

Engineers Authorize Construction Plans At Bryan Air Base

Funds for re-activating Bryan Air Force Base were authorized, Army Engineers announced today, as a part of the $24,000,000 allotted for work at Texas Air Force Bases.

Included in the plans for opening the Bryan base was the construction of aviation gasoline fueling facilities, runway and taxiway extensions and air field lighting systems which should total in all about $2,000,000.

According to an Associated Press report, bids for the Bryan Field construction will be opened by the Air Force officials March 27 and March 29.

Award Contracts

The Army Engineers plan to award contracts by April 1, bringing the total for district military construction projects authorized to about $65,000,000.

Other new projects announced by Col. Ellsworth I. Davis, district engineer, include:

Two contracts for construction of barracks and mess halls at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, totaling about $15,000,000.

A contract for adding airplane parking areas and additional barracks at Randolph Air Base, San Antonio, for about $3,000,000.

Four contracts for facilities at Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin $1,500,000.

Davis said a base operations building will be built at Gray Air Force Base in Killeen. He did not say how much it would cost. Bids will be opened March 30.

Temporary Base

The local air force base, which was constructed as a temporary flight training center during the last war, has not been used by the Air Force since 1945.

From September, 1946 until last June the air field, located approximately six miles west of Bryan, was used to house A&M freshman students and was also used for veteran's housing for married students.

With the expiration of the four year lease last June, all college facilities were moved back on the main campus from the air field which was commonly known during its connection with A&M as "the Annex."

Church Group Plans Meeting For April 28

The diocese convention of Canterbury Associations, to be held in the St. Thomas Chapel on April 28 was the topic of discussion at the second meeting of the A&M Canterbury Association.

Episcopalian students from Baylor, Texas University, Rice, Sam Houston State Teachers College, the University of Houston, and possibly Southwestern University in Georgetown, will attend. According to the Rev. L. L. Brown, director of the Episcopal student work, 50 to 60 students are expected to attend.

A committee was appointed to arrange for accommodations for the visiting students.

At the meeting a constitution drawn up by the club officers was presented. Officers of the A&M Canterbury Association elected vice-president, Reese Gallimore, treasurer; Bob Lee, reporter; and Bob Young, secretary.

Other officers elected were John Akand, Freshman director; Dick Lane, sophomore director; Don Owens, junior director; Buddy Duval, senior director; and Ernie Horace, non-corps director.

School Day Is Over

Public School Week has provided a busy time for students of College Station Schools. The six-day observance will end Saturday with a combination card, square dance party sponsored by the Campus Study Club at the Consolidated

High School Gymnasium Saturday night to raise funds for the local school libraries. A book review will also be given Saturday morning in the high school library.

Window Displays Show Theme of School Week

Window displays showing various school activities of A&M Consolidated and Lincoln Schools have been placed in College Station business establishments. The displays feature the theme of Texas Public School Week, "Democracy in Action."

Shop Work projects and homemaking class work of both Consolidated and Lincoln Schools were used in a display at Madeley's Drug Store at the South gate. The display shows the home as the cornerstone of democracy.

Book cases, book ends, tables, arm chairs and other craft projects are part of the shop work display. Homemaking class projects shown are such items as Spring dresses, curtains, Spring suits, ear screws, vases and pictures.

Display at Waldrop's

"Science in Action" is portrayed in displays at A. M. Waldrop & Co. at the North Gate. The art work used in the displays was done by pupils in the first six grades. Included in the nature display are rock specimens, animals, birds, and plants.

In the Memorial Student Center on the college campus, one showcase in the promenade is devoted to art work drawn by members of the first grades of both Consolidated and Lincoln Schools.

play, and is part of another MSC showcase.

Completing the work done by hand displays are specimens of canned foods, soap carvings and dolls.

The Madeley's Drug Store display was arranged by Jack Chaney and Mrs. W. K. Frey. Mrs. Lewis Knowles was in charge of the MSC display cases, while the Waldrop's window was decorated by Mrs. Margaret Henderson, Mrs. Pearle Tanzer and Mrs. Owen Lee.

Vet Wives Club Names Reporter

The Veterans' Wives Bridge Club Thursday night named Louise Gregory as reporter to succeed Dorothy Cannon who resigned.

High scorer in the Thursday night games was Mrs. Mil Duhon who was presented a pair of hose, and Mrs. Shirley Gleason, second high, who won a set of Argie glasses.

The group discussed plans for a tacky party which it plans to give soon and invite husbands as guests.

