

Senior Play Ends Happily

 Ozias Grubbs, an elderly farmer, has conspired with the hired girl to convince the neighborhood and his "half-daff" wife the ghosts of their two children have returned from the dead. Both died because of the tyrannical Belle Winthrop and have returned to seek their revenge.
 The lights go out, Belle Winthrop's body is discovered, and a murderer is on the prowl. Who can it be, the group asks each other?
 "I warned her not to come here of all nights, the swamp thing got her," declares the elderly Mrs. Grubbs.
 But it wasn't the "swamp thing" at all, but rather "Les," Belle Winthrop's lawyer, who has stolen some bonds from her and is on the verge of being discovered.

and Violet Ashe who are in love, can now marry.
 Even the frightened Lovetta Wattles, who first saw a ghost while removing some bags from the car, and ran down the path screaming, says with relief, "Geepers, creepers, I though we were gone gosslets."
 Bobby Williams was stage manager for the production. Ushers were Arlene Kietzmann, Elrose Stahl and Lou Ann Wyatt. Barbara Belcher collected tickets.
 Mrs. A. R. Orr, teacher at Consolidated, directed "Prom Date." Principal L. E. Boze was the director of "Ghost Farm."

'Mascot' Study Set

 Vandenburg and Don Young. The group, in co-operation with A&M's three TISA officers, will decide this school's vote on issues brought up at the convention.
 Representing the Senate to the Bryan Chamber of Commerce will be Doyle Griffin, Bill Cornish, Wilman "Pusher" Barnes, Bill Moss and Tom Jewell.

 Selection of the group came on a discussion of alleged unfair charges made by the La Salle hotel in dealing with several A & M Freshman when their class dance was postponed. The students had paid for the rooms in advance, Griffin said, and were allowed only a half refund.

Golfers --- and 66 to beat par five strokes and move into the number one position.

 Guerrero, senior P. E. major from Mission, will also be heavily depended upon to match skill with the UH linksters.
 Also qualifying in the eliminations were Johnnie Barrett, Hollis Baker, and J. C. Fletcher.
 Barrett, one of the outstanding freshmen golfers last year and winner of the National Caddy Tournament in 1947, presented the third best record with 301.
 Baker was fourth with 303, followed by Fletcher who will be the fifth man on the cadet squad.
 This year's team will go forth without the services of Miller Barber, who has been ruled ineligible for athletic activities.

