when Dr. William M. Elliott, pastor of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church of Dallas, gives his opening address at 10 a. m. in Guion Hall.

In addition to the main speaker, Dr. Elliott, twelve other specialists are being brought on the campus to live in the dorms and counsel with the students. They will also conduct afternoon forums and nightly discussion groups in the dormitory lounges.

Classes will be dismissed for Dr. Elliott's morning services according to the following schedule: 10 to 11 a. m. Monday and Tuesday, 11 to 12 a. m. Wednesday and Thursday, and at 9 a. m. Friday.

Lounge Forums

The afternoon forums will be held from 4 to 5:30 in the dorm lounges on specific subjects according to the following schedule: Monday—"Do Scientific Facts and the Bible Agree?"; Tuesday—"What Should a Student Get Out of Four Years of College?"; Wednesday—"What Makes a Person a Success?"; and Thursday—"Men and Women Relationships." These subjects were chosen by A&M students by means of a "Interest Locator" questionnaire sent out by Gordon Gay, associate secretary of the YMCA.

Beginning at 9 p. m., discussion groups will be conducted each night in the lounges by the imported leaders on subjects chosen by those present in the individual groups. These discussions will be operated on a come-and-go basis so that those students not having much time may come and leave as they please.

The leaders being brought to the campus will eat both the noon and evening meals with the students and will be available to the students at all times.

Longest Train Strike Seems Finally Over

One of the longest and costliest nation-wide railroad strikes in many years appeared virtually ended today.

The Army's threat to fire striking switchmen was regarded as the main factor in breaking up the 10-day "sick" walkout. The work stoppage continued in a few spots across the country. But generally there was a full-scale return to work—notably in Chicago, the country's No. 1 rail center.

Indications were that all strikers will be back on the job before the 4 p. m. (EST) deadline set by the Army in its "work or be fired" ultimatum.

Thousands didn't wait for the deadline to return to work. The switchmen—who also were promised a pay raise—flocked back to their jobs in large numbers, joining the thousands who had returned to work earlier this week. The Army's demand to switchmen to get back on the job or lose their job and seniority came after President Truman's instructions to the Army to take "appropriate action immediately" to get the roads in full operation.

The Army has been in technical control of the carriers since the government seized them last Aug. 27 to halt a threatened strike.
