Kiwanians Entertained By Local School Group

Members of the College Station Kiwanis Club got a glimpse of the work being carried on at College Station Schools yesterday at their weekly noon luncheon by a program put on by elementary school children in observance of Texas Public School Week.

L. S. Richardson, superintendent of A&M Consolidated Schools and a member of the Kiwanis Club education committee, introduced Mrs. C. K. Leighton, an elementary school teacher, who was in charge of the program.

blows to gain the victory. Wilson of Company 4 opened up on O'Neil of CFA with some body straightening jabs and the old, but effective 1-2 punch to gain the victory over the artilleryman.

Wilson moved into the first round with his eyes to nail the oncoming O'Neil with a powerful left jab and send him reeling back against the ropes. From that point the match was all Wilson as the sturdy Company 4 pugilist belted O'Neil with everything but the ring post.

Streets, Houses Will Get New Names, Number

Dallas, March 7.—(AP)—Remember the Texas nurses captured on Corregidor? Ever wonder where some of them are? What they're thinking as the spotlight is on a new battlefield, Korea? "Would I do it over if I knew then what I know now? Yes," said former Lt. Earlyn Black of Groesbeck. She is now Mrs. H. J. Harding of El Paso.

Martha Hand of The Dallas News, preparing a story on the national drive to recruit nurses, talked to her.

"I'd still be in the army nurse corps if I weren't married," Mrs. Harding said.

She is the mother of H. J. Jr., 4. She shares memories with eight other Texas army nurses who were captured on Corregidor.

Women like Mrs. Dorcas Kelley, the former Lt. Dorcas Easterling of Dallas. She is now a nurse at Methodist Hospital here.

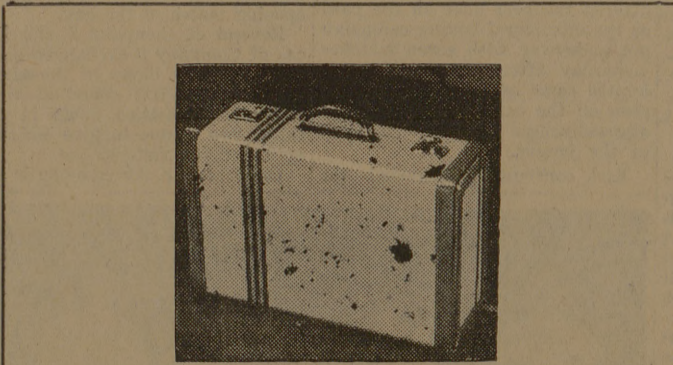

Bicyclers Hold Clay Pit Picnic

A group of local high school girls bicycled to the clay pits Saturday morning at 9 a. m. for a picnic and "to show the boys we could do it, even in bad weather," said one girl.

Arriving back in town at 4:45 p. m. after a rough trip back against the wind were the following girls: Janice Hildebrand, Celeste Curran, Judy Oden, Sara Puddy, Louise Street, Marie Wilson, Carolyn Landis, Eleanor Price, Marilyn Fleck, Martha Ergle, Penny Laverty, Polly Carne, Martha Ann Williams, and Barbara Jean Sims.

Captured Nurses Separated

"I'd do it over again. Sure. When your country needs you, it needs you," she said.

Mrs. Kelley is a graduate of Kings Daughters Hospital, Temple.

The others? There were First Lieutenants Mary V. Burris, Clara Bickford, Frankie T. Lewey (now married and in Seattle, Wash.), Hattie Brantley, Agnes Barre, Eula B. Falls, formerly of Houston, and Bertha Dworsky of San Antonio, now Mrs. John D. Henderson of Seattle, Wash.

They have scattered. Some are married.

They were prisoners of the Japs at Santo Tomas University in Manila until the day in February, 1945, when members of the First Cavalry Division of the army crashed through the gates and rescued them.

AF Seniors Get Pooped, Fed by Cooking Expert

There was plenty cooking last night in the MSC Ball Room and we do mean food.

Miss Anna Bines, Home Service Director for the Texas Electric Service Company, stirred up the tasty aromas in a two hour demonstration of meat cooking.

During the evening she turned out pork chops, veal stew, apple pie (to show best uses of pork lard), tongue with gingerbread sauce, standing rib of beef, broiled lamb chops and an inch and a half thick porterhouse steak.

The AF Department sponsored the demonstration which included in its audience members of Air Science 442 classes, currently studying Food Service in the Air Force.

Though attending by partial compulsion, several of the cadets had no regrets. They got a chance to put Miss Bines' handiwork to the supreme test.

Jimmy Haralson, Ag Eco major from San Angelo, walked away with the porterhouse steak.
