

Some Happy Faces and an Ugly Man

"LOOK Mabel we're movin'." Things were pretty crowded at the Ball Saturday night. The only person that had enough room to dance in was the OD with his sabre on. The crowded conditions prompted more than one person to compare the dance with that of a sardine with the seven year itch. Fame comes to all those who wait and that is true in the case of Battalion Managing Editor John Whitmore. Whitmore was chosen the Ugly Man of the Press Club by persons attending the Press Club Ball Friday night. He edged out such men as Spike White, Nick Nichols, Allen Pengelly, Frank Manitzas and B. F. Roland. Dr. J. P. Abbott made the presentation after counting the votes, by saying "Whitmore wins by a nose." The winner was chosen after making a speech on why he should be named the Ugly Man. The prize was a rubber lizard. Meeting the Big Brass are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Folke. On Mrs. Folke's right is Major General W. B. Palmer, commanding General of Ft. Hood, and Col. H. M. Pendleton, Senior Army instructor, Texas National Guard.

Negro Entertainer Is Biggest Hit

Beckner's band played slow danceable music throughout the Ball. However his faster ones were almost as appreciated as the slow ones. Reminiscent of Cugat's visit to A&M two years ago, Beckner gave a mass dance lesson and the militarymen did "Le Raspa" or "Herr Schmidt."

"One thing you can really say for Beckner. He played what people wanted to hear. They requested, and he played the request," says Jack Cochran, senior business major. Other people remarked that Sbsia was too crowded, but from the look on their faces, no one seemed to care. "A mighty good dance, but kinda like sardines," said one of Vanity Fair winners. "A mighty good place to give a show. A really fine place. Here's where I'd send my son," said Beckner.

Each One Reach One

Every Boy Is A Man At A&M

Because every boy has equal opportunities to make the most of his abilities. Each student stands or falls on his own merit. What he does, says, and thinks are the criteria by which other students judge him.

EACH ONE REACH ONE

Many Hits But Few Misses At A&M

There may not be many "misses" here at A&M, this being a non-coeducational institution, but many boys are "hits" with their friends, classmates and other students. That's because they took advantage of their opportunities.

So tell your home-town friends about opportunities at A&M. Show them what they have to gain by coming to A&M. Then, when they come, YOU'LL gain, A&M will gain, and most of all, the NEW STUDENTS will gain.