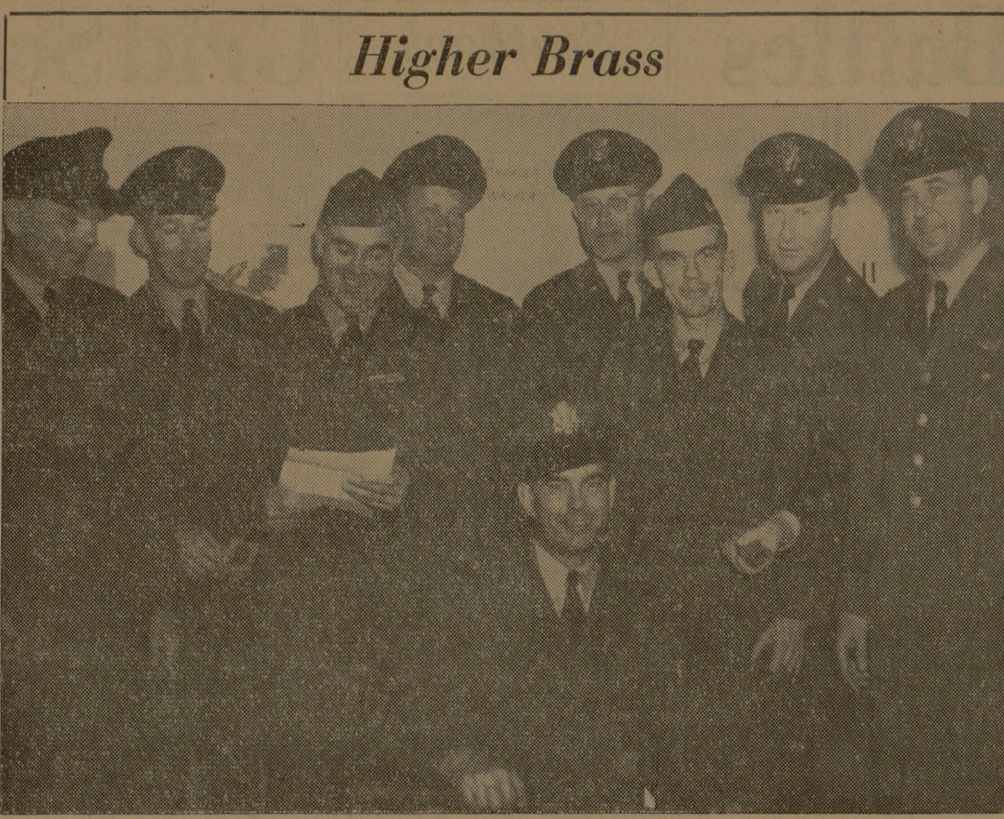

Reports on negotiations with the University of Texas student body for repayment of clothing losses suffered by A&M students at the football game in Austin were made by Dan Davis.
 He explained that committees from the two schools had agreed to pay damages for losses suffered by each school. A&M has charged the loss of considerable government clothing and the University asked payment for damages done by unidentified persons who painted A&M signs on the campus.
 A suggestion that the Senate initiate action for selection of a mascot came from Senator "Monty" Montgomery. He was named to chair a "further study" committee composed of Duane Vandenberg, Autrey Fredericks, Tom Jewell, Karl Meyers, George Germond, and Lloyd Manjeot.
 Furthering plans for the Spring Campus Chest drive the Senate added Bob Dunn and Bill Dalston to the Campus Chest committee to assist in implementing the drive.

Barber Victim

Barber, sophomore business student from Texarkana, Texas, has been a victim of circumstances ever since he broke into the golf lineup last year in the first elimination trials.
 As a freshman he was hampered by difficulties which kept him from competition for the majority of the year, and now eligibility has appeared on the scene and again he is barred from competition.
 Reports rumor that the UH team is of makeshift origin, probably organized on the spur of the moment. This should prove an advantage to the Aggies who are in top shape.
 Last year the Aggies split a two game series with the Houstonians, downing them at College Station, but bowing out later at Houston.

Physicist to Speak At AICHe Meet

Dr. R. N. Lyons of Monsanto's Oak Ridge Atomic Energy plant will speak before the student chapter of AICHe Monday at 7:15 in the Petroleum Lecture Room. His subject title is "Engineering Problems Encountered in Atomic Energy."
 Dr. Lyon is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is in charge of Monsanto's Chemical Engineering group at Oak Ridge. He has recently published an article entitled "Liquid Metal Heat Transfer Coefficients."
 The meeting is open to the public.

Higher Brass

The orders finally came in and it is cigar time again say nine members of the Air Force Detachment at A&M. Four men were boosted from major to Lt. colonel, four from captain to major and one lieutenant to a captain. Left to right are Maj. John F. Burris, Lt. Col. Charles R. Stapp,

 Kyle Field cinder track at 2:30. The showing of the Aggie track team this afternoon should afford the public an appreciable insight as to how the Cadets will shape up in the 1951 season.
 At 3 p.m. will be the final meeting of A&M's baseball team with a Brooke Medics nine of San Antonio.

lar of Del Mar Junior College, compares with lettermen Dick Gardemal and Delmar Sikes and squadman Ray Graves.
 The coaches have been stressing the work on the freshmen, too, in an effort to get them ready to fit into the two teams' lineups for the first real scrimmage.

Swim Meet Set at SMU

 compete in the SWC swimming meet in Austin. The Aggies will come up against TU, Baylor and the National Collegiate Athletic Association will sponsor a meet in SMU for conference honors.
 Also in Austin, March 29-30, competition will be held in the TU pool. Seven or eight of the more outstanding Aggie swimmers will go to Austin.
 Four A&M meets so far this year have resulted in a 2-2 record for the Aggies. They beat Baylor, 55-20, and Northwestern Louisiana State, 42-33; lost to SMU, 30-54, and to Oklahoma, 30-45.
 The Sooners cleaned up in College Station this year when they broke pool records in the 50 yard freestyle, 200 yard backstroke, and 200 yard breaststroke events.
 The Aggies came in second in the SWC relays in Houston earlier this year.

Rangerettes Here

At the halftime, in the grid contest, fans will see the well known Kilgore Rangerettes from Kilgore J.C. A galaxy of precision drilled young ladies, the Rangerettes boast of some of Texas' most beautiful women within their ranks.
 The annual Sports Day is sponsored by the T Association through the cooperation of the A&M Athletic Department and other college organizations.
 Fans can see both the football and the baseball games for $1.00 and all other events are free. Ducts may be purchased in the Athletic office, the rotunda of the Academic Bldg., or from any member of the T Association.