Hostesses for Thursday night were Mrs. Doris Blissard and Mrs. Gregory.

Brazos County Easter Seals To Be Mailed

Easter Crippled Childrens Seals will be mailed to citizens of Bryan and College Station in the next few days according to Daniel Russell, Chairman of the Brazos County Crippled Childrens Society.

Sixty per cent of the money raised from the sale of seals will remain in Brazos County to help send crippled children to hospitals to buy artificial limbs and to do other crippled children's work.

Forty per cent will go to the state office to encourage and promote Crippled Childrens work in Texas and the nation, and also establish hospitals and special treatment programs too expensive for the local community.

Mrs. D. W. Andres is chairman of the Drive committee. Other members of her committee are: Mrs. A. A. Blumberg, Mrs. Joe Matherly, Mrs. C. A. Nigh, Mrs. Dudley Faver, Mrs. W. E. Wimberly. Various members of the medical auxiliary also will assist Mrs. Andres.

Other members of the Crippled Childrens Committee are: Dr. G. W. Schlesselman, James B. Abernethy, Claude Edge, Mrs. C. M. Stimmang, Mrs. Tad Moses, Dr. Luther Jones, Rip Erskine, Dr. R. L. Skrabank.

Joe Mogford, Mrs. R. J. Perryman, Mrs. Raymond Rogers, Mrs. F. G. Anderson, Harold F. Heady, A. R. Orr, O. Byron Richardson, Dr. J. C. Gaines, Bob Lyle, Jesse Coon, and Dr. George Summey, Jr.

WTAW Program Features Panel on School Library

Three students from A&M Consolidated Junior High School were interviewed this morning at 9 over radio station WTAW on "What a good school library means to me."

Mrs. Serged Belcher discussed the topic with Roger Donahue, Dick Marshall and Patsy Wilkins, who were presented by Mrs. LeRoy J. Young.

CS People Listed With Dance Group

Four employees of the Extension Service have been named members of the state committee of the first All Texas Polk Festival to be held in Houston on May 17-19.

Miss Sadie Hatfield, Miss Leta Barrett, Floyd Lynch, and Silver Whitsett were appointed by state chairman of the festival Dr. Henry R. Maresh of the Harris County Historical Society.

Vice-chairmen for the festival are Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, executive vice-president of the Houston Post, and Oscar Holcombe, Mayor of Houston.

"Through the festival, with its folk dances, music songs, and legends, we hope to keep alive the folk traditions of early Texas for the enjoyment of ourselves and our children," said Dr. Maresh.

"There is a state-wide search for folk dancers, singers, story-tellers, banjo-pickers, and representatives of all phases of Texas folklore to take part in the festival," added Dr. Maresh.

WTAW Program Features Panel on School Library

Young Mrs. Young and Mrs. Belcher represented the Mother's and Dad's Club of A&M Consolidated Schools and the Campus Study Club, respectively.

The benefit party to be held Saturday night by the Campus Study Club in the Consolidated School Gymnasium was mentioned on the program. The benefit for funds to finance purchasing of books for the College Station on school libraries will feature canasta, square dancing, and bridge.

The radio interview was broadcast over the public address system at Consolidated schools, Superintendent L. S. Richardson said this morning.

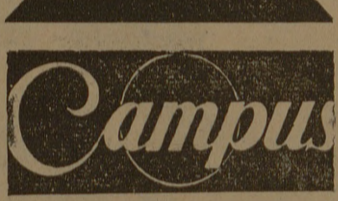

The program was a part of the school's activities in conjunction with Texas Public School Week March 4-10.

Lutheran Church Has New Pastor

Rev. Thomas H. Swygert has recently assumed the pastorate of the American Lutheran Church here in College Station.

Swygert, a native Georgian, received his Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Divinity Degrees from Capital University in Columbus, Ohio. While in College he assisted in the work at St. John's Lutheran Church, Madison, Wisconsin.

The new pastor, serving the past three years as assistant at First Lutheran Church in Galveston, will fill the position which was vacated by Rev. Fred J. Mgebroff earlier this year.

Dr. Timm Speaks To Ag Committee

At the annual meeting of the National Education Committee on Agricultural Policy Dr. Tyrus R. Timm, economist at A&M, said that the changing conditions of daily farm living has increased the need for a better understanding between government and agriculture.

Timm believes that education needs to precede action programs instituted by the government, if effective progress is to be made.

There is growing interest among farm people in studying more closely the pros and cons of government policies. This brings about more questions to be answered by local and state authorities such as the county agent, Timm stated.
